HITLER EXHIBITS MYSTERY GUNS AS CROWDS GAPE

World Gets Peek at Heavy Artillery.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—Adolf Hitler today displayed the greatest war machine in the history of Nazi Germany.

More than 16,000 steel helmeted troops from the 3d army corps, 300 guns, and 412 tanks paraded past the Fuehrer and his guest, Admiral Nicholas Horthy, regent of Hungary. The parade, which was in Horthy's honor, disclosed that Germany has completed her five-year rearmament program.

The Nazi forces are equipped with what is probably the most modern and efficient artillery in the world.

Thousands were jammed in the parade square in front of the Berlin Technical university to view the procession. They cheered and foreign military experts craned their necks and took notes when a battery of the "world's biggest mobile field pieces" clattered past the reviewing stand.

Mystery Howitzer Shown.

It was Germany's new mystery howitzer. Its weight was so great that five caterpillar trucks were needed to draw it. The first truck drew the gun carriage mounted on a six wheel trailer, the second hauled the gun cradle, the third the recuperator, which brings the gun back to position after the recoil, the fourth spare parts, and the fifth the barrel. Each gun apparently had a crew of 37 to 40 men.

The speed at which the battery of four guns roared by left foreign military observers guessing as to the caliber of the howitzer. The estimates ranged from at least 11 inches to 17 inches. Gen. Karl Becker, Nazi chief of ordnance, smiled as he watched the intent military attachés peer at the weapon.

Some of the attachés believe that the howitzer's short barrel can be replaced by a long barrel, giving it great firing range.

"Big Bertha" Recalled.

They pointed out that Germany twice beat the world in gun construction in the world war: once when Germany's howitzers smashed the concrete casements and armored gun turrets of Liege and Antwerp, and again when "Big Bertha" shelled Paris at a range of seventy-five miles.

Germany offered another surprise in heavy artillery by displaying batteries of long barreled guns. The barrel and gun carriages were drawn separately by auto trucks. Foreign experts estimated the caliber of the gun at about eight inches.

The standard divisional howitzer gun of 105 millimeters was displayed, as were numerous infantry supporting guns and anti-aircraft guns.

Strengthen Tank Force.

That Germany in recent months has reinforced her tank force was evident. Seventy medium sized tanks and 342 light tanks took part in the parade. Each medium sized tank was armed with a 77 millimeter gun and a machine gun. In the last parade, on Hitler's birthday, only ten medium sized tanks participated.

For the first time parading army officers gave the Nazi salute with outstretched hand, instead of the military salute, as they passed Hitler and Horthy. This was by recent order and applies only to parades before the Fuehrer.

The only flaw in the day's military exhibition was the absence of the Nazi air fleet. Fog caused the cancelation of a scheduled display of 140 fighting planes.

The military and economic conversations among Regent Horthy and Nazi leaders have progressed more smoothly than the political talks.

Horthy Sidesteps Issue.

Great efforts are being made to induce the Hungarian government to join the pact against communism and to follow the steps of Germany and Italy by withdrawing from the league of nations. So far Horthy has sidestepped the issue. The Nazis hope that in final political conversations which will take place tomorrow in Karin hall, the summer residence of Field Marshal Hermann Wilhelm Goering, the Hungarian regent will be won over to the "anti-communist pact bloc."

German diplomats are hammering the following argument in the ears of Horthy and his aids:

"The little entente's action in giving Hungary the right to rearm is merely another of these stumbling blocks thrown into Hungary's path by her former enemies to keep her

Pays for His Second Baby by Repainting Flagpole

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Hahnemann hospital's fifty foot flagpole got its second coat of paint in thirteen months today—and Harry Yost, the painter, got another receipted bill for the birth of a boy. The WPA worker first made the arrangement to cover the expenses of the seventh child, a girl. The hospital agreed to the plan for the eighth. The new baby almost lost his father when Yost's supporting rope snapped as he wielded his brush twenty floors above the street. He grabbed the pole and slid down.

BOSS IDENTIFIED AS COMPANION OF POLICY KING

Surprise Testimony Causes Uproar.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—A surprise witness today identified Tammany Leader James J. Hines as the companion of the late Dutch Schultz, gang leader, at a Connecticut riding academy in 1935.

The testimony caused an uproar in court. It came a few minutes before the day's adjournment of Hines' trial on charges of conspiracy to violate the state lottery laws.

Dudley Brothwell, owner of a riding academy at Fairfield, Conn., was the witness who accused the Democratic leader of consorting with the underworld chief. Schultz at the time was hiding from federal income tax investigators in a hotel at Bridgeport, Conn., five miles from Brothwell's establishment.

Backs Story of Parley.

Brothwell's testimony tended to corroborate the story of George Weinberg, payoff man for the policy game racket operated by the Schultz gang. Weinberg had testified that Hines visited Schultz in Connecticut in 1935.

Defense Attorney Lloyd Paul Stryker had just finished putting Weinberg through a day of blistering cross-examination when Prosecutor Thomas E. Dewey sprang his surprise.

When the hands of the courtroom clock neared 6 o'clock, Stryker was almost as exhausted as Weinberg, and he suggested that the cross-examination be continued tomorrow.

Then Dewey arose and said he had a "four minute witness," a man who had been waiting all day. Stryker acquiesced and Supreme Court Justice Ferdinand Pecora had Brothwell called to the stand.

Identifies Gangster's Picture.

The riding master, a man of wiry, athletic build and the air of a country squire, was handed a photograph by Dewey. Brothwell identified it as that of Schultz.

Schultz kept a horse named Sun Tan at the riding academy, Brothwell said. The gang leader used to come to his place with his bodyguard, "Lulu" Rosencrantz, who was shot to death with Schultz in the fall of 1935, Brothwell testified.

"Ever see anybody else with Schultz?" asked Dewey.

"Yes," replied Brothwell. "There was another man."

Dewey asked the witness whether he saw that man in the courtroom. Brothwell rose from his seat and glanced over the courtroom.

"Over there," he said, pointing.

Walks Up To Hines.

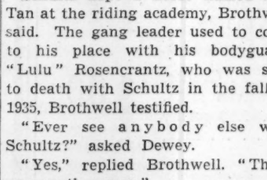

Dewey asked him to come down from the stand and point out the man at closer range. Brothwell stepped down, walked along the jury box, and approached the defense table until he was almost touching the Tammany boss.

"That's him," he said. "The man with the gray hair—the man with the red tie."

"Who has a red tie around here?" asked Dewey casually, and then added: "Indicating Defendant Hines."

Justice Pecora ordered Brothwell to return to court tomorrow. The riding master was escorted out of the courthouse by Dewey's detectives, it

Halt CIO Rally in Free for All Fight at Flint

Flint, Mich., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—C. I. O. members had a free-for-all fight here tonight at a meeting of nearly 800 persons addressed by Homer Martin, president of the United Automobile Workers. Threats were made to run Martin out of town. He had just arrived by airplane from Washington, where John L. Lewis, C. I. O. dictator, had proposed peace terms to end the factional fights in the union.

Bricks were thrown through windows of the meeting hall. The crowd in the audience smashed chairs over one another's heads. Several persons were slugged with blackjacks. Women in the crowd sought shelter.

Police Quiet Mêlée.

Martin was discussing the factional split in the auto union. Every time he reached a high point trouble resulted among his listeners, and when the meeting became a free-for-all battle police were called. They soon quieted the disturbance. No one was seriously injured and no one was arrested.

An indication of what was coming was seen in the boos that greeted Martin when he ascended to the speakers' platform. There were as many boos as cheers, although the meeting had been expected to be attended by friends of the union president.

The meeting was held in the hall of the Buick division of local 156 of the U. A. W. About 500 persons were inside and about 300 more stood outside, listening to the address through loud speakers.

Seek to Force Way In.

Soon after Martin started talking a brick was hurled through a window of the hall. A moment later about a dozen men, said to be members of the faction that is seeking Martin's ouster as president, tried to force their way into the hall by a rear door. Paul Treadway, a former welfare director of the local, said he was slugged with a blackjack in the fight to keep the men out.

Martin went on despite the interruptions. He was talking about his purge, which has split the ranks of the U. A. W. into two hostile camps. He declared the purge was necessary to clean out the undesirables.

At that point a man in the audience arose and shouted: "Let's take him out of Flint."

A chair went hurtling through the air. Some said it was aimed at Martin. Others said it was meant for his heckler. A moment later many chairs

MOTHER AND BABY ARE DOING FINE, BUT DAD IS HOME IN BED!

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. Coldren C. Glenn of Mitchellville, Ia., started for a Des Moines hospital to await the birth of a baby. En route they stopped at the state fair, Mrs. Glenn thinking there was no hurry. She soon learned she was wrong. Police were summoned to aid in rushing the woman to the hospital when the husband's nerves failed before city trafic. An 8½ pound girl was born to Mrs. Glenn and mother and baby are getting along fine. Mr. Glenn wasn't at the hospital. "I just had a phone call from him," said Mrs. Glenn. "He's at home sick in bed."

WOMAN CLEARED OF BEING WITCH AFTER 282 YEARS

Hampton, N. H., Aug. 25.—(AP)—In a unique ceremony attended by Mrs. Harry Houdini, white haired widow of the famous magician, this town today cleared Eunice [Goody] Cole of colonial era charges that she was a witch.

Three thousand townspeople and visitors looked on as three selectmen burned copies of all records pertaining to her arrest, conviction, and imprisonment in 1656.

Arnold D. Philbrick of Haverhill, Mass., descendant of one of Goody's original accusers, gave approval to the vindication ceremony, final event on the town's tercentenary program. Goody's "citizenship" was restored at a town meeting last March.

Marriage Certificate Blown 37 Miles Away in Tornado

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—When the tornado which whipped across central Illinois March 30 struck the Dent Bell farm near Deer Creek, it carried away everything—house, barn, corncrib, and furnishings. Listed among the missing articles was the marriage certificate of Mr. and Mrs. Bell. It had been kept in a bookcase in the home. Today they learned that Harold Yunge, who lives near Benson, has found the certificate on a field thirty-seven miles away.

Athlete's Foot Holds Up Woman at Ellis Island

New York, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Gynda Frumcair, 38 years old, was held at Ellis Island today pending a judicial determination of whether she should be barred from the country because she has athlete's foot. She came from Palestine to settle a $25,000 estate left her in Hackensack, N. J., by a brother.

Blast Kills 2 in Engine, but Train Runs On

Dayton, O., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—A fast express train carrying hundreds of passengers sped at 60 miles an hour through a thickly populated countryside today with no one in the engine cab. Both the engineer and firemen were victims of an explosion that shot live steam into their cab.

The train, the Pennsylvania railroad's St. Louisan, which runs between New York and St. Louis, ran along pilotless for nearly three miles before rolling to a stop. Loss of steam and a curve in the track were credited with stopping the disabled locomotive and its fifteen cars.

Passengers Unaware of Tragedy.

Passengers did not know of the tragedy in the cab or that their train had been unguided until it stopped. Among the passengers were G. M. Verity, wealthy head of the American Rolling Mills company, and Fred H. Pike, president of the Pike-Kumler company, one of Dayton's largest department stores.

The bottom of the locomotive boiler gave way when the train was near Selma, O. A downgrade in that area kept the train from losing its speed. It roared on its way through the town of Cedarville, sixteen miles east of Dayton, without its usual whistle at the main street crossing.

At the western limits of Cedarville the train slowed down and finally stopped.

Die of Skull Fracture.

Meantime railroad section hands, who had heard the explosion as the train passed them, followed and found the bodies of the engine men along the right of way. The victims were Engineer John L. Breen, 54 years old, and Fireman R. B. Mitchell, 46, both of Columbus, O.

Coroner H. C. Schick said the men either leaped or were hurled out of the cab. He expressed the opinion they jumped as the live steam made an inferno of the cab. While they were badly scalded, skull fractures caused their death, he said.

J. F. Henry, superintendent of the railroad's Cincinnati division, said a cursory investigation showed that the crown sheet, which divides the boiler and the firebox, came off and let water flow over the fire bed and coils. This released a blast of steam into the cab. What caused the crown sheet to blow off was not learned.

It was believed that loss of steam was responsible for reduced air pressure which controls the brakes. The train's braking apparatus is designed to stop the train's momentum when an air hose is broken or the pressure is lost in any other way.

Nine Gangland Murders! Nine Still Unsolved

A coroner's jury deliberated and decided yesterday that persons unknown to the authorities had murdered Leo Mosinski and Bruno Switaj, minor political workers and hoodlums in the 32d ward. They were shot to death on Aug. 6 in front of an alderman's home.

Similar verdicts have been returned in five other recent killings. Like findings are expected in two more.

Since June 11 nine men have been assassinated in Chicago in gangland style. In addition to these murders, which are within the jurisdiction of the Chicago and state's attorney's police there was a tenth in Will county. The first slaying has yet to be solved.

District and detective bureau police say they are working on all the crimes. State's Attorney Courtney's police, some of whom are concentrating on wrecking handbooks, are investigating several of the killings. But the state's attorney's office is said to be taking the attitude that the murder investigations are primarily police jobs.

Wave Begins in June.

The nine Chicago murders and official action on them follow:

June 11—Eugene D'Alessandro, an ex-convict, shot at Madison and Throop streets. No one under arrest. A coroner's jury found that he was slain by persons unknown.

June 29—Harry L. Minor, a gambler, killed in front of 3110 North Ashland avenue. No one under arrest. An inquest verdict said his slayers were unknown.

July 17—John O'Brien, a minor gang character on the near north side, slain at Wellington avenue and Halsted street. No one under arrest. A coroner's jury found that his slayers are not known.

Aug. 6—Leo Mosinski and Bruno Switaj, murdered in front of the home of Ald. Joseph P. Rostenkowski, 1349 Noble street. Killers suspected, but none charged with slaying. Coroner's jury found the killers are unknown.

Aug. 8—James G. Dungan, czar of the painters' union, assassinated in front of his home at 3116 Lowe avenue. No one under arrest. The inquest is not yet finished.

Aug. 9—Sam [Frog Leg] Picciotti, police character, slain behind the White Sox ball park. No one under arrest. A coroner's jury found that he was killed by persons unknown.

Aug. 12—Joseph La Porte, former member of the "42" gang, executed in the rear of 2539 Van Buren street. No one in custody. A coroner's jury reported that his slayers are unknown.

Aug. 24—Paul Battaglia, former Genna gangster, found slain in the rear of 5115 Monroe street. No one under arrest. An inquest is to be opened today.

BOOKIES ON RUN; AXES SPLINTER SIX DENS IN DAY

Fear of Raids Closes 14 More.

15

Three squads, instead of one, took the field. During a busy afternoon they smashed six handbooks. Their day's work reached a climax when they returned to the loop for the first time since the first wrecking raid on Aug. 17. At 32 North State street the axes interrupted the betting of a thousand horse players, some 400 of them women.

This brought to a total of fifteen the number of gambling dens wrecked since the prosecutor started his demolition campaign. The syndicate's loss in property damage alone is estimated at $50,000, in addition to loss of business.

Bookies Beating a Retreat.

There were indications yesterday that the bookies have started to beat a retreat before the constant ax assaults. Previously most places stayed open, trusting to the law of averages that the raiders would miss them. Yesterday the usual scouts sent out to mark places for destruction found fourteen places on their list closed before they lined up the six which were eligible for ax work. All of the closed places were running as late as Monday.

The raiders also found that many of the bookie joints had removed expensive furniture and substituted cheaper stuff as a precaution. In most places visited yesterday modernistic armchairs of chromium plated tubing had been replaced with folding chairs. This was all right with the ax squads. They had been complaining that the sturdy tubing was too hard to break up.

Seen as Reply to Murder.

The speedup in the destruction schedule was interpreted as Courtney's reply to the city's latest gang murder, that of Paul Battaglia, 831 Cabrini street, who was taken for a ride Wednesday night. The state's attorney refused comment on the case, but police officials advanced a theory that Battaglia may have been killed by syndicate gunmen who suspected him of being the tipster for a gang of handbook robbers.

The loop raid was on the State-Washington club, which occupied most of the fourth floor at the State street address. Lieut. Tom Kelly and his squad caused a near panic among the women patrons when they entered the place. The customers were assured that if they would line up and march out two by two they would not be bothered.

Furnished on Lavish Scale.

This handbook was elaborately furnished. Four rows of comfortable lether theater seats, arranged in curved rows facing the blackboards, the latest in lighting fixtures, and illuminated glass signs and large plate glass partitions were targets for the axes.

Among their souvenirs of the raid the police found a photograph of themselves smashing a south side book two hours before. Apparently the photographer who took it had dropped around to the State-Washington club to make a bet and had presented a print to one of the employés there. Another memento of the afternoon was a bit of embroidery, the needle still stuck in it, on which one of the women had been working as she waited for her horse to come in.

Hears Axes Over Phone.

While the axes were swinging one of the house telephones kept ringing with calls for one "Norman."

"Norman went away," replied a newspaperman who answered one call. "Listen."

The crash of axes was apparently plain, for the caller burst into laughter.

"Don't tell me that Tom Courtney's boys are there," he roared. "I'll be right over with my ax."

Immediately the phone was snatched from the hand of the gleeful one. Another voice spoke.

"Don't tell me Courtney hit the joint," moaned the second caller. "Please, mister, you're kidding, aren't you?"

Earl Russell, 428 South Western avenue, who said he was the manager, and two employés were sent to the state's attorney's office for questioning. Russell was evasive when questioned by Assistant State's Attorney Richard Austin. He asserted that he knew the owner of the place only as "a guy named John." He said that he put the receipts in a Brink's express safe and presumed that the express company delivered the money to "John."

A copy of the express company's agreement, made with one Frank Barnett, was found in the place. There were also a number of bad checks, on several of which payment had been stopped. They had been presented for collection in the name of Milton Stark, 7051 Oglesby avenue.

Hit South Side Spots.

Earlier Lieut. Kelly's squad made two south side raids. One was at 733 West 63d street, in the 17th ward, of which Coroner Frank J. Walsh is the Democratic committeeman. The other was at 1362 East 63d street, in the 6th ward, where Sanitary Trustee James M. Whalen is committeeman.

The 17th ward book, a large second floor room, was known as the Southtown club. Records seized in the place showed that the book had been losing money. During the period from July 18 to Wednesday night it made a gross profit of only $376 on bets averaging about $1,100 a day, while its operating expenses in the same period were $2,156. The daily expense sheets showed a total of $21 listed as "mooches"—handouts of 25 and 50 cents to busted horse players.

Nags by Day, Poker by Night.

David E. Connell, 740 Englewood avenue, who said he was a part owner, and Charles Frieberg, 6949 Cornell avenue, were arrested. They told police that the book had been operating at that location for five years. There were three tables for poker games played at night.

At the East 63d street resort the raiders found some 350 horse players, a large number of them women, crowded into a room 40 by 25 feet behind a short coupled cigar store. It had a crude air conditioning outfit. Louis Goodman, 1024 East 46th street, who claimed to be the owner, was arrested, with one employé.

When Even Winners Lost.

As Lieut. Charles Egan and another raiding squad walked into the Oak club, on the second floor at 946 North State street, the loud speakers were just giving the call on the fourth race at Washington Park.

"There's one you won't collect on, friends," sang out one of the raiders.

Two men were arrested there, and two others in a raid on the 4085 club, at 4085 Broadway, a large place in which 400 horse players were found. The 4085 club is in the 48th ward, of which J. Frank Lyman, secretary of the Chicago Park district, is committeeman. The Oak club is in the 42d ward, ruled by State Senator William Connors.

Wreck Chicago Heights Place.

The other raid of the day was made in Chicago Heights by a squad led by Sergt. Joseph Healy. They wrecked the suburb's leading handbook, run at 82 Illinois street by Charles M. Kirgis, 1319 Park avenue, and John B. Piacente, 136 East 22d street, both of Chicago Heights. Piacente is better known by his alias of Skinny Jones.

The place was doing a thriving business when the raiders entered. Four ticket writers were busy serving several hundred patrons, while twelve clerks were busy on telephones, handling wagers from Chicago Heights and other suburbs. The brisk telephone trade is explained by the fact that a number of south Cook county towns near Chicago Heights do not tolerate handbooks.

The place had been in operation at the same address for eighteen months, Kirgis told Assistant State's Attorney Austin. Asked how he managed to keep going so long, he replied:

"I know the town officials and they know me."

He would not amplify his statement. His supposed partner, Piacente, or Jones, is reputed to be a relative of a Chicago Heights official.

Raid Policy Games.

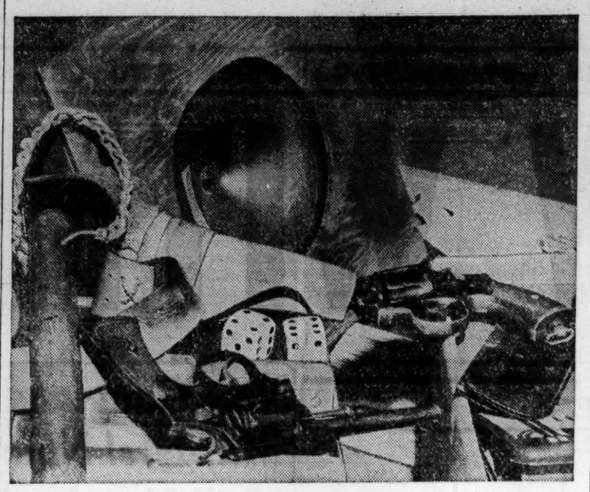

The police morals division, under acting Supervising Capt. Martin Mullen, arrested eight persons in four raids yesterday, made on search warants, but did not destroy the premises. The raids were on a policy game at 4931 Indiana avenue, and handbooks at 612 East 63d street, the second floor at 215 South Market Street, and 1752 Chicago avenue.

Police of the first district, under Capt. George O'Connor, raided two handbooks at 64 West Randolph street, on the tenth floor, and 210 West Madison street, on the second floor, and arrested four men.

In the Municipal court Judge Eugene J. Holland dismissed thirty-nine men arrested in nineteen previous raids by the morals division and district police. Twenty-five were freed because raids had been made without search warants, and in the other cases Judge Holland found alleged faults in the warants.

AUTO SET AFIRE IN COUNTRY LANE; SUSPECT GANGS

The spectacular burning of a large sedan in a lonely Indiana road near Michigan City last night, furnished police with an apparent gangland mystery.

The car was driven into Cool Springs line road, five miles southeast of Michigan City. A black coupe followed. Several men alighted from the coupe, poured five gallons of gasoline over the sedan, and then set it on fire. The men then returned to their coupe and sped away. They were last seen turning into U. S. Highway 35, leading into U. S. 20 for Chicago.

The burned car's license plates had been removed. Flecks of green paint on the license plate holders indicated the car was from Illinois. No body was found in or near the burned car.

NINE GANGLAND MURDERS! NINE STILL UNSOLVED

Wave Begins on June 11; No Progress.

tectives John L. Sullivan said they might be part of an underworld purge. Police believe motives for the murders are varied. Some were killed because they were police informants, some because they held up or helped to hold up handbooks, and others because they tried to muscle into rackets.

Police and the state's attorney's office said that they have hope of solving the murders of O'Brien, Mosinski, and Switaj. Capt. Thomas Luffy of the Sheffield avenue station said he had clews which he is developing in the O'Brien case. Capt. Martin Mullen of the Racine avenue station admitted having information, plus fingerprints, in the Mosinski and Switaj crimes.

The Will county murder was that of Benny Bartolini, a minor hoodlum of Chicago Heights — who was killed near Crete on Aug. 5.

Motorist Picks Up Boy, 3, Wandering After Midnight

A blue eyed boy, about 3 years old, was found lost at Archer and Ashland avenues early today by a motorist. He was turned over to Deering police and then taken to the Juvenile Detention home. He has light hair and was dressed in overalls, a brown striped shirt, and black shoes.

2 BOYS TORTURED IN PENNY ARCADE; HUNT OPERATORS

One Victim Is Hung by His Thumbs Until He Faints.

Two attendants at a penny arcade in Riverview park were sought yesterday by the police as the sadistic torturers of two boys. The boys were put through painful exercises until they collapsed. Then to satisfy the devilish glee of their tormentors, one of the boys was strung up by his thumbs until he fainted.

Matthew Morgan Jr.

This harrowing story was unfolded yesterday in the Town Hall police court. Judge N. J. Bonelli issued assault and battery warants for the concession employés, Ulysses Beck and Roy Larsen.

A third man, implicated by the boys, was arrested and released on a $25 bond. He is Patrick Murphy, a private policeman at the park. Murphy denied the boys' charges that he dragged them into a back room of the arcade where the sadists did their work. He was suspended by the park.

One Still Ill in Bed.

The boys are Clarence Fleckenstein, 13, of 1246 West 31st street, and Matthew Morgan Jr., 15, of 1228 West 31st place. Young Morgan, who was the one strung up by the thumbs, is under treatment of a physician.

In tears as she told the story to Judge Bonelli, Mrs. Morgan said her son had saved his pennies for two months for the outing. On Monday he and Fleckenstein, three other boys, and four girls went to the park.

As the last stop on their outing, the young people went into a penny arcade, according to their story. They noticed that the punching bag machine was broken and that the bag could be punched without a penny.

Boys Are Seized.

While they amused themselves punching the bag, five older men emerged from a back room. They seized Fleckenstein and a boy from another party and shoved them into the room, locking the door.

Morgan peeked through a peephole. He saw the older men standing around Fleckenstein. They forced the boy to hold his hands behind his head and then perform a squatting exercise. Then one of the men opened the door, pushed Fleckenstein out, and dragged the Morgan boy inside.

"Here's a wise guy, boss," the man said to one of the others. "All right, wise guy," said the boss, "go to work or I'll beat you."

Morgan did the exercise, called "the squats," some 300 times, as the men jeered.

Morgan collapsed, and one of the men tied a rope to his thumbs, tossed it over a beam, and jerked him off his feet.

Crying and pleading, he said, he dangled there for fifteen minutes.

After fifteen minutes of torture the boy fainted just as two older men burst into the room. One of these rescuers, who testified yesterday, was William Pelligreni, 24, of 1354 South Washtenaw avenue.

"The first we heard of this," said George Schmidt president of the park, "was yesterday when the mothers came here."

C. I. O. FIGHT TIES UP SAN FRANCISCO LIQUOR AND GROCERY STORES

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Complete suspension of the wholesale grocery business and immediate stoppage of the wholesale liquor industry were announced by the Association of San Francisco Distributors today as groups met to consider a new peace proposal from the C. I. O. International Longshoremen's Warehouse union.

The long drawn out fight between the operators and the warehousemen's union suddenly swept through thirty-six additional houses and brought a statement that all liquor warehouses in the city, numbering twenty-five, would be closed before midnight tonight.

Listed as already closed were the thirty-eight grocery warehouses served by both rail and water, twelve liquor, four hardware, and twenty-five public warehouses, employing 2,000 men. In addition, other thousands have been indirectly thrown out of work. The dispute is based on wage and closed shop demands.

GIRL STILL SEEKS YOUNG MAN WITH BLUE SERGE SUIT

When the young man in the blue serge suit walked in yesterday and announced he was a robber, Miss Cilcy Bruno, clerk in the Andes candy store at 34 West Jackson street, looked him over carefully. She noted every detail of his appearance.

Then, after he took $9.45 from the cash register and calmly walked out, she followed him. She was delayed by a trafic light and temporarily lost sight of the gunman. But at Jackson and State streets she found a policeman and also found a young man in a blue serge suit.

"There he is," she said. The policeman thrust a revolver in the young man's back. He turned, terrified. Then Miss Bruno's memory still held good. "No," she said, "he's not the man."

The young man, somewhat shaken, went his way. Miss Bruno, who is 22 years old and lives at 1667 North Francisco avenue, went back to the candy shop looking for — another young man in a blue serge suit.

AMERICAN STEEL MAN'S SON FOUND DEAD IN ENGLAND

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 25.—C. E. Tuttle of Baltimore, Md., a steel magnate, tonight identified the body of a young man found shot to death in a Kent wood yesterday as that of his son, Stiles.

Tuttle said he believed his son, who was 27 years old, had been killed in a hunting accident. A new double barreled shotgun was found beside the body. An inquest will be held tomorrow in Eastry, where the body was taken.

Scotland Yard detectives traced clothing labels to a tailor who made the suit found on the body. He said young Tuttle had purchased it. The father was notified in Le Touquet, France, and he came to England by plane. He is chairman of the board of the Rustless Iron and Steel corporation of Baltimore. His son, a polo player, had been in Europe for several months as a salesman for the corporation. Stiles had arranged to leave with his father on Tuesday for Baltimore, where he was to play for the Maryland Polo club.

PARTY SWITCHING IN 13TH DISTRICT IS HELD ILLEGAL

Ruling Voids Democratic Vote in Primary.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Republicans who voted the Democratic ticket in the primary election last April 12 violated the election laws of Illinois. They had no legal right to switch parties because two full years had not elapsed since the 1936 primaries. The period was two days short of two years.

Judge Stanley H. Klarkowski of the Circuit court gave this opinion yesterday. He ruled that because of Republican participation, no Democrats were nominated for state representative in the 13th senatorial district. Because of the death of Representative William W. Powers, the decision affects only two men—Representative John G. Ryan and Adam S. Mioduski.

Contended Primary Illegal.

Ryan was defeated by Mioduski for nomination to the legislature by the canvassed returns. He demanded a recount. He also contended that the primary was illegal because County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki permitted Republicans to enter the Democratic battle.

Ryan won the second point. Since Judge Klarkowski announced he would dismiss the election contest, however, neither Ryan nor Mioduski was nominated. The Democratic senatorial committee for the district now has the duty of selecting candidates whose names will be on the Nov. 8 ballot. They may name one, two, or three candidates.

They may name either Ryan, a Nash-Kelly adherent, or Mioduski, a Horner-Courtney adherent, or both.

Earlier this week, President Roosevelt, speaking from a political viewpoint, condemned Republicans who entered and influenced Democratic fights. Judge Klarkowski considered the matter from a legal viewpoint and found no justification for Judge Jarecki's contention that the two year prohibition to switching meant "political" rather than "calendar" years.

Still Refuse to Comment.

Judge Jarecki refused comment, as he did Wednesday, when asked to express his opinion of President Roosevelt's statement. Gov. Horner also refused to discuss the decision. He made no comment Wednesday on the President's stand.

Judge Klarkowski quoted from the Illinois statutes:

"The word 'month' shall mean calendar month, and the word 'year' a calendar year unless otherwise expressed; and the word 'year' alone, shall be equivalent to the expression 'year of our Lord.'"

Judge Klarkowski found a number of opinions to sustain his own that Republicans had no business in the Democratic warfare. One he quoted was given by the Illinois Supreme court and included this sentence:

"If the independent voter or the voter affiliating with an opposition party can vote at the primary election of a party with which he has no political affiliation, and thereby control the nominations of a party to which he is opposed and whose candidates he will vote against at the polls, the freedom of the primary election is destroyed."

Adds Own Opinion.

As part of his own conclusion, Judge Klarkowski said:

"The court concludes that the ruling of the board of election commissioners reversing its prior stand of twenty-seven years [on party switching] was erroneous. The book of instructions and placard issued by the board were contrary to law. The judges of election in following the instructions violated the statute, and the 10,000 ballots cast by Republicans in the Democratic primary for representative in the 13th district were illegal.

"The conclusion is irresistible that the primary for representatives in the general assembly in the 13th district has been determined by a large group which was not entitled to take part in the primary.

Rules Ballots Invalid.

"It is, therefore, the ruling of the court that all ballots cast for representative in the general assembly in the 13th district be rejected and the court will enter a finding that no lawful ballots having been cast, no person has been lawfully nominated in the 13th district as Democratic candidate for representative in the general assembly.

"The illegality which permeated this primary and which is inseparably connected with the result declared by the canvassing board is so fundamental and far reaching that the court is duty bound to disregard and reject the ballots.

"It is the opinion of the court that nominations not contested by a petition are not affected by this decision of the court."

Other nominations made at the primary are not affected because the defeated candidates did not file contests against their opponents. The law holds that contests must be filed not more than five days following the canvass of votes. This period of grace expired early last May. The Ryan protest was filed on the fifth day.

Believes Appeal Possible.

Judge Klarkowski said that while the law stated the decision of the Circuit court was final, he thought it possible an appeal could be taken to the Appellate court on a writ of error.

Attorney John F. Tyrrell, Ryan's lawyer, held the opposite view, and declared Judge Klarkowski's decision ended the matter. Attorney David Silbert, for Mioduski, said he would decide by Monday what action he would take.

HELD TO GRAND JURY.

William Walters, an ex-convict who was shot July 21 in a gun fight with a merchant at 958 North Monticello avenue, was held to the grand jury in bonds of $10,000 on a charge of robbery when he appeared in Felony court yesterday.

Asks Separation

[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mrs. Agnes La Monte, former waitress, told judge about husband's liberal spending in support of her plea for a large separation allowance.

WAITRESS TELLS JUDGE ALL ABOUT MARRYING MONEY

But He Fixes Her Alimony at Old Wage.

They lived together only three months. But her husband spent his money lavishly on her. They traveled by plane. They went to parties in New York. They spent week-ends at Mackinac Island. They had a Lake Shore drive apartment. He bought her an expensive automobile.

So Mrs. Agnes La Monte told Judge John Prystalski yesterday that her husband is well able to pay her alimony. Mrs. La Monte, 31 years old is a former loop waitress. She has filed a suit for separate maintenance from Frank D. La Monte, 54 years old, an official of a business service concern.

Husband Asks Annulment.

The couple were married last April 30. They separated Aug. 2. Mrs. La Monte charges desertion. La Monte in a cross bill seeks annulment of the marriage. It is his contention that only recently he discovered that his former wife had not divorced him as he believed.

Mrs. La Monte told of her gay three months of marriage after La Monte had protested he was unable to pay alimony.

"We were always traveling," she declared. "We flew to New York to watch the Joe Louis fight. We went to Mackinac Island and paid $22.50 a day for a room. Frank spent money like a millionaire.

"Why, he even bought a $180 gas range for a bartender at the place I used to work."

Suggests She Resume Job.

La Monte declared his wife was a waitress and could probably get her job back to support herself. He said his income would not permit any alimony payments.

"Well, Mrs. La Monte has had her fling with this so-called millionaire," Judge Prystalski ruled, "what with life on Lake Shore drive and trips to New York and Mackinac Island. And because Mr. La Monte married her he's got to pay. He'll pay her $25 a week—the wages she received as a waitress."

YUCATAN STORM ROARING TOWARD GULF OF MEXICO

New Orleans, La., Aug 26 [Friday.]—The United States weather bureau announced early today that a tropical hurricane had reached the extreme northern part of Yucatan, 625 miles south of Mobile, Ala., and was moving northwest or west at the rate of 14 miles an hour. The bureau said the storm will pass into the Gulf of Mexico today, attended by gales and probably winds of hurricane force. Vessels in the path of the storm were advised to use caution.

Tugwells Part

Mr. and Mrs. Rexford Guy Tugwell before she won divorce.

Reno, Nev., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Rexford Guy Tugwell, former New Deal adviser, was divorced at Yerington, Nev., yesterday by Mrs. Florence Arnold Tugwell. Charges of cruelty on which the decree was granted were described as mental only.

Judge Clark J. Guild heard the case behind closed doors and all papers were sealed. Attorneys on both sides would not comment on the case. The couple was married in Buffalo, N. Y., on June 7, 1914, and have two daughters.

Mrs. Tugwell's presence here was not known generally until she appeared in court, although she had resided quietly on a dude ranch near Reno for the six week requirement period. She was reported to have left Nevada after the hearing, but her destination was not disclosed.

DEMANDS SENATE PROBE OF LUCAS' CAMPAIGN FUNDS

Oscar E. Carlstrom, former Illinois attorney general, yesterday requested a senate investigation into the campaign expenditures of Scott W. Lucas, Democratic nominee for United States senator. His request was contained in a letter to Senator Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.], chairman of the senate committee on campaign expenditures.

"The people of Illinois were informed several weeks ago that Mr. Lucas reported total expenditures in his primary campaign of $6,700," the letter stated. "It is a matter of common knowledge that very large sums of money were spent in the contest, particularly in the Democratic party, for the nomination of United States senator. Many estimates of the amount spent go as high as $2,000,000."

Mr. Carlstrom referred to a previous statement of United States Attorney Howard Doyle of the southern Illinois district, who charged huge sums were collected for the Lucas campaign on a percentage basis from civil service and political employés of the state.

BOY ADMITS SETTING FIRES.

A boy, 11 years old, was turned over to juvenile authorities yesterday after admitting that he started several fires in the Rogers Park district. None of the fires was serious.

LOVE SLAYER'S MOTHER-IN-LAW BARS HER DOORS

Mrs. Elizabeth Boehme barred the doors of her Elmwood Park home yesterday and said she would make no more statements until her son-in-law, Rudolph Sikora, comes to trial as a slayer. She has been vehement in her criticism of her daughter Margaret, whose love for another man, Edward Solomon, caused Sikora to shoot him to death last Monday.

The reason for Mrs. Boehme's sudden silence was the presentation of certain court records. These showed that Mrs. Boehme married Max Boehme on Dec. 23, 1926, three days after she was divorced from John Ziel, the father of her two children, Margaret and John Jr.

Until the records had been produced she had maintained vehemently that there was no similarity between her case and her daughter's, and said she had not met her present husband until after her divorce.

The state has announced it will demand the death penalty for Sikora. The grand jury will be asked to indict him next week.

DEPICT PEOPLES' FIGHT TO RETAIN HUMAN LIBERTIES

Pageant Will Be Feature of Constitution Day.

Chicago's annual Constitution day celebration on Sept. 17 in the Civic Opera house will be opened by a patriotic pageant, "Human Liberties." The pageant will portray the struggle to win and preserve constitutional liberties guaranteed by the bill of rights, Julius H. Miner, general director, said at a luncheon in the Palmer house yesterday.

At the luncheon the Constitution day committee elected its officers for the year. Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of THE TRIBUNE, was reëlected honorary chairman. Walter Dill Scott, president of Northwestern university, was named chairman ,and Mr. Miner was appointed general director. David L. Shillinglaw was chosen treasurer and Charles O. Rundell secretary.

Plan Well Known Speaker.

A nationally known speaker will address the Sept. 17 meeting, Mr. Miner said. He reported on the campaign to organize Young American Patriots, a nonpartisan group between the ages of 16 and 24, to foster doctrins of freedom and loyalty to American institutions. People have come to Chicago from Detroit, Toledo, and Milwaukee to get information for organizations in those cities, he said.

Reviewing the history of previous Constitution day celebrations, started in 1934, Col. McCormick said:

"In the beginning a lot of people thought we were merely putting on a show. They thought we were overimaginative, or that we had ulterior motives. I don't think we rest under any such suspicions today.

Recalls Events in Rhode Island.

"When the governor and legislature of Rhode Island conspired to purge the Supreme court of their state, and when the governor later used the National Guard of Rhode Island to seize a racetrack from a personal and political rival, the events seemed far away and in a little state.

"When the foreign communist Bridges seized control of Pacific coast waterfronts, that also seemed far away from our door. But when mobs seized the state of Michigan, and the governor of that state forced factory owners to furnish them heat and light, and to permit food to be sent to them, it seemed nearer. When the capital of Michigan was seized by a howling mob, and that same governor said the mob was dominated by the communists seeking bloodshed, it seemed still nearer home.

Factional Fight in C. I. O.

"Now there is a dispute in the C. I. O. The two factions are the Stalinists and the Trotskyists, seeking control of the organization which controls the administration of the United States.

"The struggle is shifting to the Democratic party. Browder and his followers are boasting that they will control it. Democrats who have had the courage to stand up for American ideals are being read out of the party. Other Democrats must choose whether they will be dominated by communists next year.

"You will find that the men whose names appear in history did not lead pleasant lives. Hampden did not enjoy himself as he lay in prison under the tyranny of Charles I., nor Washington at Valley Forge, nor Lincoln during the four discouraging years of his struggle to save the union before Grant appeared.

"We are not calling you to a celebration, a ball or a ball game. We are asking serious self-sacrifice and personal service. If you are not willing to furnish those, don't come with us."

HORNER TO SPEAK AT DEMOCRATIC RALLY TOMORROW

Gov. Horner will be one of the principal speakers tomorrow at the Democratic field day for country towns at National grove, 29th street and Des Plaines avenue, North Riverside. Homer J. Byrd of Arlington Heights will be chairman of the celebration.

Byrd said yesterday that invitations to speak had been sent all city and county officials and Democratic candidates. The list of speakers includes State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, County Judge Edmund K. Jarecki, Congressman Scott W. Lucas, nominee for senator, and State Representative Benjamin S. Adamowski.

MR. NOAH DID IT IN THE ARK! NOW THE ZOO TRIES IT

Birds and Beasts All Dwell Together.

Living together in one big happy family out at the Brookfield zoo are animals, birds, and reptiles brought from South America. No bars separate them from each other. No bars separate them from the public for that matter, but a good safe moat takes care of that.

It is an experiment, in which reptiles, rheas, alpacas, anteaters and others have cast their lot with one another. So far there has been no cause for regret.

The colony has been getting along amicably for about two weeks now, and Edward H. Bean, director, having counted no casualties, announced yesterday that he considered it successful. The Chicago Zoölogical park is the first zoo, to his knowledge, to combine mammals, birds, and reptiles and take a chance on their getting along.

Similar Colony Planned.

"With this encouragement the Chicago Zoölogical society hopes to establish a North American colony next," said Mr. Bean.

"But where we have no moats or other barriers between the ten South American species we would have hidden moats separating bears and wolves and possibly snakes from other North American animals. We hope to place there also deer, buffalo, mountain sheep and goats, elk, prong horn antelope, and birds."

The South American colony's inhabitants never lived this way in nature. They come from widely separated areas, from the pampas, islands off the mainland, mountains and the region that borders the Antarctic.

Alpacas Don't Mind Anteaters.

Alpacas apparently aren't allergic to anteaters, Mr. Bean reports. The capabaras [world's largest rodents] have become chummy with the cavies. A Galapagos tortoise plods along without bothering any one, and a pair of Jabiru storks, the latest arrivals, do not seem too superior to the Magellan geese.

Rheas, large ostrich-like birds, three species of screamers and the brilliantly colored macaws flap their wings along the shores of their new lagoon contentedly.

A large relief map of South America is before the exhibit. Small carved wooden figures of the mammals, birds and reptiles are placed on the map at the scene of their native habitat. The map and carvings are the work of Ralph Graham, Chicago artist, who gave them to the zoo.

Drowns in Indiana Lake as Motorboat Overturns

Plymouth, Ind., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Peter Mosier, 25 years old, of South Bend drowned tonight in a lake near Bremen. A motor boat overturned as he attempted to start it. Harold Dunlap, a companion, made a futile effort to save Mosier.

Visit at Hospital

Two boys from Watertown, Wis., reached the end of a long trail yesterday morning on the steps of the Hines hospital in Maywood. There they joined Mrs. Mary B. Grimstad, a world war nurse.

One of the boys was her son, Thomas, 15 years old. The other was his chum, Edward Neverman, 17. They started out from Watertown at 6 a. m. Wednesday to visit Mrs. Grimstad, who is a patient at the hospital.

The boys traveled on bicycles. At 6 p. m. they reached the end of their 142 mile trek, but were told they could not see Mrs. Grimstad until morning.

STUDY TO EXTEND SOCIAL SECURITY IS NEARING CLOSE

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—(AP)—The social security board is nearing completion of a three month study which may result in extension of federal old age insurance to 16,000,000 farm workers, hired girls, and other wage earners now excluded from the insurance system. A report to the board's advisory council is expected Sept. 15.

Due largely to unsolved problems of administration, the act's old age insurance provisions were limited in the main to employés of industrial and commercial concerns.

Establishment of a stamp system similar to England's has been suggested as one way of administering old age insurance for farm, casual, and domestic help. Unemployment stamps are purchased at British postoffices each pay day and affixed to the employés' unemployment insurance books. The money from the sale of the stamps goes into the government's unemployment fund.

RECORD CROWD OF 18,000 HEARS LYONS' SPEECH

Starved Rock, Ill., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Richard J. Lyons of Libertyville, Republican candidate for United States senator, spoke tonight to 18,000 persons, the largest evening crowd that ever gathered at Starved Rock. The occasion was Republican day. All other candidates on the state ticket also spoke.

Lyons declared that the state platform to be adopted Wednesday at Peoria would be the most progressive and liberal ever composed by the Republican party. It will adequately answer all charges, he said, that the Republicans lack a program.

WPA'S RECORD ROLLS SWELLED BY 3,000 MORE

Regional Director O. K.'s Emergency Increase.

An emergency increase of 3,000 in the number of Chicagoans on the WPA'S pay roll was authorized yesterday by Howard O. Hunter, regional director of the Works Progress administration.

Hunter boosted the Chicago maximum to a new peak of 128,000 at the request of Charles E. Miner, state WPA director. Miner pointed to a waiting list of 29,900 certified by state and city relief administrations as evidence that the city needs more work relief.

Long List Develops.

A long list of approved WPA applicants developed in July when the Chicago relief administration, at Miner's request, agreed to resume certifying for the WPA unemployed persons not on relief.

The shortcut eligibility system was suspended for three weeks and then resumed on Aug. 15 with the opening of the CRA's central intake office. Since then 9,900 nonrelief applications have poured in. Only 432 have been certified thus far, but the number who qualify is expected to amount to 75 per cent.

The WPA pay roll, including Chicagoans working both within and outside the city limits, has been increased 6,000 in the last two weeks. Miner said it reached its peak of 125,000 on Wednesday. The pay roll has been at an all time high since last March when it totaled 99,092. It was 49,098 a year ago.

Wants State Limit Raised.

Miner predicted that 128,000 would be on the rolls by next Thursday. Then he will consider the need of additional federal funds.

"Meanwhile," he said, "I am asking Mr. Hunter to raise the state limit from 247,000 to about 257,000. How this additional 10,000 would be distributed must depend on local employment problems at the time it is authorized."

Miner said Gov. Horner has agreed to state sponsorship of a number of new downstate projects designed to replace state projects being completed. He said these projects were not intended to increase the state quota but keep the present total at work.

American Envoy to Attend Nazis' Nuremberg Rally

BERLIN, Aug. 25.—(AP)—United States Ambassador Hugh R. Wilson will attend the annual Nuremberg congress of the Nazi party, which begins on Sept. 5, the embassy disclosed today. Wilson's acceptance of an invitation was in contrast with the failure of his predecessor, William E. Dodd, to attend the 1937 Nuremberg congress.

FARLEY ADVISES CONFINING PURGE TO SEN. TYDINGS

Urges Roosevelt to Drop War on Others.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Abandonment of the Democratic party purge—with one notable exception—was urged upon President Roosevelt today by Postmaster General James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee.

At a lengthy conference in the President's summer home, Boss Farley told Mr. Roosevelt, according to reports, that the purge was doomed to be a failure in most instances. Its continuance would only hurt the party, he declared.

In the case of Senator Millard E. Tydings, however, Farley advised the President to go to even greater efforts in his attempt to defeat the Maryland senator. He asked the President to go to Baltimore, probably next Labor day, and make a speech against Tydings and in behalf of his opponent, Representative David J. Lewis, 100 per cent Roosevelt supporter.

Hesitancy in 1932 Recalled.

The Farley-Roosevelt antipathy to Tydings goes back to 1932, when Tydings hesitated, when asked to make a seconding speech for Roosevelt's nomination at the Chicago convention. Tydings finally made the speech, but it was considered lukewarm by Roosevelt supporters.

Moreover, Tydings has failed to make what Farley considers his proper contributions to the Democratic committee's war chest, it was learned. His record of voting against a number of administration proposals is, of course, the primary reason for the President's opposition.

Farley urged the President to make the proposed Baltimore speech a practical one, pointing out all that the national government has spent on Maryland and giving an implied warning that these benefits might cease if Tydings were renominated and reelected.

Farley Remains Overnight.

The postmaster general had not seen the President for nearly two months. The two had expected to conclude their conference in the afternoon, but the discussion was prolonged so long that Farley accepted the President's invitation to remain overnight.

The President and Farley conducted much of their conversation during a long motor ride and then resumed a review of the entire election primary situation after dinner, talking far into the night.

Farley had told newspaper men upon his arrival here that he would hold a press conference after his visit with the President. This was canceled and it is believed that the President, at his regular Friday press conference tomorrow, will sum up the results of the meeting. The President is reported to be a little irked by Farley's volubility with the press and wants to be the spokesman on this occasion.

Believes George Will Win.

Farley told the President, it was learned, that both Senator Walter F. George of Georgia and Senator Ellison D. Smith of South Carolina probably will win in their respective primaries. Both have been denounced by the President for their failure to support all his proposals.

In particular, Farley warned the President against encouraging defeated Democratic candidates to run as independents. He was perturbed about reports that Senator James P. Pope of Idaho and Representative Maury Maverick of Texas were planning such a course and that these plans had been smiled upon by the President.

Only Helping Republicans.

"You're only helping the Republicans," Farley bluntly told the President, it was said. "You'll split our party if you encourage this entry of independents against the regularly nominated candidates."

Whether Farley's words will have much weight with the President remained in question. Of late Mr. Roosevelt has been listening more to the political advice of Harry Hopkins, WPA head, and other left-wingers, than to the counsel of the veteran party chieftain.

GUNMAN GRABS $1,500 LOOT IN A BANK HOLDUP

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—A lone gunman took $1,500 late today in a holdup of the Thirty-eighth street branch of the Merchants National bank here. He terrorized three employés by firing a shot that struck a wall.

The bandit sauntered into the bank at a time when no customers were present. Suddenly he produced a revolver and ordered the three employés to line up against a wall.

After rifling cash drawers of all the loose money available, he threatened the lives of the employés if they tried to interfere with his escape.

CHARGES OF U. S. AID FOR BRIDGES WILL BE SIFTED

Quiz on Labor Leader Set for West Coast.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Charges that Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and other high officials of the labor department gave aid and advice to Harry Bridges, west coast C. I. O. maritime labor leader, when deportation proceedings were pending against him, will be studied on the west coast by a subcommittee of the special house group investigating un-American activities.

Chairman Martin Dies [D., Tex.] said today that while no testimony had yet been taken on the charges relating to labor department protection of Bridges, the subject will be investigated by the subcommittee at Los Angeles and San Francisco.

"We are after that angle," Dies said, "and intend to get to the bottom of it."

Three on Subcommittee.

The subcommittee, which will look into un-American activities on the west coast, is headed by Representative John J. Dempsey [D., N. M.]. Other members are Joe Starnes [D., Ala.] and Harold G. Mosier [D., Ohio].

At the request of the Dies committee the department of labor reluctantly turned over the files and correspondence in the Bridges case. At the same time the department warned that if the material were made public several persons, who supplied information, might suffer.

Dies said the full committee, which decided upon the Bridges investigation in an executive session, had not had time to examine the documents submitted. The material is to be studied by the subcommittee, he said, before hearings are begun on the west coast.

Asked why the hearings were being held on the west coast instead of at Washington where department of labor officials could be summoned, Dies insisted the evidence was on the west coast rather than in the department of labor.

Look Into Red Charges.

At the same time the subcommittee will investigate charges that Bridges is a communist. Mrs. Margaret A. Kerr, representative of Los Angeles patriotic groups, testified that she had seen Bridges' membership card in the red party which gave his party alias, "Harry Dorgan." Mrs. Kerr further charged that information of an investigation of Bridges' red activities, conducted by the organizations she represented, leaked out when copies of collected affidavits were sent to the labor department here.

Deportation proceedings were begun against Bridges on the west coast last March. He was served with a deportation warant and haled into court in April. The deportation proceedings were postponed in order to test a ruling that membership in the communist party is not sufficient ground for deportation.

Champion Milkmaid

Mrs. Josephine B. Finch, winner in milking contest held at Elgin fair last night.

A novice entrant at last year's Elgin agricultural fair last night won the milkmaid contest. She is Mrs. Josephine Blagdon Finch, the daughter of an Elgin dairyman, on whose farm she and her new husband, Floyd Finch, live.

Before 10,000 spectators twenty young women competed in the event. They were allowed to milk for three minutes. The scales picked the winner.

Mrs. Finch drew 15⅝ pounds, a little less than two gallons, in three minutes. Next was Miss Vivian Zaeske of Elgin, 14⅛ pounds, or more than seven quarts. Third prize went to Miss Virginia Rolf of Waterman, Ill., with 13⅜ pounds, a little less than seven quarts.

Charles S. Leech, president of the association of commerce, sponsor of the fair, presented each contestant with a prize. More than $3,000 was distributed during the three days to 400 boys and girls from twenty-six communities in northwestern Illinois.

BUTCHER KNOWS HIS STEAKS, BUT WIFE WINS SUIT

Charles Gerber, a butcher, has a weakness for steaks. He knows the choice cuts and brought them home to his wife. But, he explained yesterday to Judge Peter Schwaba, she is a poor cook.

"I can't live with her," he said. "When I bring home the finest meat she serves it either raw or burned to a crisp. Her cooking gives me stomach trouble."

"That's not so, judge," said Gerber's wife, Elizabeth, "he got so fat on my cooking he had to get a bicycle to reduce."

Judge Schwaba ordered Gerber to pay his wife $10 a week for support of herself and son, Charles Jr., pending settlement of her suit for separate maintenance. Mrs. Gerber, 24 years old, lives at 1619 Grace street.

4 SETS OF TWINS IN FAMILY HAIL 2 BY 2 ARRIVALS

A vanguard of twins arrived in Chicago yesterday and were greeted by four sets of twins from one Chicago home. The International Twin convention opens today in the Morrison hotel. Five thousand sets of twins are expected. Although a scheduled parade down Michigan avenue was called off, a program for the twins was arranged for 2 p. m. Sunday in the band shell of Grant park.

Eight sets of twins were taken for a ride yesterday afternoon in a mainliner of United Airlines. The four sets from one home arrived at the airport too late for the ride. They are: Shirley and William, 15 years old; George and Charles, 10; Robert and Roger, 7, and James and Jerry, 3, all members of the Housen family of 5647 Windsor avenue. Twin air line stewardesses who took the ride were Agnes and Anese Pugh. Agnes works for the United, Anese for the American air lines.

Various contests are scheduled for the three days of the convention.

BERGEN AND M'CARTHY STOP OFF; APPOINTED GOODWILL ENVOYS

Edgar Bergen and Charlie McCarthy arrived in Chicago over the Illinois Central railway yesterday. They were taken to the city hall, where Barnet Hodes, corporation counsel, was host, and were made ambassadors of goodwill for Mayor Kelly's New Century committee.

Numerous pretty girls from the committee headquarters surrounded Bergen and his famous dummy. Bergen read the two documents handed him by Mr. Hodes, let the girls smile at him, rolled his eyes and posed for numerous photographs. From the city hall Bergen and Charlie hurried to the Palmer house for a cocktail party attended by officials of the committee, members of the State Street council, and radio and stage personalities.

Bergen will go to Detroit today to appear at the Michigan state fair, returning to Chicago Sunday in time for his broadcast. During the broadcast Dean Ralph Dennis of the Northwestern University School of Speech will award Charlie McCarthy the honorary degree of master of innuendo.

HINES IS LINKED TO RACKET GANG BY NEW WITNESS

Trial Thrown in Uproar by Testimony.

was reported, and his whereabouts were unknown tonight.

Salary Cut Described.

Brothwell lent credence to an important episode in the narrative of gangdom and Hines as told by Weinberg. The gang lieutenant had testified that one day in the summer of 1935 he had accompanied Hines on an automobile trip to Bridgeport.

In a hotel there, Weinberg related, Schultz told Hines that he was in desperate need of funds to fight an income tax suit. Weinberg testified that Hines agreed to accept a cut in his $500 a week salary from the New York City policy ring racketeers.

Defense Attorney Stryker's cross-examination had not reached this incident by adjournment. He ripped into Weinberg's testimony and attempted to confuse the witness as to times and places of the alleged payment of underworld cash to Hines.

Gangster Sticks to Story.

Weinberg, who has pleaded guilty and is an important witness for the state, stuck to his story that Hines was the political fixer for the gang. He said Hines obtained court dismissals for policy game workers and brought about the transfer of policemen who molested operations of the racketeers.

Stryker made much of the point that there is no window in the reception room in the offices of Joseph Shalleck, another Hines lawyer.

It was in this room, Weinberg testified, that he paid $3,000 to Hines for the campaign of William C. Dodge, regular Democratic candidate for district attorney. He had declared Dodge was present on the occasion and that he had been introduced to him as "one of Dutch Schultz's boys." In his direct testimony he had described the light streaming in from a window.

Reads Conflicting Testimony.

Stryker also attempted to pin Weinberg down on the time and place of the racket organization meeting allegedly attended by Hines. This was the occasion on which Hines reputedly took a down payment of $1,000.

Reading from the grand jury minutes, Stryker brought out that Weinberg had said he met Hines, Schultz, and other members of the gang in March, 1932, in an apartment at 19 East 98th street. In his direct testimony last Tuesday Weinberg said the meeting took place late in March or early in April of 1932 at 16 East 98th street.

Confronted with this discrepancy, Weinberg admitted that his grand jury testimony on the point was in error. He said he had realized his mistake subsequently and gave the correct address and time to Dewey's office. Weinberg denied that the change in time was given because Dewey's office had found that Hines was vacationing in a Hot Springs hotel for nearly all of March, 1932.

Present at Meeting.

Stryker also brought to light the fact that a fourth person was present at an alleged meeting between Hines and Magistrate Hulon Capshaw. Weinberg testified that the judge agreed to fix a policy game case and quoted him as saying: "I've never failed you yet."

Weinberg said that Moe Weintraub, an attorney for policy game workers, also was present on the steps of the Andrew Keating Democratic club when the conversation took place.

When Stryker said the witness had supressed this on direct examination because Weintraub was the only possible man who might prove his story false, Weinberg replied he had not mentioned his name because Dewey had not asked about it.

Quizzed on $300,000

Before this Stryker spent most of the morning session attempting to convey the idea that Weinberg had stolen approximately $300,000 from the racketeers' safety deposit vault in a bank.

Weinberg had testified that in the spring of 1934 there was a surplus of $200,000 on the books. This surplus existed even though Schultz had been milking the fund at the rate of $5,000 a week and it was costing $1,500 weekly to have the numbers fixed at the race tracks.

"Where's that $300,000?" shouted Stryker.

"Why, I gave some money to Schultz," answered Weinberg.

"You stole it, didn't you, Weinberg?" asked the defense attorney.

"No, I gave it to Schultz."

"You stole it!"

"I didn't."

Weinberg explained that the surplus was on paper only and was not cash in the till. He said Schultz took part of the money from time to time. He said the policy bankers in the syndicate also needed large outlays of money to pay off persons who had picked winning numbers.

WIFE HITS HIM WITH HAMMER, SO HE KILLS HER

Portland, Ore., Aug. 25.—(AP)—M. A. Williams, 54 years old, was held today in the fatal shooting of his wife, who, he told officers, had struck him on the head with a hammer after dragging him from the hourse to repair the family motor car.

Holgar Christoffersen, deputy sheriff, quoted Williams as saying:

"There was a struggle. I don't remember the details. Suddenly I heard a gun pop. I don't know whether I fired the shot or not."

A crudely lettered sign, reading "Death—see inside house," hung on the gate.

A sorrowful dog peered through the gate at officers. Inside the house a terrified Scottie crouched under the kitchen stove.

Williams said two vicious bulls and eight dogs had made his life miserable, leading to repeated quarrels with his wife. She was a kennel operator and cattle breeder.

Burglars heard them approaching and fled empty handed. They had broken in through a window.

Chicago Salesman Robbed of $3,000 Rings in Iowa

Des Moines, Ia., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Albert Joseph, a Chicago jewelry salesman, told police he was robbed of rings worth $3,000 near Waverly, Ia., tonight. Joseph said three men wearing colored glasses, one armed with a gun, forced him to stop as he was driving along a highway. Two of them, he said, entered his car and commanded him to drive down a side road. After taking the rings they got out and ordered him to drive on.

CZECHS PREPARE CONCESSIONS TO PACIFY GERMANS

British Pressure Believed Cause of Change.

BY ALEX SMALL.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Aug. 25.—The Czechoslovakian government will make a determined effort to break the deadlock which has been reached in the negotiations with the Sudeten German [Nazi] party. The effort will be made even at the cost of sacrifices which the Czechoslovaks until now have claimed would imperil the existence of the state.

This decision was reached today at a cabinet meeting which was so vital that President Eduard Benes presided instead of Premier Milan Hodza. The proposals to be offered the followers of Konrad Henlein as well as the other minorities — Hungarian and Polish—will appear only after the cabinet and its committee have done considerable preparatory work.

Word Comes from Runciman.

The decision comes after a period of hesitation in which three parties to the controversy—the government, Henlein's Sudeten party, and Viscount Runciman, the British mediator—had proclaimed themselves at a loss as to the next move. The Sudeten delegation stood pat on its resolutions refusing to consider any surrender. The government unofficially said it meant to continue until it found a solution. The government indicated it expected the solution to come from Runciman, who in turn has been saying nothing—at least for publication.

It is now clear that Runciman has taken the initiative behind the scenes. Evidently he has become convinced the Sudeten party would not yield on its cardinal demands — recognition that Czechoslovakia is a "partnership" state on the model of Switzerland and that the Sudeten Germans must have territorial autonomy in some form.

Reversal of Position Expected.

Semi-official newspapers have been printing hints that the government was near a reversal of position and was preparing to offer an entirely new basis for negotiation. There has been a sudden disappearance of press appeals to hatred of Germany. Instead there have been hints to the Czech people to keep calm in case they should find they were going to live under an entirely different régime.

Premier Hodza has achieved an appearance of solid backing of his policy of conciliation and has imposed silence on the "war party," some of whose leaders work in his cabinet.

The conclusion drawn in Prague is that Hodza—either through Runciman or directly—has received warnings from London. Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain of Great Britain, it is reported, is determined to let Hitler have no pretexts for starting a war over the Sudeten question. Once Germany has no plausible grounds for attack on Czechoslovakia the German expansion toward the near east will be forced to find new tactics and choose some new route—possibly through Poland.

Peace Crusade Threatened.

LONDON, Aug. 25.—(AP)—An apparent deadlock in Czechoslovak-Sudeten German [Nazi] minority negotiations tonight threatened to disrupt the British government's European peace crusade.

Britain was concerned over the inability of the Czechoslovak government and the Nazi minority to agree on methods of settling Sudeten self-government demands through the services offered by the British Runciman mission.

On a hurried trip from Prague, F. A. Ashton-Gwatkin, foreign office economics expert and Viscount Runciman's right-hand man, conferred with Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Halifax.

If the negotiations broke down, it would further impair the prestige of Chamberlain's government and hamper his efforts to bring European peace through appeasement of the dictators.

Observers said three steps were open to the British government to bring pressure on the Sudetens:

1. A threat to withdraw the Runciman mission, arousing Sudeten fears of Czech reprisals. Britain thus might say only that "private efforts" had failed to bring the opposing parties together.

2. Sir John Simon, chancellor of the exchequer, is to speak at Lanark, Scotland, on Saturday, and might repeat that Britain reserves the right to fight beside France if any infringement is made on Czechoslovak independence. Such a statement would be a veiled threat to the German Nazis who support their Sudeten political brothers.

3. France and Britain jointly might make a new direct and firm diplomatic stand in Berlin against German support to Czechoslovakia's troublesome minority.

If a threat to withdraw the Runciman mission proved sufficient, however, a more severe statement would be unnecessary.

THREE PANAY SAILORS ARE AWARDED HIGHEST DECORATIONS OF NAVY

SHANGHAI, Aug. 25. — (AP) — Three United States navy men received today the navy department's highest decorations for heroism during the sinking of the U. S. S. Panay by Japanese aircraft on Dec. 12, 1937.

They received the awards from Col. Charles F. B. Price, commanding the 4th United States marines here. They are Radio Operator, First Class, Charles Adams of Little Rock, Ark.; Radio Operator, Second Class, Reginald Peterson of Berkeley, Cal., and Chief Pharmacist's Mate Thomas A. Coleman of Philadelphia.

Adams and Peterson received the navy cross, the navy's highest peacetime award, for operating the Panay's machine guns against the Japanese attackers until their ammunition was expended. Coleman received the navy's expeditionary medal for caring for dead and wounded ashore.

CATHOLIC BISHOP OUSTED BY NAZIS; REFUSED TO VOTE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 25. — Because he failed to cast his vote in the April 10 plebiscite on the Austro-German union, Bishop Ludwig Sproll of Rottenburg has been ostracized and forbidden to remain in his native state of Württemberg. He is the first Roman Catholic bishop to be made an exile.

Three weeks ago uniformed Storm Troopers burned his house, threw his prayer books out of the window, and threatened to "get him if he didn't get out first." The bishop refused to vacate his bishopric voluntarily. The order for his exile then was published.

The measure was described officially as "being necessary since the bishop was the only citizen of his district who failed to vote. This led to demonstrations of the indignant population against him. Permission to remain in Württemberg was refused in the interests of public peace and also because no bishop who so drastically disregards his duties as a citizen can be tolerated."

from siding absolutely with her only true friends, Germany and Italy."

Keeps His Own Counsel.

Much to the disappointment of his Nazi hosts, Admiral Horthy has kept his own counsel and has switched conversations from political to military matters.

The German-Hungarian economic negotiations are progressing satisfactorily, official German sources said. They expressed confidence that Hungary will join the economic Italo-German alliance and help create a new economic central European association "in which a free and strong Hungary will be an important cornerstone." The purpose of the economic central European alliance is the elimination of the influence of what the Germans call the "liberal western powers."

"Golden Bullets" Cited.

Goering's mouthpiece, the Essener National Zeitung, said: "The western powers have lost the game they played for supremacy in southeastern Europe despite the golden bullets they used."

This was a reference to French and British loans made to Turkey, Rumania, and other southeastern countries.

Horthy has invited Hitler, Goering, and Joachim von Ribbentrop, Nazi foreign minister, to pay a state visit to Hungary. The German chiefs of state said they hoped to go to Budapest next spring.

New regulations enabling the police to take action against foreign residents "who abuse the hospitality granted them" will go into effect Oct. 1. Foreigners residing in Germany for more than three months and aliens who practice certain unspecified professions, regardless of the length of time they are staying in Germany, must obtain a special police permit.

BRITISH BLOW UP HOUSES; SLAY ARAB ASSASSIN

JERUSALEM, Aug. 25.—(AP)—British troops blew up several houses in Jenin tonight in punitive action for the slaying of British Assistant District Commissioner W. S. Moffatt by an Arab gunman. An Arab hunchback, held for the killing, was shot dead in the Jenin military camp when, authorities said, he tried to bolt to freedom.

In dynamiting the Jenin homes, the government declared it was believed "certain inhabitants assisted" the assassin of Moffatt.

The government censor prohibited publication in local newspapers of reports and comments on activities in the current Jewish-Arab disorders, except for official communiques.

DIVERS AND TUG AT WORK TO RAISE CHINESE AIRLINER

Plane Shot Down by Japs Lies in 40 Ft. of Water.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HONGKONG, Aug. 26 [Friday].—Divers and a salvage tug today began efforts to raise the China National Aviation corporation's airliner which was machine gunned and forced down on Wednesday by Japanese pursuit planes. It was believed at least twelve bodies were in the wreckage. Five persons escaped alive.

The British gunboat Cicala located the wreckage yesterday. The plane sank in about 40 feet of water in one of the many channels of the Canton river delta at a point near Wangmoon and about 35 miles north of Macao, the Portuguese colony in South China.

Hugh L. Woods of Winfield, Kas., the pilot and only American aboard the plane, today said he doubted that any of the passengers were injured by the attack in the air. However, when he saw the Douglas land plane down on the water about 50 yards from the shore the Japanese continued their attack.

Heard Bomb Explosions.

Woods said that when swimming ashore to get a boat to take off the passengers and crew, he underestimated the current and was swept down the river. "When I did get to shore I was so exhausted I couldn't move for an hour." He said that while he was lying on the shore, semi-conscious, he heard bomb explosions.

A spokesman for the C. N. A. C. said the plane sank "because it was literally riddled with machine gun bullets." He declared the attack must have been "premeditated and carefully planned. Either the Japanese hoped to kill certain people or were trying to put an end to present commercial air trafic to Chungking [the inland temporary capital of China]. Whether the trafic will be resumed still is undecided."

The C. N. A. C. is owned by the Chinese government and Pan American Airways, the latter owning 45 per cent of the stock.

Warns of Future Danger.

A Japanese naval spokesman in Shanghai served warning that commercial planes flying over the Chinese area which Japan has designated as a war zone are in danger of being shot down. The zone includes the entire commercial area of China.

The spokesman asserted the Chinese-American airliner which was shot down was mistaken for a Chinese bomber when it attempted to elude the Japanese patrol.

The spokesman said the air line had been carrying Chinese army officials and therefore its planes are subject to suspicion.

Rebels Wound Envoy

(Story in adjoining column.)

Rome's ambassador to rebel Spain and his wife were reported wounded when a patrol fired into their automobile in San Sebastian (1) in what was described as an attempt to kill the envoy. In Bilbao (2) fifteen Phalangists were said to have been executed for mutiny. Rebel troops launched a new attack against loyalist lines on the Ebro river front (3).

10,000 JAP TROOPS ADVANCE 10 MILES IN HANKOW DRIVE

SHANGHAI, Aug. 25.—Japanese armies today were slowly jockying for position to strike westward above and below the Yangtze to sever two railways which meet at Hankow, the provisional capital. The railways are the Peking-Hankow on the north and the Canton-Hankow on the south.

In the warfare of regular armies east of Hankow, the Chinese admitted a Japanese column 10,000 strong had advanced ten miles westward in Anhwei province, north of the Yangtze. The column occupied a village twenty-four miles from Liuan, the gateway through the southwestern Anhwei hills. Liuan lies 150 miles east of the Peking-Hankow railway at its nearest point.

On the south bank of the Yangtze, in the Juichang sector, Chinese forces defending Hankow and the Canton-Hankow railway would not concede that Juichang was in Japanese control. Chinese dispatches said severe fighting was under way in the hills north of Juichang. Juichang lies eighty-five miles east southeast of Sienning, the closest point on the Canton-Hankow railway.

ATTEMPT TO KILL ITALIAN ENVOY IN SPAIN REPORTED

Rebel Patrol Fires on Car in San Sebastian.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 25.—Reports of an attempt to murder Count Guido Viola di Campalto, Italian ambassador to the Spanish rebel régime, and of a grave uprising in the interior of rebel Spain reached Paris tonight.

A semi-official version of the shooting said a rebel patrol fired on the ambassador and his wife in the streets of San Sebastian by mistake last night. The couple was returning by automobile from the country, this version said. Bullets shattered the rear window of the car and both the ambassador and his wife were said to have been wounded by flying glass.

[Spanish rebel authorities in Burgos last night denied that the countess was wounded.]

When the count stopped the car and got out to investigate, soldiers fired two more shots without hitting him. The shooting resulted when the ambassador, whose car had diplomatic license plates, failed to hear a police order to halt, it was said.

Called Attempted Assassination.

A different version received in Bayonne described the shooting as a deliberate attempt to assassinate the ambassador.

Foreign diplomats in Saint Jean de Luz, France, have known for two weeks of disturbances in rebel Spain. The frontier was closed, however, and their exact nature was not discovered. One report said the governor of San Sebastian was killed in an uprising.

In addition to the chronic unpopularity of Gen. Francisco Franco's Italian allies, one known cause of dissension on Franco's side is the hatred between the monarchist Catholic element and the powerful Phalangist organization. The Phalangists appeared to be influenced strongly by Naziism. Recently they developed pronounced anti-clerical and even anti-capitalist attitudes.

[The Phalangists are a copy of the Nazi Brown Shirts and the Italian Fascists.]

Reports brought to France this week by reliable foreign observers mentioned the execution recently in Bilbao of fifteen Phalangists for mutiny. Recently Franco arrested two Phalangist members of his grand council on charges that they conspired against him. The Phalangist organization was still so strong, however, that it was able to chase out the Catholic leader, José Maria Gil Robles, after the Franco government authorized his return to Burgos, the rebel capital. Robles is now in Lisbon, Portugal.

The dissensions are considered so important by the loyalists that the military strategy of the Barcelona government is said to be based on the conviction that Franco's régime will fall to pieces within a few months. Competent observers have said the loyalists overestimate the practical importance of the quarrels.

Attack Center of Ebro Line.

HENDAYE, France [At the Spanish Frontier.],—Aug. 25.—(AP)—The Spanish insurgent offensive on the Ebro river was concentrated against the vital center line today, government dispatches said. The rebels renewed their attempt to drive government troops from the river's west bank in that area.

Insurgent attacks on both the north and south ends of the Ebro battle front in eastern Spain have failed to gain much headway. Today's assaults were aimed toward Corbera, on the Gandesa-More de Ebro road, in the heart of the battle zone.

HORSE PLAGUE SPREADS EAST; NEARS EPIDEMIC

Sleeping Sickness in 29 Illinois Counties.

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

The wave of sleeping sickness among horses continues to spread in Illinois and other midwestern and northwestern states. The disease—encephalomyelitis—is prevalent in the northern and central parts of this state. Cases in twenty-eight counties have been reported in the last few weeks to Dr. H. C. Rinehart, state veterinarian, Springfield. A case also was reported unofficially this week in a twenty-ninth county, Kendall.

Prevalence of horse sleeping sickness: In black, 16 counties where plague was first reported; shaded, 13 counties recently added.

Between 500 and 600 horses valued at more than $60,000 have died from the disease in Blue Earth county in southern Minnesota this summer, according to Wayne Dinsmore, secretary of the Horse and Mule Association of America. Just as many died in that county last year.

Dinsmore, who has completed a survey of sleeping sickness in Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Illinois, said it is assuming epidemic proportions in the north central states.

Disease Worst in Wisconsin.

The disease is more prevalent in Wisconsin than in any other state, he said. He found sick horses in every county in Wisconsin. His observations indicate that the trouble is rapidly moving to the south and east, spreading across Illinois into Michigan and Indiana. He predicted that horse and mule owners may expect trouble from the disease in Ohio and Kentucky next summer. The plague is moving across the country at the rate of 300 miles a year, he said.

The disease is carried from horse to horse by mosquitoes or biting flies. Farmers are urged to protect their horses and mules from these insects. Strong winds are aiding in spreading the disease-carrying insects into new territory.

The shipment of diseased horses also is spreading the disease. In California veterinary officials require that a horse infected with sleeping sickness be immediately placed in a screened enclosure or in a mosquito netting tent.

Warns Against Shipping.

Dinsmore warned against shipping horses and mules from areas where sleeping sickness is prevalent.

Veterinarians in most of the counties of Wisconsin and in the northern half of Illinois recently have been kept busy vaccinating horses as preventive measures and giving farmers the protective suggestions. Even where animals are vaccinated farmers are urged to screen their barns and spray the animals, including horses and mules that run on pasture.

From one to eleven cases of sleeping sickness have been found in each of the twenty-eight counties reporting to Dr. Rinehart. The following twelve counties have reported sleeping sickness cases within the last two weeks: McDonough, Knox, White, Lake, Rock Island, Henderson, Champaign, Mason, Fulton, McHenry, Pike, and Peoria. Up to Aug. 12 sleeping sickness cases had been found in Henry, Hancock, Iroquois, Cook, Christian, Livingston, Kane, Will, Cass, Jo Daviess, Bureau, Scott, Schuyler, Brown, Warren, and Mercer counties.

DICK TRACY—Tire Trouble

FILE OBJECTIONS OF BONDHOLDERS TO CAR PERMIT

Attorneys for bondholders' groups and mortgage trustees of Chicago Surface Lines companies listed their objections yesterday to a short term street railway ordinance passed by the city council July 20. The objections were filed in federal court in compliance with an order of Judge James H. Wilkerson.

The attorneys held the ordinance was unreasonable because it imposed "new and substantial financial burdens" on the car lines. They declared that it was confiscatory because it sought to make the companies pay 3 per cent of their fare collections as city compensation and at the same time bind receivers of the car lines to the existing rate of fare.

Judge Wilkerson on July 25 upheld the receivers' objections to the ordinance but ordered them to set aside 3 per cent of the revenues in case he later rules that the companies must pay the compensation. Hearing on the attorneys' objections is set for Sept. 26.

SCIENTIST FINDS NEW LINK BETWEEN PLANTS AND SUPPLY OF OIL

Cambridge, Mass., Aug. 25.—(AP)—A Harvard university scientist today disclosed that he had found a new clew to a long standing hypothesis that the world's underground stores of petroleum derive from plant life.

It began when William C. Darrah, a biology instructor, found a fossilized first cousin of the present day common ground pine of New England while collecting biological specimens near Mazon creek in Grundy county, Illinois.

There, inclosed in carboniferous rock, he said, he discovered "the most perfect plant fossil ever found"—a cone over 200,000,000 years old.

Original oils of the plant, Darrah explained, were preserved in a hardened state through hydrogenation, a process by which oxygen and water are lost and hydrogen is acquired.

CAPT. TOBIN, 63, RETIRES SUNDAY 'AFTER 35 YEARS

Capt. Michael Tobin will report for duty Sunday, his 63d birthday, for the last time in his 35 years of service. Commissioner Allman announced yesterday that Capt. Tobin, reaching the compulsory retirement age, will be retired.

Capt. Tobin joined the force in 1903. He was made a sergeant in 1913 and a lieutenant in 1922. In 1926 he was promoted to a captaincy and served at Hyde Park, Racine avenue, and Englewood stations. Two years ago, through an error in the civil service records, he was placed on the retired list. He obtained a birth certificate from Ireland showing he was 61 years old and was put back on the force and placed in charge of the South Chicago station.

Capt. Tobin lives at 8420 Ingleside avenue with his wife, Margaret, and their daughter, Mary Elizabeth, 9 years old.

SENATE ELECTION GROUP TO STUDY CALIFORNIA DATA

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Chairman Morris Sheppard [D., Tex.] announced today that the senate campaign expenditures committee would consider, at a meeting either tomorrow or Saturday, a report of its investigators on the California senatorial campaign.

Sheppard said he was attempting to arrange a meeting here, but was prepared to go to New England for a session with Senators David I. Walsh [D., Mass.] and Wallace H. White [R., Me.] if they were unable to come here.

Charges investigated in California include those forwarded to the committee by James W. Mellen, Los Angeles, that federal jobholders were being shaken down for 5 per cent of their salaries to aid in financing the campaign of Senator William G. McAdoo [D., Cal.], seeking reëlection. Mellen, opposing McAdoo for the nomination, said other candidates in the race had made the charges.

Sheppard said the committee hoped to make public a report of its findings before the California primary next Tuesday.

SIREN AT PUMP PUTS VISITOR ON THE SPOT

Bernard Drew got mighty exasperated when he arrived at his filling station at 1324 Washington street, Waukegan, every morning. The window was always broken. The thief did not take any money. He only turned on the electric pump to fill his automobile with gas.

Drew, who is 20 years old, rigged up a burglar alarm last Tuesday. He connected the electric pumper to a siren, then waited next door. Nothing happened.

Drew took up his vigil early yesterday. This time he was rewarded with the siren's wail. Seizing a shotgun he rushed to the station and found Edward Oaks standing bewildered beside the pump. Oaks, who lives at 15 North Butrick street, Waukegan, admitted his guilt.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Bob Becker

A Rainy Day.

August 25, 1938.

A RAINY day on the farm . . . men repairing machinery in the barns . . . housewives making pies and canning vegetables in the big farm kitchens . . . barnyard ducks having a good time in the pools of water created by the downpour . . . ducklings grubbing in the grass for angleworms which have come to the surface . . . slow moving steers grazing in a field as though they didn't even know it was raining . . . farm children watching the work in the barns because they can't play in the yards.

A rainy summer day makes numerous changes necessary in the daily farm schedule. When we visited the Du Page county farm the other day the men were working in the big barn near the home of the farm manager. Their rainy day job was that of repairing a tractor. One man was handling a blow torch, another was using a blacksmith's anvil and a heavy hammer in straightening a piece of iron; others were placing the new parts on the damaged tractor.

Carpenters, Too.

Later in the day, after the tractor job had been completed, the farm workers put down their machinists' tools and became carpenters long enough to make new teed bunks for the Hereford steers which are being fattened on the farm.

In one of the kitchens, we visited with farm women who were using the rainy day for making old fashioned vinegar catsup. Fresh tomatoes were strained through a colander, then, vinegar, salt, and other spices were added to make a red catsup which smelled like it would add a distinctive touch to many winter meals.

After waiting three weeks for wild black currants to ripen on the vine, we finally decided that if we were going to get enough of this wild fruit for a few jars of jelly we would have to gather the berries before the birds stole all the fruit. We know of only one wild currant vine on the farm, but it is well loaded with fruit. One of the farm women promised to make us a sample jar of jelly it we would bring in the currants. We checked the vine each of the last few weeks, but the currants didn't seem to get any riper. Finally we decided that the birds were eating the currants as they ripened, leaving us empty handed. We picked about halt a pint of the ripest berries left on the vine and before long will get a chance to sample the currant jelly.

A Case of Jealousy.

A case of professional jealousy is providing a puzzle for some of the quail chicks which are being raised in the game bird colony at the Tribune farm. Two bantam hens are trying to mother these chicks, and the quail don't know which hen is genuine. They were hatched out by a black hen, but they follow one of the other bantams just as readily as they do their own mother. The second hen hatched out a family of Chukar partridges, but her youngsters grew up and left her to go into the woods and take care of themselves, leaving her without a job.

Instead of remaining idle she decided to take over some of the quail chicks hatched by the black hen. Now the two hens both walk around the game bird yard. The gamekeeper reports that the chicks follow both hens most of the time, but that occasionally they leave one bantam and let the other act as "chief mother."

ARE YOU PAYING THE PENALTY FOR USING CHEAP SOAP CHIPS

Instead of AMERICAN FAMILY FLAKES

American Family Flakes wash clothes safely. Contain no harmful alkali or harsh chemicals that can gradually take much of the life and color out of fabrics. American Family Flakes give you rich, thick suds—banish the need of back-breaking rubbing to remove dirt. Remember, American Family Flakes require no boiling, or hard rubbing which may wear out your clothes long before their time.

Women amazed at way American Family Flakes safely get clothes sparkling white

ARE you being "penny-wise" and "pound-foolish" about the soap you use? Are you entrusting your wash to cheap soap chips that require boiling, back-breaking rubbing and scrubbing—in order to save a few pennies? Then read the next statement carefully: It is such boiling, scrubbing and rubbing that all too often cause clothes to wear out long before their time. Actually rob you of the long period of service you rightfully deserve.

American Family Flakes work on an altogether different, safe principle. First; these famous flakes are guaranteed not to contain harmful alkali or harsh chemicals. Second; they are especially made for the hard water of this region. Third; laboratory tests have proved that American Family Flakes contain more suds-making material than other package soaps tested.

American Family Flakes dissolve amazingly quick—burst into rich, active suds. Even grimiest spots come out without back-breaking rubbing and the rest of the dirt soaks loose almost like magic. That is why the wash comes out sparkling white and sweet-smelling; why colored fabrics are gay and brilliant, even after many washings; why even daintiest washable fabrics are really safe in the rich, gentle suds of American Family Flakes.

Get a box of American Family Flakes from your dealer. Your very first wash will prove a revelation as you see your clothes come out gloriously clean with so little work on your part. Then and there you will prove that you will never want to use cheap soap chips again. And before long, you will know why American Family is the largest-selling brand of soap in this territory—why "It is cheaper to buy good soap than new clothes." Made by Procter & Gamble.

GREEN PROTESTS KEEPING SMITH ON LABOR BOARD

Tells Roosevelt A. F. of L. Opposes Reappointment.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 25.—(AP)—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor sent a protest to President Roosevelt today against reappointment of Donald Wakefield Smith of the National Labor Relations board.

D. W. Smith.

Acting at the direction of the federation's executive council, Green telegraphed the President at the summer White House in Hyde Park, N. Y., that Smith had shown "bias" in his decisions and had "lost the confidence of working men and women represented by the American Federation of Labor."

Smith's term on the labor board expires Saturday. A former Pennsylvania lawyer, he was appointed to the $10,000 a year post two years ago to fill out the unexpired term of John Carmody, who quit to become federal administrator of rural electrification.

Green said the A. F. of L. had no candidate to offer for Smith's place. "We understand," he told reporters, "that Smith is a protégé of Senator Joseph F. Guffey" [D., Pa.].

Guffey, one of the New Deal political powers in Pennsylvania teamed up with C. I. O. Chief John L. Lewis a few months ago in an unsuccessful effort to nominate a C. I. O. sponsored slate of candidates for governor and senator in the Pennsylvania Democratic primary.

Insist He's Not Qualified.

In his telegram to Roosevelt, Green said it was the opinion of the A. F. of L. executive council that Smith "lacks the necessary qualifications to continue to serve as a member of the National Labor Relations Board."

"We, therefore, express our opposition to his reappointment," he added, "and we respectfully call upon you, Mr. Roosevelt, to select some capable, qualified person in whom the millions of workers represented by the American Federation of Labor have confidence as a fair and judicial minded administrator of the labor relations act."

Protesting Smith's reappointment is the A. F. of L.'s first move to amend and change the administration of the Wagner act.

BEG YOUR PARDON

Dr. Alfred F. Jacobson was not suspended from his duties as physician with the board of health on Aug. 17, as was stated in a recent item. He resigned his post pending the outcome of his trial on a charge of murder by abortion. The charge was dismissed yesterday by Judge Michael Kasper in the Felony court.

PUSH 2 PLANS TO END NORTH SHORE STRIKE

Conciliators, Bondholders Press Proposals.

Two major developments stood out last evening in a mass of schemes and proposals to settle the strike on the North Shore electric line.

Federal conciliators and Martin Durkin, state labor director, met for several hours with Col. A. A. Sprague, the receiver, and Bernard J. Fallon, executive officer of the railroad. The conciliators are John A. Moffit and Harry E. Scheck.

At the same time counsel for the bondholders served notice on Sprague that they will appear this morning before Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan and ask to be made parties to the receivership. This action is considered the forerunner to efforts to force resumption of service by order of the Illinois commerce commission.

Meeting with the conciliators and the railroad heads in Col. Sprague's office were C. A. Spiess and Louis Hardin, attorneys from firms that represent two different bodies of trustees. The conciliators hoped that the trustees would agree to extend a proposed ninety day truce, by which all salaries over 85 per cent of the present scale would be paid in receivers' certificates.

The proposed truce provides, however, that if the company can pay more than 85 per cent of the salaries, it shall do so, with a reduction in the amount of receivers' certificates the employés accept.

The truce was acceptable to the two railroad brotherhoods involved in the dispute over bargaining representations. The A. F. of L. union, division 900, Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employés, opposed the ninety day truce unless the company signed a wage contract with their union expiring May 31, 1939.

The conciliators hoped that an extension of the truce beyond the ninety day period would satisfy all unions involved.

Attorneys H. William Ihrig of Milwaukee and Robert Carney of Chicago are the bondholders' representatives who will seek today to be made parties to the proceedings. If they are successful, it has been previously indicated that they will seek to have the commerce commission of Illinois and the public service board of Wisconsin order the resumption of service.

They have previously charged that Col. Sprague exceeded his authority in standing fast on the 15 per cent wage cut to the point where the road ceased operating.

C.I.O. RALLY ENDS IN FREE-FOR-ALL FIGHT AT FLINT

were waved aloft by husky belligerents. Fists flew on every side.

Then the police swarmed in and stopped the battle. Martin went on talking as the audience remained stilled under police supervision. Once more a brick or a milk bottle smashed a window, but the speech went on. When he had finished Martin hurried away by a rear door to Bishop airport to board a train for Detroit.

Ever since the big automobile strikes of 1937 Martin has been fighting with his own union men, who have sought to oust him. Each side has described the other as having communistic leanings.

Ed Hall, one of four U. A. W. vice presidents Martin suspended, said that 80 per cent of the rank and file of the union is against the president and his high handed tactics.

Arbitrate Auto Union Row.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—(AP)—John L. Lewis announced today that Homer Martin, United Auto Workers president, had agreed to submit to the union's executive board Lewis' proposals for settling the U. A. W.'s internal strife.

Lewis, C. I. O. chairman, who personally has tried to compose factional differences within the union, announced his proposals had been accepted by the group opposing Martin, headed by three expelled vice presidents—Richard T. Frankensteen, Ed Hall, and Wyndham Mortimer.

Lewis said Martin told him he and his aids had had his peace proposals under consideration, but had not accepted them.

The proposals would provide for reinstatement not only of the three vice presidents, but also George Addes, secretary treasurer, and Walter Wells, suspended vice president.

Here's 4 Point Program.

The four point program follows:

1. That the status quo after adjournment of the last U. A. W. convention affecting officers, policies, and the like be restored and maintained.
2. That the agreement hold until the next convention of the union next August.
3. That the union officers reaffirm their desire to adhere to a 20-point treaty of harmony approved last May.
4. That until the next convention no officers or representatives shall discuss in local unions or mass meetings any matters involving questions which the next convention might decide.

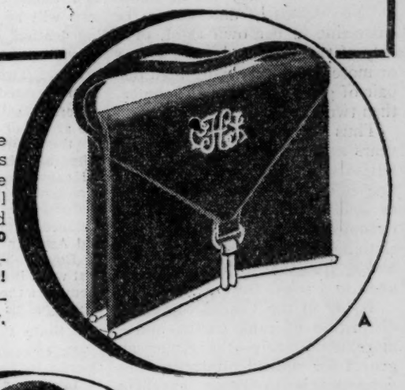

The proposed agreement, which Lewis gave newspaper men, said further that any dispute which might arise from the agreement should be referred to executive officers of the C. I. O. if it could not be mutally settled.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

AFTER A FASHION NO. 3

By CALEB

"NO BOURGEOISE may wear grey fur or ermine, and all such persons must rid themselves of those furs in their possession within a year from next Easter. They may not wear gold, jewels, nor belts nor pearls. Dukes, counts and barons, with six thousand livres a year or more, may have four pairs of gowns a year and their wives as many but no more.

"No damosel, unless she be chatelaine in her own right, or a lady of two thousand livres a year or more, shall have more than one pair of gowns a year, or if she be, then two pairs only and no more."

Thus some seven hundred years ago, a French king and his advisors limited the wearing of fine clothes in his domain. Rank as well as means and income determined the wardrobe. All fine clothing was immensely expensive and by practice its use was confined to a select few.

Today in the United States no distinction of rank exists, and—more importantly—the American genius for skillful production has done much to bring excellent clothing within the means of more and more women.

In France, today as always, women's clothing is designed for a particular individual, or a small group of them. The creator gives imagination a free reign, and the result is both costly and highly specialized—quite limited in its scope of utility even where price is no object.

The American designer, usually catching his motif from the Parisian creations, adapts them skillfully to the American scene—to the needs of American women. Production skill and experience join to make possible the introduction of an American adaptation of the Paris mode—appropriate, authentic, and admirably executed.

And so, happily, American women fall heir to the centuries of skill and creative effort exemplified in the creations of Paris couturiers, adapted and developed to their needs with foresight and integrity. Through interpretation and adaptation of Paris modes, apparel is fitted not alone to her figure and the needs of her social or business orbit, but is brought within the means of her purse and budget.

From the central or "master" theme of a Paris season, countless variants may be developed. From among them the modern store chooses the numbers and types suited to its customers—a process that calls another special set of skills and experience into play.

8 FACE ARREST IN 4 CONVICTS' STEAM DEATHS

Prison Guard Tells Story to Coroner, Prosecutor.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Coroner Charles A. Hersch said today that at least eight persons will be arrested in the "roasting deaths" of four hunger striking convicts at the Philadelphia county prison. Two guards already have been arrested as material witnesses.

Hersch said he has warants for the arrest of four other persons, two of them prison officials, and that other arrests will follow.

Meanwhile a prison guard who promised to tell the entire story of the prisoners' deaths was questioned for several hours by Coroner Hersch and Assistant District Attorney John A. Boyle. The officials did not reveal what information the guard gave them, but they prepared to talk with other guards and possibly prisoners.

State Police to Be Asked.

The coroner said he will ask Gov. George H. Earle for state policemen to take over the prison during his investigation. He explained that additional arrests might result in a breakdown of the prison administration unless the staf is replaced.

Hersch announced he would ask that every member of the prison staf be supplanted until his investigation is completed. His request for state police will be transmitted to the governor as soon as he returns from an airplane vacation to Central America.

A shakeup in the city police homicide squad was started by Mayor S. Davis Wilson as a result of the case. The mayor said first reports of policemen said there was no evidence of violence in the convicts' deaths, but later reports disclosed sufficient evidence to justify arrests. A captain and two members of the homicide squad were transferred to the detective bureau.

Case in Coroner's Hands.

The case has been taken from the police by Common Pleas Judge Gerald F. Flood and placed in the hands of the coroner and the district attorney. This is the first time in twenty years that procedure has been followed.

State investigators prepared to test the conditions under which the four convicts died Sunday night. The coroner said the convicts died in almost airtight cells where they were being disciplined for the hunger strike they led. He said steam radiators were turned on full and "in two days of steaming the men were literally baked to death."

The state investigators said they would enter the punishment cells the victims occupied and turn on the steam heat to determine whether the place was a "deliberately planned roaster."

2 YOUNG WOMEN CONFESS SLAYING ILLINOIS FARMER

Hitch-Hiking Wives Put Blame on Each Other.

Fairfield, Ill., Aug. 26 [Friday].—[Special.]—Two young mountain wives from Tennessee confessed early today the slaying of Felix Shannon, 56 years old, who was found shot to death Monday in the bedroom of his home at Mount Erie.

The women—Mrs. Jean Brooks, 23 years old, of Elizabethton, Tenn., and Mrs. Beulah Honeycutt, 25, of Johnson City, Tenn., blamed each other in the same breath that they confessed.

"Beulah did it, and she made me fire a shot at Shannon," said Mrs. Brooks. "I made sure not to hit him, though."

"Jean shot him," insisted Mrs. Honeycutt.

On Hitch-Hiking Adventure.

Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. Honeycutt were arrested Tuesday at Hopkinsville, Ky., while on their way home. They had left their husbands several weeks ago on a hitch-hiking adventure to the north. On Monday they met Shannon. After his body was discovered, police began a search for them.

Mrs. Honeycutt and Mrs. Brooks were returned here. When questioned by Sherif Ernest Burkett, they not only denied the Shannon murder but also that they had ever been in Illinois. They pleaded not guilty when arraigned in jail last night. Sherif Burkett took Mrs. Brooks and a squad took Mrs. Honeycutt on separate tours of the area to break down their stories. At Roy's tavern, near Albion, Mrs. Brooks met a bartender whom she recognized. He also recognized her.

"I thought you said you had never been in Illinois before," mentioned the sherif. Mrs. Brooks stuttered, then said she'd tell all she knew.

Man Arrested in Indiana.

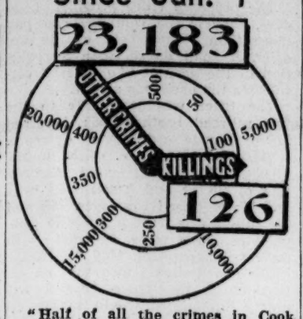

"We were in Shannon's house," said Mrs. Brooks. "Beulah was with him in another room. Suddenly I heard two shots, and got up. Beulah ran to me with a gun. She handed it to me and said, 'You'll have to fire a shot.' I did, but I fired it into Shannon's pillow."

Mrs. Brooks said she didn't know why Mrs. Honeycutt killed Shannon, except that earlier a friend in Oakland City, Ind., had told Mrs. Honeycutt that Shannon had lots of money. He told Mrs. Honeycutt, Mrs. Brooks said, to "pick him." She named the man as James Wallace, said to be an ex-convict. At Sherif Burkett's request, Indiana police arrested Wallace this morning.

Shannon was known to have been carrying at least $100. Only 13 cents was found in his clothes.

FIND TWO SOUGHT IN COLLAPSE OF SECURITIES FIRM

A director of the Fort Dearborn Securities corporation, sought for questioning in the company's collapse, appeared yesterday at the state's attorney's office. He is William L. O'Brien, 6719 Crandon avenue.

He said he had put $6,000 of his money in the concern before its reorganization in 1934, but had had no connection with its affairs since. He was released. Miss Mary Ford, Oshkosh, Wis., another director sought, was located yesterday at her home there, but refused to comment.

A shortage of $30,000 is estimated in the accounts of the company, located at 176 West Adams street. It was raided Tuesday a short time after Leslie B. Krumsick, a vice president, had been found in his automobile, dead of carbon monoxide.

After two days of questioning Floyd Britten, president of the company, and Herman J. Holle, its secretary, were released from custody last night by the state's attorney's office. Britten agreed to ask the federal court today to appoint a receiver.

Woman Taken to Hospital After Taking Sleep Potion

Miss Frances Kane, 35 years old, beauty parlor owner, was found unconscious last night in her room in the Knickerbocker hotel from an overdose of sleeping medicine. Hotel employés found her after being notified by Mrs. H. Ernst, 3140 Sheridan road, an acquaintance. Miss Kane telephoned her saying she had taken the sedative and wanted to say good-by. Miss Kane was taken to the Columbus Memorial hospital.

SHOOTS GAS STATION BANDIT.

A colored robber was shot and captured early yesterday by a watchman after he had held up the attendant in a filling station at 5514 South Park avenue. The robber gave his name as Weston Johnson, 43 years old.

VANDALS SMASH WINDOWS; LABOR TROUBLE BLAMED

The Summerdale police yesterday were searching for vandals who smashed three large windows of the Wholesale Tobacco company's offices at 6009 Broadway. The damage was estimated at $300. Perry Rose, vice president of the company, blamed the attack on the concern's refusal to join a jobbers' association and unionize its employés.

He said that for several months his drivers have been followed, his customers annoyed, and he has been threatened over the telephone. The company has been doing business in Maywood for thirty years, Rose said, but opened a Chicago office because of an ordinance passed by the city council last October requiring retailers to notify the police and health department when tobacco purchases are made from jobbers located out of the city.

Henry Schuchat, an official of the Chicago Tobacco Jobbers' association, said that the association was not interested in having Rose's company as a member.

STATE, DEFENSE REST IN TRIAL OF POLICE SLAYER

Michigan City, Ind., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Both state and defense rested late today in the trial of Orelle Easton, young outlaw, charged with the slaying of State Trooper Ray Dixon near here June 26. Final arguments, however, are not expected to start until late tomorrow or Saturday since testimony is being taken from three doctors appointed by the court to examine the defendant.

Eatston's entire defense is built around a plea of insanity. No denial has been made that he or his brother, Clarence, who was killed in a gun battle with officers, fatally shot Dixon.

Dr. Stephen Donovan, the first of the court commission to testify, expressed the belief the defendant is sane. He declared that insanity is not hereditary and that was his opinion Easton is sane despite the fact his paternal grandmother and paternal great aunt were insane.

13TH CLEVELAND MURDER MYSTERY VICTIM IS FOUND

Cleveland, O., Aug. 25.—(AP)—A summer school student found the beaten body of an unemployed theater usher near the campus of Western Reserve university today. The police homicide squad added the thirteenth slaying to the last unsolved torso murders.

Orlando Schiavoni Jr., 20, the former usher, had not been home since Tuesday night. Detective Sergeant James Hogan said police were working on the theory the youth had been bludgeoned to death by a sex maniac.

DEATH IN LOVERS' LANE WAS JUST GOOD, CLEAN FUN

Just good clean fun. That's the way three young men described their hoax early Wednesday in Pilcher park, Joliet, when they directed spooning couples in fifteen automobiles into a dead end lane.

They accomplished this with the dummy of a woman lying in the road. Warned that the woman had just been murdered, the motorists turned hastily into the dead end lane, while the pranksters watched and chortled from their hidden automobile.

Yesterday Police Chief N. J. Fornango lectured the three, Martin Cron, 21 years old; John Barnes, 16, and Jack Turner, 17. They were traced by the license of their automobile. They said they thought of the hoax while jerking sodas in an ice cream parlor where all work.

ROBBERY LEADS WIFE TO MATE AFTER 19 YEARS

Nineteen years ago Joseph Wronkiewicz left his wife, Mary, in Philadelphia, Pa., took their eldest son, Frank, and went west. Mrs. Wronkiewicz could not find them.

Recently in a Polish newspaper she read that the butcher shop of Joseph Wronkiewicz at 1409 Fullerton avenue had been robbed. She wrote Chicago police asking them to learn if this was her husband.

Yesterday Detective Fred Greenwood of the Hudson avenue station sent her a letter. Her husband is the butcher and their son, now 22 years old, works for him.

WE'RE SORRY FOR TRAFIC TIEUP AT MUSIC FESTIVAL

Here's Why It Happened; Won't Occur Again.

BY HAL FOUST.

This apology for trafic congestion at the Chicagoland Music festival is undeniably belated. Authorities have been busy since last Saturday night trying to understand and explain everything that went wrong with arrangements for handling the crowd.

An analysis completed yesterday indicates that the weather was the main factor in upsetting plans for receiving the 85,000 music patrons at Soldiers' field with convenience and dispatch. Rain, however, was not alone responsible for the jams that blocked pavements between the outer link bridge and the 23d street viaduct for forty minutes after the festival had started. Errors and blunders in the transportation plans and their execution are being studied to guard against a repetition.

Mistakes Won't Recur.

The mistakes of last Saturday night are not to be repeated at the All-Star football game in the stadium next Wednesday night. This reporter hopes to write a story for the sports section of THE SUNDAY TRIBUNE saying that 80,000 fans will have no trouble in going to and from the contest.

The heavy downpour late Saturday afternoon had two detrimental influences on Music Festival transportation. First, it concentrated arrivals shortly before the event was to start. Ticket purchasers waited at home until they were sure the event was not to be postponed. In other years the stadium began to fill two hours before the start. Second, a larger portion of the crowd came by automobile.

Tallies by WPA workers indicate 40 per cent of the 1938 Music Festival crowd arrived by private automobile. In 1937 20 per cent came by motor car. This year 8,535 machines were left in the adjacent free parking lots. Last year the figure was 5,970.

Street cars and motor coaches hauled 47 per cent of last year's load and only 21 per cent of this year's crowd. These mass carriers require only a fraction of the pavement area per passenger than is used by automobile.

Systems Caused Delays.

At the parking lots on Saturday night, entrances were closed that should have been open. The attendants tried to follow a prescribed system that caused delays and reduced the capacity of the lots. Policemen waved motorists past congested or blocked parking lot entrances. Pavements were jammed by cars cruising or creeping in search of a place to park. Storage space was inadequate as well as poorly managed.

At the end of the event, taxicab drivers got out of control and failed to stay in their prescribed double column on the east curb of Columbia drive. Pedestrians swarmed over and under guard ropes onto the pavement. Trafic was stalled.

"We'll do better the next time," Otto K. Jelinek, park district trafic engineer, promised last night.

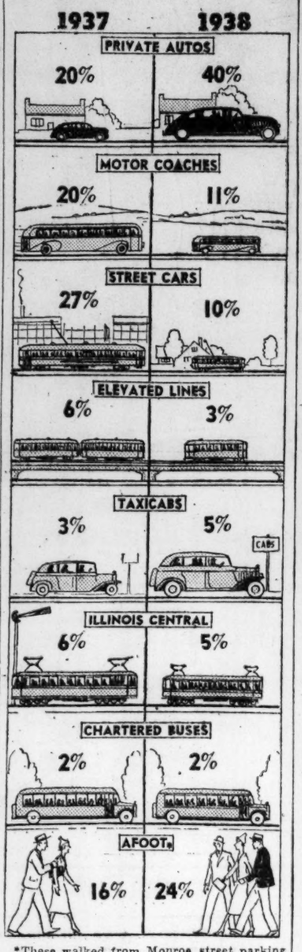

Face Cream Company Gets Order Against Medical Assn.

Judge Philip L. Sullivan in federal court yesterday issued a temporary injunction restraining the American Medical association from publishing any articles on a facial cream manufactured by the Hirestra Laboratories, Inc., of New York. The Hirestra company is seeking damages of $3,000,000 against the association and six individuals for condemning their product. Hearing on the suit was referred to a special master in chancery.

2 Army Planes Collide in Air; Pilots Leap to Safety

Oscoda, Mich., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Two army Seversky pursuit airplanes flying at 10,000 feet in combat formation with four others, collided near Tawas City today, but their pilots, Maj. H. R. Wells, 49 years old, and Lieut. A. P. Clark Jr., 25, leaped to safety with their parachutes. Maj. Wells, commanding headquarters squadron of the first pursuit group at Selfridge field, suffered facial burns as his plane caught fire. The ships were returning to their base from an air corps gunnery range.

U. S. AIRLINER TO VISIT TORONTO AIRPORT OPENING

An American Airlines plane will be flown from Chicago to Toronto, Ont., next Monday to participate in the dedication that day of Malden airport, a new field just completed at the Canadian city. The flight will be a prelude to opening of regular air line service that will link Chicago with the Canadian terminals of the trans-Atlantic air routes.

The big American plane will be the first transport ship to land at Toronto.

American Airlines and Trans-Canadian Airways are planning a joint service to place Chicago and the middle west on a direct route to Toronto, Montreal, and Botwood, the trans-Atlantic base.

The Canadian company demands the right to fly its ships to connect with American Airlines planes at Detroit and at Buffalo, N. Y. This point is not yet settled and observers indicate that President C. R. Smith and Vice President Ralph Damon of American Airlines, who will be aboard the flagship, may conduct some negotiations in connection with this matter. The Americans are anxious to fly their planes to Canadian bases if possible.

Representatives of the city governments of Chicago, Detroit, and Buffalo and newspaper men will also be aboard the American plane.

PLANS TO DROP 6 MILES BEFORE OPENING CHUTE

Willie "Suicide" Jones, colored professional parachute jumper, will try to set a new world's record for delayed drops next Sunday afternoon. Over Markham airport, 167th street and Western avenue, he proposes to step out of a plane at 32,000 feet and fall to 1,000 feet before opening his chute. The jump will climax an air show.

If Jones is successful he will bring back to the United States the record now held by a Russian airman. The Russian jumper leaped from an airplane at 26,500 feet and fell to 650 feet before opening his canopy.

The ascent to 32,000 feet will be made Sunday in a Cessna aerial photographic ship with a Wright J-5 220 horse power motor. It will be equipped with oxygen and sealed measuring instruments to record the height at which the jumper steps out. The plane will be flown by Maj. Charles H. Wassel of East St. Louis.

Jones will carry a quart bottle of oxygen to breath during the two and a half minutes of his fall, a sensitive altimeter and a bag of flour to mark his trail in the air.

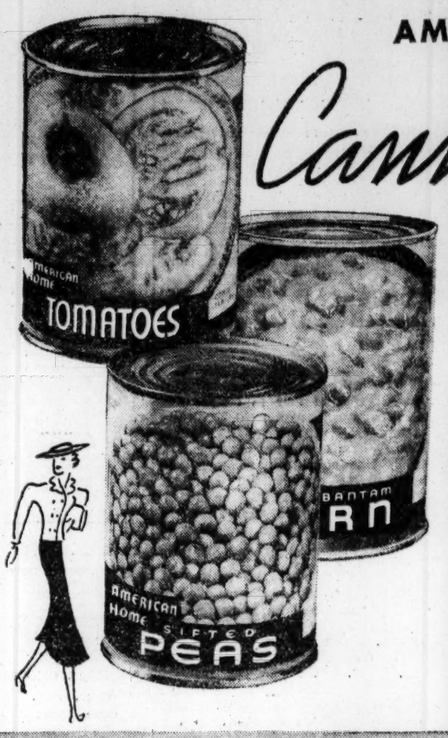

BAD WEATHER DELAYS FRENCH PLANE.

HORTA, The Azores, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Adverse weather today delayed the departure of the French flying boat Lieutenant de Vaisseau Paris for New York on the third leg of a trans-Atlantic experimental flight.

THE PURGE AND THE PURSE.

Dr. H. C. Byrd, president of the University of Maryland, invited Mr. Roosevelt to enter the state with his purge against Senator Tydings, independent Democrat, and in person expound his "philosophy of government." Dr. Byrd has just been given a public works grant of $1,024,650 for his university by Mr. Ickes and seeks additional funds. He knows Mr. Roosevelt's philosophy of elections as well as of government. He has it in his pocket. The purse is public. The purge is private.

The purse and purge go together, winning friends and influencing people. They bring together what might be known as mixed company. In New York, which is so predominantly foreign in population and ideals, Mr. Roosevelt by using the purse and Mayor La Guardia, by name Republican [let us have no political immorality], may be able to purge out Congressman John J. O'Connor, independent Democrat. The mixed company against Mr. O'Connor in his district will include the half communistic Labor Nonpartisan league, the 90 per cent communist Workers' Alliance, and the wholly communistic Earl Browder party.

In the south, against Senator George of Georgia and Senator Smith of South Carolina, the Roosevelt-C. I. O.-communistic purge may not work so well even with the purse which is being shaken for its last dollar as well as the dollars picked out of the pockets of the WPA workers. Voters down there remember the purge which began reconstruction when their congressmen were not allowed to take their seats.

With money and dummies which both talk Mr. Roosevelt is telling the Democratic voters that they must eliminate all men of independent ideas. He says their ideas are illiberal. They in turn can see nothing liberal in an autocratic personal government, nothing democratic and nothing free in it. Mr. Roosevelt says that he cannot carry out his promises, along with his party program, if he has men who think differently from his thoughts.

Any opponent might inquire what promises Mr. Roosevelt has made that he has carried out or when he promised, in addressing the voters, that he would propose such things as the overthrow of the Supreme court.

Certainly there has been no greater contradiction in American politics than that revealed in what the candidate said and what the executive did. Men cannot be accused of betrayal of a party program or an administrator's promises when nothing promised has been undertaken and nothing undertaken has been promised.

RECESSION IN GERMANY.

Prices on the German stock exchanges have been falling rather steadily since April.

The Nazis in Germany, like the bolsheviks in Russia, have made much of the alleged fact that their kind of government protects their citizens against depressions. No matter what may happen in the rest of the world, so they say, the domestic economy is protected.

It may be only a coincidence that the collapse of prices in Germany has come at about the same time that stock exchanges in other countries have suffered sinking spells. In any event, the world now has proof, if proof were needed, that even if a totalitarian economic system is protected against outside disturbances, it is not protected against disturbances of domestic origin and they can be just as violent and just as destructive. If the movement of security prices can be regarded as an indicator there is reason to believe that economic instability in Germany today is more severe than in countries which have a far freer economy.

JUSTICE FOR THE REGULARS.

Spokesmen for the men who have been disabled while serving in the regular armed forces of the United States—the Army, the Navy, the Marine corps, and the Coast Guard—call attention to an apparent discrimination from which these men suffer. The essence of the complaint is summarized in the following paragraph from a letter recently received:

"Regulars who are disabled in line of duty receive a pension for such disability that is but approximately one-third the average pension paid to war veterans for like disabilities. A sailor on the U. S. S. Panay, who lost a leg when the ship was bombed and sunk recently while on duty protecting American lives in the Chinese war zone, receives but $37 a month. The war veteran of 1918 who lost a leg in a training camp, thousands of miles from the enemy, receives from $90 to $105. If totally disabled, the war veteran receives $100, the regular only $45. The mother of a deceased war veteran receives $45 a month and the mother of a lad killed on the Panay but $15."

There can be no justification for the discriminations here described. The disabled members of the regular forces are entitled to equal treatment with the men disabled in the world war. In each case the victim was crippled while serving his country and the nation's gratitude should be extended to them in equal measure.

It is unfair and it is also unwise to discriminate against the regulars. As the mechanization of the army proceeds, the need for superior men in the ranks becomes greater. To attract men of the caliber required, the government must offer them reasonable security against the hazards of a dangerous profession. It is said, and it may well be true, that the risk of serious injury in the regular army today is actually greater than was the average risk in the army of 1918 because then only a very small proportion of the total strength was under fire at any time while today a large proportion of the peacetime army is constantly working with more or less dangerous mechanisms which in 1918 were unknown or little used. If we are to have a defense force composed of the right kind of men we must assure them of adequate compensation if they accept this risk for the rest of us.

As matters stand, the government all but confesses that it will deal justly only with those veterans who have a powerful lobby on their side. The relatively small number of regulars who have no lobby to fight for them have been left out in the cold.

GANG MURDER RESUMED.

On Wednesday night the ninth gangster murder in ten weeks took place in Chicago. None of the killers has been arrested. Neither the city's nor the state's attorney's detectives have made any progress toward the solution of any of the crimes.

Mayor Kelly and State's Attorney Courtney have been credited by the people of Chicago and of the nation with an extraordinary achievement in crime suppression. Racketeer murders, which had been a common occurrence, became extremely rare. For a number of years so few of them were recorded that it was supposed that hoodlums no longer found it profitable to conduct their private wars in Chicago. The risk of capture and conviction was too great.

Nine gangster murders in ten weeks have gone a long way toward destroying the reputation which the mayor and the state's attorney had won for themselves. The hoodlums once more are killing each other. As their wars are generally fought for control of the profits of racketeering, it may be assumed that racketeering is once more beginning to flourish in this community. It could do so only with the connivance of some or all of the law enforcing officials.

The police are not doing their duty. Neither is the state's attorney. The smashing of gambling halls makes headlines, but that cannot obscure the fact that the primary duty of a state's attorney, as of the police, is to prevent major crimes by catching the criminals and prosecuting them successfully. Even those who regard gambling as an evil so serious that it must be suppressed by any means, however violent and extra-legal, will concede that murder and racketeering are far more menacing to the community.

The mayor and the state's attorney have enjoyed the credit for having suppressed racketeering for a number of years. They cannot now avoid a loss of prestige if the gang wars are resumed.

A LOCOED GOOD NEIGHBOR.

Mexico has a moving picture industry which is about to flee the country. The C. T. M., the Confederation of Workers of Mexico, top hand in Mexican politics, has presented the picture producers with a contract which requires, among other things, the making of pictures, free of charge, to promote socialism and the paying of traveling expenses for the workers to tour the United States and Europe to study the movie industry. Hollywood, here they come.

This good neighbor is fixing itself not to eat very hearty or very often. The workers have taken over the stolen oil properties. They can't work the industry or sell the oil. They have lost their wages and the government has lost its revenue. The railroad workers have taken over the national railways and raised the freight rates. They'll soon be using the equipment for family picnics. The peasants are not producing on the confiscated farm lands. The government has started printing press money.

The Mexicans are trying to take in each other's wash but there isn't any wash. They are getting to a social security oasis of two parades every day and not a pot for a chicken. The Mexican epic is an experiment in living on loco weed.

THE XIT REUNION.

[New York Herald-Tribune.]

The boys whooped it up last week at Dalhart, Tex., at the XIT ranch reunion. At least four southwestern governors were there. They had an old-fashioned square dance, a pageant, a rodeo, boxing bouts. And what, the modern generation may reasonably ask, was so important about the XIT? Well, it was the largest cattle ranch that ever existed in the United States. It consisted of 3,000,000 acres granted by the state of Texas to a syndicate [controled by the Farwell family of Chicago] in exchange for the enormous granite capitol building at Austin. It extended from the Panhandle southward along the New Mexico line. Once regarded as worthless, it turned out to be excellent cattle country. The Farwells sold it off to settlers colonists who have had their good years and their bad—for part of this country lies in the dust bowl. But for a long time, when the cattle industry was booming back in the last century, this ranch was the real thing. Now those acres are dotted with little towns, and the farmers and small ranchers have had enough rain this year to make them feel relatively prosperous.

It is a bit surprising to learn that Ab Blocker, the celebrated trail driver who pointed the first herd of cattle toward the ranch when the syndicate took charge more than fifty years ago, is still alive, a spry enough gaffer of 81. He, with a few other old-timers, was at the reunion. He is the man who invented the XIT brand, famous in the heraldry of the range country, a brand difficult to disguise. The men who ran the XIT have many accomplishments to their credit; they brought law and order to an area that had been the refuge of cattle rustlers and other miscreants. Beginning with low grade herds, mostly longhorns, they built up, in a surprisingly few years, an outfit consisting of high grade beef—mostly Herefords and Aberdeen Angus. They proved that sensible business methods could be applied to the cattle country.

They employed an army of cowpunchers, who sometimes sang at their work, who were fearless men and good riders, and who had the hard bitten appearance, the jerky walk of the cowhands of fiction. But none of them once the ranch got going, was a fugitive from justice. Liquor was not allowed on the ranch, and, wonders of wonders, they met every Sunday morning under a clump of scraggly trees and held religious services. Tie that, pardner!

CAN'T FORGET.

The guide had taken him to the top of the mountain, and he gazed long at the scenery. Then he took out a note book and commenced to write.

"Pardon, m'sieu," asked the guide, "but what are ze notes you make?"

"Oh," said the tourist, "I'm just jotting down the things that have left an indelible impression on my mind so that I shan't forget them."—Montreal Star.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

How to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

MR. PEPYS, YOU HAD A BUSY DAY.

25th—To the office to put Ye Col. to bed in the print shop, and to study the reports of all my secret agents in various parts of the city, of whose whimsies there is no end, and to wonder what to indite in my diary, and to hear much talk among the clarks about jitterbugs, a strange new plague which has stricken the people.

Then to dinner en garçon with ye ancient barrister and solicitor, Murry Nelson, and to share a cool bottle of Bordeaux blanc with him as he wanted to know what has become of certain fair young mummers we used to admire, and where were the snows of yesteryear. Now this is a man most learned in the law, and when he told me that the Constitution of this land stated that the chief justice should preside at impeachments of the President, but did not say which chief justice, whether of the Supreme court or the Court of Claims or various other judicial bodies, Lord, but I was surprised.

We agreed, however, that this was nothing to worry about, because impeachments of Presidents happen only once a century or so; and then we thought of all of the chief justices, big and little, standing around saying: "It's nice work if we can get it."

To the office again to ready affairs against the morrow, when there is always a reckoning to face with Master Stonesifer, disciple of Gutenberg and Caxton, who often remarks that he has no rubber type, although I notice he can stretch a Col. a line or two by some process of magic when put to it. And to chat briefly with Master Burns, the baseball author, who cheerily said the Cubs will play better now that they are out of the running for the flag. And so to bed.

WHEN AUGUST GOES.

September soon will walk this road with golden sandals on his feet,
Striding forward, eager, strong,
and wiser than the gay and fleet.

Young August now half down the hill and almost at the turning post,
I do not weep to see him go,
but I do drink a farewell toast:

Much laughter and too many tears
you brought me to remember.
Begone, young August, I would learn gold wisdom from September!

Thoughts at Swingfest.

More About Dirndls.

Your account of the word "dirndl" prompts me to call your attention to another shade of meaning of that word.

In the part of Austria where those peasant frocks are worn the term "dirndl" in that dialect still means a girl or young lady, with no hint of hussy about her. In the dialect it is still used in the old sense of meaning a girl, and has no more touch of vulgarity than we apply to the term "girl." The Austrian poet Peter Rosegger asks in his first popular poem, written in dialect, "Darf ich's Dirndl lieben?" and had a very nice sort of girl in mind when he wrote it.

The term "dirndl," when read in this country, calls up an air of springtime, a page-boy bob, and a background of smooth boulevards with flashing lights. The word "dirndl," when recalling Austrian memories, means zither music and a wholesome girl with a coronet of braids around her head, against a background of green mountains and greener lakes. D. S. True to thee."

Elevator Stories.

As a girl entered the elevator she announced: "Eleven." The car shot past the eleventh floor without even hesitating. She exclaimed: "I said eleven." "O!" replied the operator, "were you calling a floor? I thought you were telling me how old you are."

* * *

The new elevator operator was making his first solo run. A man and a woman entered at the first floor. "Twelve," said the woman, and the man followed with "Five." The car went at full speed past the fifth floor, and the man protested. "I called 'five.'" "Yes, sir," said the operator, "but she called her floor first." Carolus.

Movie Sharpshooter.

"Alexander's Ragtime Band" covers the period in which ragtime was being transmuted into swing. This process involved no less than 25 years, yet Tyrone Power and Alice Faye are just as young when swingtime finally catches up with them as they were in the ragtime era. P. L. W.

POISONING FROM CONTAMINATED FOOD.

INSTANCES of food poisoning, due to the presence of the staphylococcus, appear to be on the increase. This is the same organism which is found commonly on the skin and which is a frequent cause of boils. There are many edibles which constitute ideal culture beds for this microbe, and custard filled pastry seems to be a favorite mode of spread. Cake filling manufactured from eggs, water or milk, flour, sugar, and some flavoring offers to these germs a cordial invitation, to enter to make themselves at home and to rear numerous progeny.

How are pastries contaminated? Largely at the time of preparation, probably from the hands of those working in the kitchen or bakeshop. A rule that must be observed by every one who comes into contact with food is that the hands and finger nails must be scrupulously clean before touching any of the ingredients. All dishes and utensils must be sterilized. Furthermore, if any member of the force has a cold, great care must be exercised so that no particle of nasal discharge can find its way into the mixture.

Two or three typical examples may serve to illustrate this menace. At 5:30 p. m. a family of four [a mother and three sons] consumed a meal consisting of beefsteak, potatoes, and chocolate éclairs. Within 45 minutes the youngest, aged 7, was nauseated, vomited, and complained of cramps and diarrhea. Thirty minutes later the 12 year old developed like symptoms and, after the lapse of an additional hour, the lad of 16 became ill. It was nearly 10 o'clock before the mother was affected.

Fortunately some of the pastry remained and examination showed the filling to be generously impregnated with staphylococci. The source was traced to a bakery, where the custard was prepared by boiling milk and adding cornstarch, sugar, and eggs. The transfer to the shells was made by squeezing the contents by hand from a muslin bag. A careful inspection of the shop disclosed it to be in excellent sanitary condition. Every dish was scalded before using and there was an adequate supply of soap and hot water. But one of the soiled cotton bags remained on the table and from it there were recovered a profusion of staphylococci. Apparently the one who made the confections had failed to wash his hands thoroughly before starting his task.

A recent outbreak is reported from Hamilton, Ont., wherein a number of persons were stricken after the consumption of vanilla cream layer cake. The delicacy was bought at a store where staphylococci were found in great numbers not only in the nasal passages of several employés but on dirty kitchenware as well. Bacteria from nasal secretions found their way into the batch of cake filling. No damage was done to bread, because of the high temperature to which the loaves were subjected. But in the material between the layers the organisms had an opportunity to multiply rapidly, as was indicated by the sharp onset of the symptoms which appeared from one to three hours after consuming the food.

The manifestations observed by the patients were similar and included chilly feelings, headache, followed rather promptly by griping pains, nausea, persistent vomiting, and diarrhea. Some exhibited muscle twitchings, with restlessness and delirium. Temperatures ranged from 100 to 104 degrees Fahrenheit.

Treatment was begun by emptying the stomach by means of luke warm mustard water or strong salt water. If prostration was marked and vomiting had continued for some time this procedure was omitted. Woolen cloths wrung out of hot water were applied to the abdomen and small doses of paregoric or laudanum were administered.

Collapse may be so severe that it is necessary to introduce salt solution under the skin. If the victim can take water by mouth, however, that is rarely required. Preparations of bismuth are given in large doses for the purpose of quieting the inflammation within the bowel. Most individuals recover within 24 to 72 hours and all food is omitted until diarrhea has ceased.

PROBABLY NOT DIPSOMANIA.

G. D. writes: Is there any home cure for dipsomania? I think that is what my trouble is. I will give you the facts in chronological order, instead of relating the manner in which I arrived at the above conclusion.

1927—Operation for gastric ulcers.
1932—Treated for nervous indigestion.
1934—Started using liquor because of overwork, up to 16 hours a day.
1936—Discharged by new production manager, who wanted his own supervisor.

Stopped using liquor as I felt there was no further need of it. Lost appetite; started vomiting and retching. Thought ulcers had started again and went back on diet. No improvement. Renewed prescription for indigestion with no results. Troubled by insomnia. Disgusted, bought pint of whisky and drank it, hoping to get some sleep. Instead, had hearty appetite, ate large dinner, and had good night's rest. Tongue hurts unless I have 2 or 3 drinks, and while not coated, sometimes appears so.

REPLY.

The use of alcohol for relief of physical pain does not suggest dipsomania, a disease requiring the attention of a psychiatrist. You may have a return of the ulcers. If so, you should be on a strict diet. Secure an examination by a competent physician.

LACK OF HYDROCHLORIC ACID.

M. B. writes:

1. When the system is lacking in hydrochloric acid, what are the symptoms?

2. Is there any way to determine the amount of hydrochloric acid one has other than having the stomach pumped out?

REPLY.

1. Digestive upsets, too rapid movements of the alimentary tract, diarrhea, and anemia.
2. A test meal with the chemical examination of the removed fluid is the only accurate method.

SEX EDUCATION.

T. O. writes: Do you have booklets on how to impart sex information to children?

REPLY.

No, but we have a list of published manuals on the subject which we will be glad to send on receipt of a stamped addressed envelope.

HATS OFF TO THE FLAG.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—Something should be done about the men who, either through ignorance or indolence [both are deplorable], fail to remove their hats when the flag of the United States passes. While watching any parade in which our flag is displayed you will be able to count, not merely two or three men with hats on, but often ten or fifteen. Try it some time. They would not get away with it in Germany, Russia, or any other country. In fact, if they failed to salute over there not only the hat would be knocked off but the head with it.

Let's be more patriotic toward the flag of the greatest country on earth.

THEIR WORK COMES TO NAUGHT.

Park Ridge, Ill., Aug. 23.—A company of yellow jackets, some twenty-five in number, made use of a mail box fastened to a front door on a house at 804 North Prospect street, Park Ridge, to manufacture their product, working for two years.

Their industry came to an end last Monday morning. The twenty-five were killed and a two year nest destroyed. They had knit together fifty cells in a block, sized 3x1 inch.

No one knew the mail box had been entered by the yellow jackets, not even the two carriers of the mail service. Their indignation was aroused by a daughter of the house trying to extract a letter. She was stung on the palm of the hand. Her grandfather, armed with a walking stick, went for the foe, killed the enemy off, one by one, and then drew out the nest of cells.

BAND CONCERT IN PRISON.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—In passing the state penitentiary just outside of Joliet last Sunday, we decided to drive through the grounds and were invited by one of the guards to stay and listen to the prison band which gives an outdoor concert there every Sunday afternoon.

We stayed and heard a very fine band concert by a group of thirty-eight musicians, directed by one of the guards. The men were dressed in white with black bow ties, and I wondered how such a fine appearing group of mostly young men could have come to be out there.

A printed program of the concert is given each visitor and we were surprised at the well selected and varied numbers chosen. My husband said he thought it sounded better than the Marine band in Washington, which should be an inducement to make others stop by to lend a little encouragement. Helen Ward.

SOME SOLUTION NEEDED.

Chicago, Aug. 24.—To my mind a simple way of ironing out the difficulty of displacing the railroad that crosses our airport would be to dig a trench about fifteen feet deep across the airport, build concrete walls and span the opening with some sort of grille or grating. The trains could run below the surface of the ground and the planes would be able to ride across the grating over the trench without interference. Maybe I'm wrong, but this seems to be a very easy way of settling this difficulty.

H. W. Frederick.

PITY BOTH, PERHAPS.

Lockport, Ill., Aug. 23.—Whom should we pity the most, the fellow in an insane asylum who thinks he's Napoleon, or the fellow on the outside who still thinks Roosevelt knows anything about getting this country out of the depression? J. C. B.

CORRIGAN'S "IF."

Davenport, Ia., Aug. 22.—Has Douglas Corrigan a mind of his own? Listen to this if you will: When questioned at a banquet in his honor at the Chicago Athletic club Saturday evening, he was asked: What is the most money you ever earned a year? His reply was "About $1,000." Then he was reminded that when he earned many thousands of dollars he would have to pay an income tax. And Corrigan added the government takes a good portion of it. He said that doing so would be all right if they only used the money for a good purpose.

And this remark took his hearers by surprise. In this connection his method of reasoning supports his ability as a pilot of an airplane and navigator.

MOTOR RIDES FOR POOR KIDS.

WHEAT AND PLOWSHARES.

Newark, O., Aug. 22.—Your editorial on "60 cent wheat" proves that so far as farm crops are concerned "the inexorable law of supply and demand," as the President stated it recently, still exists.

But you do not tell the whole story. Recently my son bought two cast plow shares and it took four bushels of wheat [local price] to pay for them. Back in the '90s my father got two plow shares for a bushel of wheat, and this rate of exchange prevailed largely up to 1914. Why does the farmer have to grow four times as much wheat now for the same plow shares he could get for one bushel before the war?

In one of those five pre-war years we bought a 7 foot Deering binder for 150 bushels of wheat, and a 6 foot mower for four tons of hay. Today it would take three times as much wheat and five times as much hay to pay for the same machines. O. E. Cooperrider.

TERMS OF WILL.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—On a will that has not yet been executed the following paragraph appears:

1. I direct that my said executor and trustee, or his said son, ... or his said son, ... herein designated as successor trustees and executors, be not required to furnish any bond for the performance of their duties.

Does the state of Illinois require a security bond from an [2] executor and [3] trustee of an estate?

4. Suppose an executor were unable to supply a bond, would the Probate court name another executor?

5. Would a clause as in the above paragraph of this will stating a bond was not required of the executor be legal in Illinois?

6. Can a resident in another state act as an executor in a will probate in Illinois?

7. In Illinois can a private individual hold all properties and funds pertaining to an estate [8] acting as trustee?

C. B. M.

1. This, or substantially equivalent wording, appears in practically all wills.
2. Yes, unless the will excuses it.
3. No.
4. The substitute would be called an administrator with the will annexed.
5. Yes.
6. No.
7. Yes.
8. A will sometimes provides that after the closing of the probate proceedings the assets shall be placed in the hands of a trustee to carry out the testator's purposes. There is no objection to this person being the same as the executor, if that is what you mean to ask. As long as the probate continues, the executor ordinarily holds all the assets and no question as to a trustee would arise.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

INSURABLE INTEREST.

Chicago, Aug. 19.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have a cousin who lives with us and who keeps house for us for wages. About two years ago I took out life insurance upon her life, with myself as beneficiary.

1. Have I an insurable interest in her life?

2. Suppose she was to leave my employ, would I still have a good policy or does she have to continue in my employ for the insurable interest to continue?

3. Is it necessary that the person who is insured know that his or her life is insured and who the beneficiary is?

4. Can the employer insure the lives of employés without their knowledge or consent? B. L. B.

1. It is difficult to define with absolute precision what will in all cases constitute an insurable interest in the life of a person, so as to take a contract of insurance out of the class of wager policies. Stated concisely, an insurable interest in the life of a person is an interest in having the life continue, a person has an insurable interest in the life of another where there is a reasonable probability that he will gain by the latter's remaining alive or lose by his death. Stated more comprehensively, an insurable interest exists where there is reasonable ground, founded upon the relations of the parties to each other, either pecuniary or contractural, or by blood or affinity, to expect some benefit or advantage from the continuance of the life of insured [37 C. J. 391].

2. "By the weight of authority, where the policy or contract is valid at its inception by reason of the existence of an insurable interest, it is not rendered invalid by the subsequent diminution or cessation of that interest" [37 C. J. 386].

3. No.

4. Yes, if he has insurable interest.

SO. AFRICA SHIES AT AIDING BRITAIN IN CASE OF WAR

Refuses to Give Advance Pledge of Help.

BY DAVID DARRAH.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 25.—The assembly of the Union of South Africa was told tonight by Gen. Jan C. Smuts, minister of justice, that the government would reserve freedom of action in event Great Britain is involved in war. Dispatches from Cape Town asserted he said the government's policy was that the union, under the present constitution, had the right to decide whether it would enter a war.

There was no question, Smuts said, of the union being at war automatically if war were declared by Britain. He added that it was his personal opinion that South Africa would aid Britain if the latter were in danger of attack.

Stand by Britain, He Urges.

"My advice to the cabinet and parliament would be to stand by Britain," he declared.

Prime Minister J. B. M. Hertzog said he agreed with Smuts' statement.

"This government as a government refuses to bind itself beforehand," he said. "I do not feel it incumbent to say whether I agree with Smuts' personal views. When the time comes the people will decide. When that day comes the country can be assured the government will do its duty and take responsibility for its actions."

The assembly indorsed a declaration by Hertzog that the Union of South Africa shall have no official national anthem until the English and African sections of the community agree upon what would be an appropriate one.

A controversy over a national anthem began last February between the English and old Boer elements which fought a two year war at the beginning of this century.

Omit "God Save the King."

At the opening of parliament in February the South African anthem, "Die Stem van Suid Afrika," was played and "God Save the King" was omitted. The same omission occurred on May 31 during Union day military ceremonies. Neither was the Union Jack displayed.

The playing of both anthems on such occasions was debated in the assembly. Late in July, Dr. D. F. Malan, opposition leader, moved there should be "one purely South African officially recognized national anthem." Hertzog parried with an amendment that on all ceremonies under government auspices both anthems should be played.

Today's decision to shelve the quarrel by declaring there is no anthem presumably is a compromise to gain time. Smuts, who supported Hertzog's amendment, said:

"If 'Die Stem van Suid Afrika' is forced down the throats of the English at this stage it will die a natural death, and if 'God Save the King' is forced down the throats of the other section its position will be seriously endangered."

Dominions Office Under Fire.

The British dominions office in London is under a fire of criticism. Some of the dominions are pressing for abolition of the dominions office. They complain they are not kept sufficiently posted on happenings from London.

Strained relations between Australia's federal government and administration of its six states have developed into an open clash here between High Commissioner Stanley M. Bruce and the six agents general of the Australian states. The latter also maintain separate offices in London.

The conflict began in July when King George VI. of Great Britain dedicated a war memorial to the Anzacs who fell in France. The six agents general were offended because they did not get good positions at the ceremonies. High Commissioner Bruce and several Australian ministers sat in the front row. The agents general regarded this as a slight to their official dignity.

Calls Office Obsolete.

Attorney General Robert G. Menzies of Australia launched an appeal a few weeks later for closer empire cooperation. Premier J. A. Lyons and former Premier W. M. Hughes attacked the dominions office.

"The dominions office is as obsolete as a muzzle loading rifle or a hansom cab," Hughes said.

He proposed direct contact between the dominion governments and the British foreign office.

The agents general feared their powers would be lessened and their posts abolished. They drafted a protest against the Hughes proposal, but decided not to deliver it. They voted to appoint a subcommittee to prepare and present their case at another time.

CITY FOLKS, TOO, DUPED IN DUDE RANCH SWINDLE

Find New Lebanon Venture Promoted on La Salle St.

Chicagoans as well as residents of the Fox River valley put money into the now deflated scheme to make old New Lebanon village into a frontier town and dude ranch.

Al D. Young, promoter of the ranch plan who disappeared from Elgin a few days ago with his bride and $5,000 belonging to the Lombard village schools, had an office on South La Salle street in Chicago. There he interviewed prospective investors and got several thousand dollars from city dwellers who listened to his glowing word picture of week-ending on the transplanted frontier property.

Coöperation Is Sought.

This was disclosed yesterday by Allen Myers, chief investigator for the Du Page county state's attorney's office. Myers asked State's Attorney Courtney to assign men to coöperate with him in finding Young and Mrs. Mae Peterson Young, who had been secretary of the Lombard school board for ten years. They were married only a few weeks ago.

According to Myers, a number of Chicago attorneys, several professional men, and a dozen business men took shares in Young's ranch.

Myers said he and Cook county authorities had visited Young's La Salle street office several days ago and obtained the names of a number of his clients.

Young rose rapidly from obscurity to fame in Du Page, Kane and De Kalb counties. He appeared first in March. He looked over the old town of New Lebanon—there is only one resident family there—and announced he wanted to buy it. Then he obtained an option on 240 acres of adjoining land belonging to the Hartmann estate.

Proposes Frontier Resort.

Going to Elgin, he announced that he proposed to create a western ranch and frontier health resort upon the land he controled. In an elaborate suite in the Fox hotel he produced splendid new maps showing the facilities for riding, swimming, boating, and other outdoor sports he would install.

While he was selling concessions to Fox river valley business men, and shares in the venture to Elginites, he wooed and won the hand of Mrs. Mae Peterson, a divorcée.

Police now say that Mrs. Peterson took $5,000 worth of tax anticipation warants to the Trust & Savings bank of Wheaton and obtained a draft for the sum. Then the draft was cashed at the Madison-Crawford National bank in Chicago. The Youngs and the money disappeared together six days ago.

Edward O'Day, 18 years old, 640 Clarence avenue, Oak Park, escaped with minor injuries yesterday when his car was struck by a Chicago, Aurora and Elgin electric train at the Garfield street crossing in the suburb.

Robert La Mar, colored, 219 West Walton street, was arrested early yesterday several hours after his car had killed a pedestrian at Austin boulevard and Ohio street. The victim was George McClay, 25, of 1519 Warren boulevard, student from Dallas, Tex.

The victim of a motor truck accident who died in Lutheran Memorial hospital Wednesday night was identified yesterday as Martin Seaholm, 59 years old, 1643 North Lawndale avenue. The accident occurred Sunday night at North and Springfield avenues.

Up to 4 p. m. yesterday 521 persons had been killed by automobiles in Cook county since Jan. 1. Of these 400 were killed in Chicago, where 12,409 were injured in trafic accidents in the same period.

Sacramento, Cal., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Highway Patrol Officer James Brewer literally held a man's life in his hands for twenty minutes. Fred Buckler, 69 years old, suffered two severed neck arteries in an automobile collision. Brewer pinched them shut with his fingers and held on until a physician arrived. On Wednesday night, at Oak and La Salle streets, policemen found Tony Marenello, 529 Division street. He carried a 16 inch butcher knife. His clothing was bloody. Police took him to the station, but he refused to talk.

An hour later the police were notified that the body of a man who had been stabbed to death was lying behind 1158 Larrabee street. MODIFIED PLAN FOR CITY AIRPORT SENT TO RAILWAY

Suggested modifications of the proposed ordinance that must be passed by the city council and accepted by the Chicago & Western Indiana railroad before the Chicago airport can be enlarged, were mailed last evening to J. R. Barse, vice president and general counsel for the railroad. The measure embodies the terms under which the railroad is to acquire a new right of way and remove its tracks from the airport where they now block expansion.

The suggested changes, if approved by the railroad, complete the drafting of the proposed ordinance by Assistant Corporation Counsel Joseph F. Grossman. Attorney Barse and other railroad officials have been conferring with city representatives for weeks about the airport ordinance. The document will be submitted to the city council for approval on Sept. 11, if the railroad agrees to the changes as sketched.

Tenderfoot's Inheritance

By Marie De Nervaud

(Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.)

SYNOPSIS.

Anne Claxton arrives from New York at the Wyoming ranch she has inherited, after refusing the last minute proposal of her city beau, Gerald. Steve Hayward, neighbor ranch owner, tells her that Jake Collins, who owns the adjoining ranch, expects to buy her heavily mortgaged ranch, but her uncle never would sell to him. Anne determines to stay and fight. She is immediately attracted to Steve, but Gwen Collins, Jake's daughter, shows a proprietary interest in him. She wins over old Tim Salter, her uncle's foreman, and Whitey, a handsome ranch hand. She finds the house in disorder and a gun missing from the rack. Tim thinks Collins had been there and threatened her uncle with the gun and that her uncle died from a heart attack. Collins calls with Lawyer Bill Jennings and turns ugly when she refuses to sell. When Steve calls and advises her to sell she is cool to him. Steve is offended and jealous of Whitey. To help surmount financial difficulties Anne looks forward to receiving her former boss, Mr. Trainor, and his family, to the ranch as paying guests. Collins serves notice that he is going to fence in the water holes which he claims are on his property. Riding alone Anne is thrown from her horse. Walking back to the ranch she is rescued by Steve from a maddened steer. Whitey, who is secretly in love with Anne, is rude to Steve. That night Anne overhears Tim and Whitey talking over the danger of gunplay. She decides to call on Collins and try diplomacy.

INSTALMENT XVII.

OPEN HOSTILITY.

"Seein' as you seem to want it straight," Jake Collins said to Anne, "I'll give it to you. As a person, you mean nothing to me. As the owner of the X Bar 9, you're in my way. I'm going to do everything I can to force you to get out."

"Even to fencing in water holes that I have as much right to as you have?" Anne carefully kept any anger out of her tone.

"I don't recognize your right; those water holes are on my property."

"Tim tells me that my uncle considered they were on his. Will you wait until I can have that boundary surveyed before taking any action? If they are found to belong to the X Bar 9 I will agree to leave them free for the use of both ranches as they have been in the past. If they are proved to belong to you I will make no protest over any action you may take. Doesn't that seem fair to you?"

Anne's heart sank as she caught the hardening of his eyes and realized the futility of attempting any reasonable solution with him.

"Go ahead and do all the surveying you want," Collins shrugged. "Those water holes are mine and I'm going to fence them in. As I warned you in my note, I'll shoot any cattle that break through, and prosecute their owner."

"I'm sorry I can't stay for lunch," Anne felt her knees trembling, but she managed to keep her voice steady as she turned to Gwen. "Thank you for asking me."

Without giving Gwen a chance to answer she ran down the steps, mounted Rocket, and rode off.

Anne had not gone more than a mile when she heard a pounding of hoofs behind her.

Glancing back, she saw Gwen riding to overtake her. She pulled Rocket in and waited.

"I don't want you to leave this way," Gwen reined in beside her. "I've had a row with dad about the way he behaved, but I can't do anything with him. I want you to know, though, that I think you're a good sport, and I'd like to be friends, only I can't go openly against dad. Not while I'm living at home anyway. But pretty soon——" she broke off short with an embarrassed laugh. "Well, I'm not mentioning it yet, but I won't be living at home much longer. You can count on Steve and me to help you out any way we can."

"That's—that's mighty good of you." Anne held herself very straight in the saddle, a queer sick feeling in her heart. "I—my congratulations! Of course you can't go against your father. But perhaps you can persuade him by degrees that——"

"Nobody can persuade dad," Gwen interrupted. "That's why I'm urging you to give in to him in the beginning. Not only for your sake but to prevent a feud that may mean loss of life on both sides."

"I'd feel that I was letting my uncle down if I sold out to your father," Anne declared. "I'll never do it! But I will try to see if we can't manage without those water holes. Heaven knows I want to avoid bloodshed."

"You can't manage without them," Gwen answered. "Tim will tell you that."

Tim had told her that! What she had overhead last night substantiated Gwen's fears that the feud might lead to shooting.

Suppose anything should happen to Tim or Whitey because of her obstinacy in holding on to the ranch? To be sure, they both wanted her to fight it out, but that didn't lessen her own responsibility.

"I hope you'll give in before it's too late," Gwen picked up her reins and swung her horse around. "I'll do what I can to hold dad off, but I can't promise anything. Remember how Steve and I feel, though."

With a wave of her hand she was off. Anne watched her with a wild surge of jealousy.

How beautifully Gwen rode! No wonder Steve was in love with her!

It was a relief to climb in the buckboard with Whitey the next morning and feel the fresh tang of the crisp air after the wakeful unhappy night.

"We'll bring out that extra trunk of mine, Whitey." Anne turned to her companion, "then I'll have burned all my bridges!"

"You could take it in again," Whitey suggested. "I don't call that much of a bridge."

"It is, though," Anne said, "I know now that I had a feeling that as long as that trunk was at the station I might pull out any time. It's symbolic, in a way." She abruptly changed the subject. "You really think you can get on with two more punchers?"

Whitey nodded. "If I can get the right kind, and I reckon I can. They're plenty to choose from just now. You're more apt to get fellows with guts if they think they're signing on for a scrap."

"I suppose the only fair thing is to tell them, but I hate to get the word about that we're expecting a fight," Anne worried.

"That's no news," Whitey answered. "Every one knows Jake Collins isn't one to give in without a fight, but he'll try to put it over that we started it."

"Then we mustn't start it!" Anne declared.

A horseman emerged from a dust cloud on the road ahead of them and a minute later Anne made out the rawboned figure of Bill Jennings. He recognized her at the same time and pulled down to a walk.

"Well, well, how's the mystery lady boss of the X Bar 9? Coming in to dance?"

"I didn't know there was one," Anne decided to ignore the first part of his greeting.

"Jake Collins sent in word last night for me to go out to the Triangle Three today. I reckoned perhaps you and he had come to some agreement."

Again Anne shook her head. "I thought I made it clear before that there would be no agreement between Jake Collins and me as regards selling the ranch."

"I hoped a couple of weeks on the ranch might have convinced you that you are making a mistake, but some people seem to take a heap of convincing!"

With this parting shot he was off.

"I don't know that I've ever disliked any one more than I do that man!" Anne's mind still rankled with his reference to her. "What did he mean by the 'mystery lady boss of the X Bar 9'?"

"I kinda think it would be a good idea for you to stay in for that dance tonight." Anne's eyes flew open at this suggestion from Whitey. "How about it? It's kind of a mistake to get folks thinking you're stuck up."

"Stuck up!" Anne echoed in amazement.

"That was what he was hinting at," Whitey said positively. "Reckon that's the line Jake Collins put him up to take about you."

"That never occurred to me." Anne pondered over this new idea. The more she thought of it the more convinced she became that Whitey had hit on the truth. Perhaps the damage was done already, but at least she could try to offset the impression of her that Jennings had been spreading. "I have a mind to stay. Do you like to dance, Whitey?"

"Do I? I'll say I do!" Whitey grinned.

"I have a dress in my trunk that's here and I could take a room at the hotel to change in," Anne said, "I can't afford to let my new neighbors think I'm stuck up, Whitey. We'll go to the dance!"

BY MARY MEADE.

The woman is carelessly unkind who, having a daily lunch box to pack for some masculine member of her family, does not give it the same care and thought which she gives to the meals to be eaten at home. While the lunch box can't contain as great a variety of food as would be served at a home luncheon, it should contain enough nourishing food to give the partaker of this quick lunch a comfortable feeling in his middle.

If the lunch for next day is prepared at dinnertime each evening very little bother is involved. One should keep at hand essentials such as wax paper for sandwiches, paper cups in which to pack salads, hearty foods, and desserts, and paper napkins. These items aid in keeping the lunch fresh and attractive until it is time to eat it. The best type of lunch box is the one which holds a vacuum bottle for a hot or cold beverage. It should be a utensil easy to clean, too.

Into the carefully prepared lunch box goes a beverage such as milk, coffee, chocolate, orange or tomato juice, or lemonade. Besides the drink there should be rather hearty sandwiches or some other type of bread, along with a salad or a dish such as baked beans or Spanish rice, a fruit, and a sweet. Fresh, whole fruits such as bananas, peaches, pears, oranges, apples, and grapes are easiest to carry. Sometimes a fruit tart or turnover may take the place of both fruit and sweet.

There's no need to pack monotony into the lunch box along with the food. There are enough sandwiches, salads, cakes, cookies, and the like to permit a different assortment every day of every month.

LUNCH BOX COMBINATIONS.

1. Sliced meat loaf, hard roll stuffed with mixed vegetable salad, peach turnover, hot or cold beverage.

2. Sliced beef and chili sauce sandwich on whole wheat bread, cole slaw in a paper cup, piece of gingerbread, fresh pear, hot or cold beverage.

3. Nippy cheese and pickle sandwich, two deviled egg halves, candy bar, bunch of grapes, hot or cold beverage.

4. Sliced radish and lettuce sandwich, cup of potato salad, chocolate fudge brownie, banana, hot or cold beverage.

5. Cream cheese and nutbread sandwich, peanut butter sandwich, cup of chicken or tuna salad with celery, apple tart, hot or cold beverage.

6. Ham and picalilli sandwich on white bread, cup of baked beans, two green gage plums, frosted cupcake, hot or cold beverage.

7. Minced vegetable sandwich on whole wheat bread, hard cooked egg with tiny envelope of salt, dill pickle, three molasses cookies, orange, hot or cold beverage.

8. Liverwurst sandwich, pickled beet, slice of cheese, mixed fruit in small, covered glass jar, two oatmeal cookies, hot or cold beverage.

Nothing Equals Them for Sociability.

There's no vegetable to equal the sociability of the tomato. It goes with everything, and that's undoubtedly why housewives are stuffing tomato cases with everything but the kitchen clock nowadays.

Fat tomatoes, stuffed, make an excellent main dish for lunch or supper. Stuff small tomatoes and you've created a colorful meat garnish or vegetable side dish. If you'd have leftovers appear at the dinner table incognito, bake them in tomato cases.

TOMATO CASES.

Select six large tomatoes. Wash and cut slice from stem end of tomato. Hollow out inside, leaving a shell at least one-quarter inch in thickness. Sprinkle with salt, and fill with any desired stuffing. The tomato pulp may be used for juice, in soup, or may be added to the stuffing. Bake in moderately hot oven [375 degrees] for about 20 minutes, or until tender.

TUNA FISH STUFFING.

2½ tablespoons butter
¼ cup finely chopped celery
2½ tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon celery salt
1 13-oz. can tuna fish [about 1½ cups], flaked
6 tablespoons grated cheese

Melt butter, add celery, and cook until celery is soft. Add flour, blending well. Add milk and cook until thickened, stirring constantly. Add celery salt and tuna fish. Season with salt and pepper to taste. Stuff into tomato cases and bake. Sprinkle cheese over top of stuffing during last few minutes of baking period.

OKRA AND PEPPER STUFFING.

12 okra pods
1 green pepper, chopped finely
3 tablespoons dry bread crums
1 tablespoon melted butter
½ teaspoon minced onion
Salt, pepper, paprika

Wash okra pods and slice in rings. Boil five minutes and drain. Combine with remaining ingredients, seasoning with salt, pepper, and paprika to taste. Stuff into tomatoes and bake.

ONION STUFFING.

½ cup bacon drippings
½ cup finely chopped onion
Pulp taken from tomatoes
1½ teaspoons brown sugar
½ teaspoon celery seed
Bread crums
Grated cheese

Sauté onion in bacon drippings until brown. Combine tomato pulp, brown sugar, celery seed, and enough bread crums to absorb excess moisture. Stuff into tomato cases, sprinkle with bread crums and grated cheese, and bake.

Other good stuffings are: Whole kernel corn, mixed with a little chopped green pepper; mashed potatoes, topped with grated cheese; creamed peas; creamed asparagus; creamed fish of any kind; macaroni and cheese; Spanish rice; creamed mushrooms and sweetbreads; creamed left-over meat.

CAVIAR MOUSSE REAL TASTE TEASER AND IT'S EASY TO MAKE

For a summery appetizer that's a real taste teaser try caviar mousse. It's no trouble to make and cubes of it served on crisp watercress with salty crackers are a good beginning for any meal.

CAVIAR MOUSSE.

[Serves six.]

1 three ounce can caviar
¼ cup mayonnaise
1 cup heavy cream, whipped

Combine caviar and mayonnaise and fold in whipped cream. Pour into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator and freeze. Cut into cubes and serve on watercress or lettuce with salty wafers.

PLUM ICE NICE WITH MEAT, OR AS A DESSERT

Next time the richly colored plums tempt you to buy, try them in plum ice. It's just right as a meat accompaniment or a light luncheon dessert.

PLUM ICE.

[Serves 4 to 6.]

1 dozen Damson plums
2 cups water
½ cup sugar

Place all ingredients in sauce pan and cook until plums are tender but still whole. Remove plums and chill. Pour cooking sirup into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator. Stir several times during freezing. Place chilled plums in sherbet glasses and cover with frozen mixture.

CHOCOLATE, MINT IN ICE CREAM ARE DELICIOUS

Maybe you like chocolate in everything but ice cream. If this is so you haven't tried chocolate mint ice cream. The two flavors flatter each other wonderfully. Marshmallows make this chocolate mint ice cream creamy smooth.

CHOCOLATE MINT ICE CREAM.

1½ squares unsweetened chocolate, shaved
2 cups milk
½ pound marshmallows
2 or 3 drops oil of peppermint
1 cup whipping cream, whipped

Place chocolate in the milk [reserve two tablespoons]. Melt over hot water, blending well. Heat marshmallows with the two tablespoons of milk over low heat. Stir constantly, heating until marshmallows are half melted. Remove from heat and continue folding until mixture is smooth and fluffy. Cool. Slowly blend in the chocolate mixture. Add peppermint and fold in whipped cream. Pour into freezing tray of automatic refrigerator and freeze, stirring occasionally during freezing.

SMITTY—DUNCE HAT!

BARGAIN HUNTING GOOD THIS WEEK FOR FOOD BUYERS

BY FRANK RIDGWAY.

Housewives who use the cash and carry system will find plenty of food bargains today and tomorrow, although cooler weather has encouraged advances on certain items. A careful canvass of the food shopping centers in Chicago and adjacent suburbs will reveal that many foods are cheaper.

Shoppers are taking more interest in butchers' bargains since cooler weather set in. Most retail meat shops have lowered their prices on a few items, but there are no marked changes in fresh meat prices this week compared with last. Here and there bacon of the higher grades can be bought for 2 cents a pound under last week's prices.

Shopping will pay on chickens for Sunday dinners. Both frying and stewing sizes are down 1 to 3 cents a pound in some places, while in other shops the price has been raised a smuch as 6 cents a pound on frying chickens.

Lamb Chops Generally Lower.

Lamb chops are 1 to 4 cents lower generally. A penny a pound has been clipped off the price of pork spare ribs and 2 cents a pound reductions will be found on sirloin steaks in some shops.

Eggs are higher. One or 3 cents a dozen have been added to the price of the different grades since last week. Butter is a cent a pound higher in a few places. Flour is up 6 to 10 cent a 24½ pound sack in many stores, following special sales last week-end.

Sugar came down this week 2 to 4 cents a 10 pound sack in several places.

Prices of fresh fruits and vegetables have been influenced by the cooler weather, some going up and others down. Supplies of local vegetables continue plentiful. They are helping to hold prices down.

Lettuce is up 2 to 3 cents a head. Spinach is about 2 cents a pound higher in most stores. Peaches gradually are going higher. Most of them now are coming from orchards in Michigan. Sweet corn is higher and is becoming scarce, as the peak of the season's harvest is past. Celery and cabbage are slightly higher, although both still are considered reasonable. Lemons are up 2 cents a dozen in a few places. Radishes are higher in some stores.

Green beans are 1 to 3 cents a pound lower than last week-end. Fresh peas are down in a few places. Both red and Idaho baking potatoes are less. Fresh tomatoes, down in stores generally, are offered at the lowest prices so far this season in many places. Cooking apples are cheaper. Dry onions and eggplants are lower in some stores. Watermelon prices dropped sharply during the week becaues of cooler weather.

Fall fruits, including pears, damson plums, and eating apples now are plentiful in most shopping centers. There still are a few blackberries, dewberries, and strawberries on the market, but the prices generally are high.

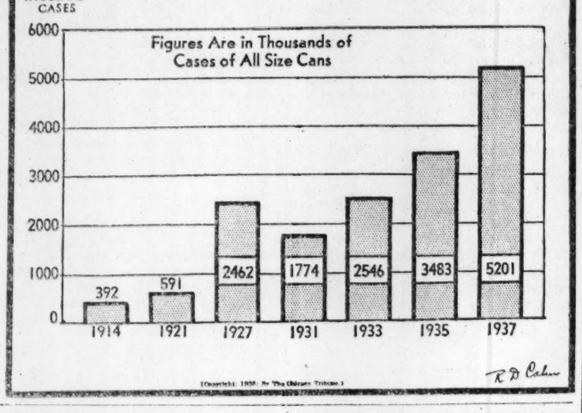

Changes in wholesale fruit and vegetable prices during the week were divided about equally between increases and decreases, according to official reports from the central market. Cucumbers, sweet corn, honeydew melons, head lettuce, peaches, pears, and spinach are higher than last week. Green beans, honeyball melons, eggplants, watermelons, and both white and sweet potatoes are lower.

Wholesale Price Changes.

Prices on live stock and wholesale meats are shifting. Farmers were paid 10 to 40 cents a hundred pounds less this week than last for fat hogs. Top price for the week was $9 a hundred. Wholesale cuts of pork loins went up $1 to $2 a hundred pounds.

The better grades of beef steers brought about the same as last week with a top price of $13 a hundred. Other grades of beef animals dropped 25 to 50 cents a hundred. Live lambs went up 35 to 50 cents to a top price of $9 a hundred. There were no significant changes in the wholesale prices of dressed lamb and beef cuts.

GOING ON PICNIC? NEW SANDWICH FILLINGS TASTY

Try Some of These 20 Novel Recipes.

Sandwiches were invented so that a man who didn't want to bother with knife and fork could eat his meat with his fingers. Sandwiches are still the backbone of the picnic for the same reason.

Almost any food combination that will spread without too much oozing will do for filling the picnic sandwich. There can be variety enough to suit every one's taste. At least one hearty sandwich of meat or fish should be included as well as peanut butter, fruit, cheese, egg and vegetable fillings. Use more than one kind of bread, too. Twenty good recipes are given below:

PICNIC SANDWICH FILLINGS.

Roast Meat: Cut in thin slices and cover with thin slice of cranberry jelly.

Chopped Baked Ham: Season with mustard and combine with chopped green pepper and mayonnaise to moisten.

Chopped Cooked Veal or Beef: Mix with chopped celery and chopped sweet pickle. Moisten with boiled salad dressing.

Chopped Cooked Lamb: Mix with mayonnaise and spread. Sprinkle with finely chopped mint.

Salmon: Flake and mix with an equal amount of chopped cucumber. Moisten with mayonnaise.

Tuna Fish: Flake and mix with chopped pickles, crushed pineapple, and mayonnaise.

Sardines: Mix to paste with melted butter and flavor with salt, cayenne, and a generous amount of grated horseradish. Spread and sprinkle with lemon juice.

Hard Cooked Eggs: Chop and mix with chopped celery or watercress and mayonnaise.

Hard Cooked Egg and Tomato: Use slices of tomato topped with slices of hard cooked egg. Spread with mayonnaise. Broiled bacon strips may be added, too, if desired.

Egg and Spinch: Use two parts chopped hard cooked egg and one part chopped cooked spinach. Spread and cover with crisp bacon.

Peanut Butter and Dates: Add chopped dates and orange juice [to moisten] to peanut butter.

Cheese and Ham: Add minced ham, chopped pickle, and mayonnaise to grated American cheese.

Grated Cheese: Add chopped parsley and onion juice to taste. Cream with butter until of spreading consistency.

Peanut Butter and Jelly: Spread and cover with thin layer of tart jelly.

Grated Raw Carrot: Combine with an equal amount of shredded cabbage and moisten with mayonnaise.

Cabbage: Shred cabbage and mix with chopped green pepper and mayonnaise.

Tomato and Onion: Top sliced tomatoes with thin slices of Bermuda onions.

Cucumber: Slice thinly and cover with thin slices of radishes. Spread with mayonnaise.

Apple: Slice thinly, spread with mayonnaise and chopped nuts.

HERE'S WHAT TO TAKE ALONG FOR LEMONADE AT THE NEXT BIG PICNIC

Coffee in thermos jugs is fine for family sized picnics, but what big picnic [meaning 50 or more picnickers] could call itself a picnic without lemonade?

Since the lemonade for such a picnic is generally made on the spot, one must know how many lemons, how much sugar, and how much ice to take along.

LEMONADE FOR 50.

30 lemons [about 1¼ quarts juice
2½ pounds sugar [about 5 1-3 cups
9 quarts water
10 pounds ice

Combine sugar and lemon juice, add cold water, and stir until dissolved. Pour over block of ice.

If you preferred a glorified iced tea for your picnic beverage you'll want to know the proportions of fruit juice and tea base to take along.

ICED TEA PUNCH FOR 50.

[About 2½ gallons.]

1½ pounds sugar [about 3 cups]
1 cup lemon juice
1 cup orange juice
1 pint grape juice
1 pint tea infusion [use 1 tablespoon tea to make 1 pint]
7 quarts water
1 No. 2 can crushed pineapple

Combine ingredients, stirring well to dissolve sugar, and pour over five pound block of ice or crushed ice in individual glasses. Slices of orange and lemon may be added for garnish if desired.

A SEAFOOD SALAD SOUNDS COOLING AND IT REALLY IS

A rose by any other name would smell as sweet, but "seafood" salad sounds much more cooling and appetizing on a hot day than just "fish" salad. And seafood salad it is, during the summertime. Such a salad takes the place of meat on the luncheon or supper menu.

Here are three seafood salads made with different kinds of fish and each with some special something about it to lift it out of the ordinary.

FROZEN SHRIMP SALAD.

[Serves 6.]

1 tablespoon gelatin
½ cup chicken stock or boullion
1 cup minced shrimp
½ cup white sauce
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of cayenne pepper
½ cup mayonnaise
¾ cup whipping cream, whipped

Soak gelatin in chicken stock. Melt over hot water. Add shrimp, white sauce, salt and pepper. Let cool until partly set, then fold in mayonnaise which has been mixed with the whipped cream. Turn into refrigerator tray and freeze. Cut in squares and serve in lettuce cups with mayonnaise.

TUNA FISH SALAD WITH HORSERADISH.

[Serves 6.]

2 cups tuna fish
2 cups chopped celery
½ cup horseradish, grated and drained
1 cup mayonnaise
1 teaspoon salt
Lettuce

Break tuna fish with fork and combine with celery, horseradish, salt and mayonnaise. Arrange individual servings on crisp lettuce. Garnish with sliced hard cooked eggs and a dash of paprika.

LARGEST MAKERS OF FINE SOAPS IN THIS COUNTRY NOW ANNOUNCE:

First New Way to Wash Fine Fabrics in 2000 Years!

HEAPS OF ACTIVE SUDS! In hardest water Dreft makes 5 times more suds than any fine fabric soap you ever used! That means economy. And, just as important, it also means heaps of suds to help you wash stockings and all fine washables without unnecessary rubbing.

NOW... a Startling Suds Improvement that Banishes Ugly, Color-dimming Soap Scum for good! Restores fine Silks, Rayons and Woolens to True Freshness!

HAVE you wondered why your fine fabrics get that "washed-out" look so quickly?

Why—after several washings—especially in hard water—stockings begin to look cottony, streaky? Why silk and rayon colors seem so dull and cloudy? Why fine woolens begin to feel coarse and stiff?

Blame it on filmy, color-dimming SCUM ... left by soap washings! Now—amazing as it sounds—washing these same garments in Dreft will remove every trace of soap scum ... bring back soap-dulled colors to their true brightness and help keep them that way! In hardest water Dreft forms absolutely no scum!

And that's not the only reason why no soap can ever promise Dreft's results ...

Soap scum only "buries" fabric colors. Actual fading is a far more serious menace ... and it's the alkalinity in all soapsuds that fades most colors. Dreft suds, however, are absolutely non-alkaline! So—"safe in water" means positively safe in Dreft!

In short, Dreft offers such remarkable advantages, it shouldn't be classed as "soap." We simply say—a new way to wash fine fabrics. And, the very first time you use Dreft—you'll say: "A far, far better way!" Procter & Gamble.

BETTER FOR ALL FINE WOOLENS! Baby's woolens, and yours, too, stay softer because Dreft forms or leaves no scum to coarsen and stiffen delicate wool fibers. And you always have plenty of suds at just the right water temperature to guard against shrinkage!

HOW YOUR DISHES WILL SPARKLE! By themselves—without toweling or polishing—Dreft-washed dishes and glasses dry sparkling clean! With never a trace of stubborn, filmy soap scum! And Dreft, being a fine fabric suds is, of course, safe for your hands.

CONCRETE FORT READY FOR WAR WITHIN 4 HOURS

Officers Witness Building by Vacuum Process.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Before high ranking army and navy officials and foreign military attachés a new and revolutionary method of constructing concrete fortresses, bombproof dugouts, and machine gun nests was demonstrated at the bureau of standards today.

The audience witnessed the construction of a fifty ton pill box fort with a so-called "vacuum" concrete. The fort was ready for use four hours after the concrete was poured. Ordinarily it takes several days for concrete to harden.

Point to Unusual Speed.

The process was used in the demonstration for the first time for military purposes. Witnesses agreed that the fortress of the future, particularly in those nations more interested in defensive than in offensive warfare, will take advantage of the unusual speed and strength possible by means of this most recent development.

The process was invented by Karl P. Billner of New York City. It has already been used to advantage in the construction of concrete houses, in public highways, and for other purposes, but it is expected to be of special service in time of war.

Stronger Than Other Types.

By means of "vacuum" concrete, bombproof shelters and fortresses could be built in one evening and harden and be ready for warding off attack at dawn of the following morning, Billner said. Not only does this new process save time in construction and otherwise, he added, but the resulting fortress is much stronger than those of other types and the cost of construction is less.

In the demonstration standard cement, sand and broken stone, mixed with water, were poured into forms or molds at 9 a. m. These forms were of wood, although in standardized construction they probably will be of thin steel or aluminum sheets, with the proper bracing, so as to be very light and easily transportable, in sections.

After the concrete mixture was poured into the molds, the vacuum process was applied and at 1 p. m. the forms were removed.

Briefly, the vacuum process is a method of removing from concrete, after it has been placed in the forms, all excess mixing water—the water which has been added to make the concrete liquid enough to flow readily into the forms, Billner explained.

FAHRNEY ESTATE VALUED AT MORE THAN 2 MILLIONS

Emery Homer Fahrney left an estate estimated at $2,097,832. This was disclosed yesterday when final accounting of the estate was filed with Clerk Mitchell C. Robin and approved in Probate court. Mr. Fahrney, son of the late Dr. Peter Fahrney, patent medicine manufacturer, died Oct. 9, 1935.

Under terms of his will the estate was left in trust with half the income going to the widow, Mrs. Marion Fahrney Hardeen, and the remainder to two daughters, Myrtle and Merry Pickering Eiszner. Because of her marriage to Attorney Theodore Hardeen, the widow, however, renounced the will for her dower right of one-third of the estate.

The final accounting shows payments of $731,931 in federal and state inheritance taxes; $465,608 to the widow; $729,217 to other heirs, and $102,510 in administration expenses.

STAMPS WORTH $400,000 SHOWN AT CONVENTION

Stamp collections valued at nearly $400,000 were placed on exhibit yesterday at the opening of the forty fourth annual convention of the Society of Philatelic Americans at Hotel La Salle. More than five hundred stamp collectors from all parts of the country are attending.

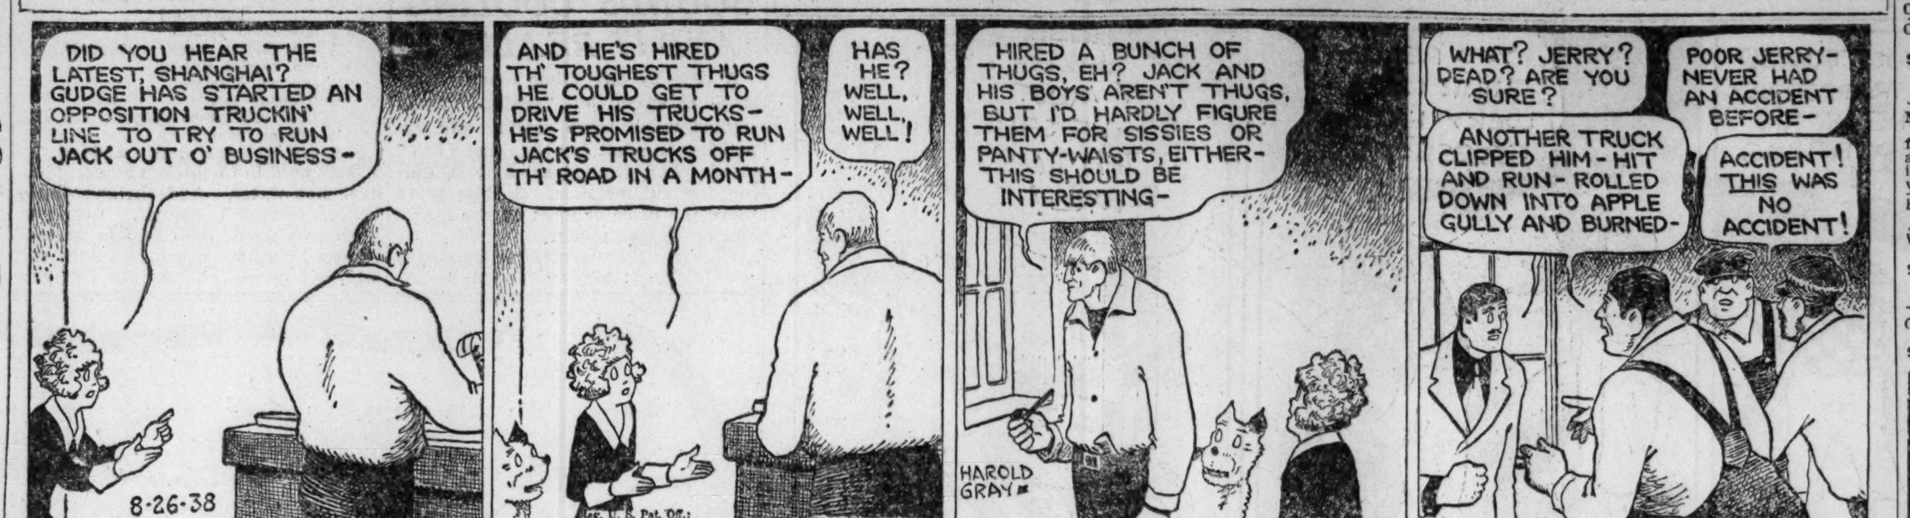

One of the outstanding displays was a group of one penny blacks, issued by Great Britain in May, 1840. These stamps were the first adhesives ever issued. Another display that attracted attention was one of souvenir stamp sheets, a philatelic innovation of recent years. More than 450 frames of stamps are being shown.

Russell Broderick of Fond du Lac, Wis., was elected president of the society for the coming year. The convention will end tomorrow.

Engineer with $6,000 Job in Sight Hangs Himself

Robert A. Voet, a chemical engineer, hanged himself yesterday in his home at 411 South Harvey avenue, Oak Park. His wife, Ruth, who found the body, was unable to explain the act. Voet, who was 28 years old, was just about to take an engineering job in Aurora at $6,000 a year, according to Lieut. Harry Wilson of the Oak Park police.

GIRL ATTEMPTS TO END LIFE AT FOOT OF STATUE

Men and women lolling in Grant park yesterday afternoon paid scant attention to a young woman standing in front of Gen. Logan's statue. She regarded it intently, then suddenly lifted a bottle containing a dark fluid to her lips, and drank half its contents.

Passersby saw her slump and roll down the knoll on which the statue stands. She was taken to St. Luke's hospital, where attendants said her condition was not serious, although the bottle had contained poison.

The young woman is Miss Maureen Schilke, 19 years old, of 149th street and Kildare avenue, Midlothian. She told Central police she had trouble at home. Her father, Adolph, hurried to the hospital.

In her handbag was a note to her mother, urging her to "have courage" and expressing the wish that the rest of her life might be "full of sunshine."

Peter Schaefer, 927 Schiller street, Wilmette, saw the act. He said Miss Borenstein took off her coat and hat and hung them on a billboard, covered her face with her arms, and leaped just as the train was about four feet away. Nicholas Casey, 7331 Yale avenue, the motorman, was unable to stop the train until one coach had passed over her.

Two Weddings in October for Bryan S. Reids

BY JUDITH CASS.

TWO weddings will take place in one month in the Bryan S. Reid family. Their eldest daughter, Mrs. Mary Elizabeth Reid Chatillon, will be married to Russell Trufant Foster on Oct. 1. The middle daughter, Margot, will become the bride of Alanson Donald on the twenty-second or the twenty-ninth of October.

Mrs. Chatillon's engagement to a son of the noted economist, Dr. William T. Foster, and Mrs. Foster, of Newton, Mass., was announced yesterday by Mr. and Mrs. Reid. Last Thursday the Reids made known the engagement of Margot to Mr. Donald, whose mother is Mrs. George Donald of New York.

The Foster-Chatillon wedding will be a quiet one in the Reids' apartment at 1550 State parkway. The Donald-Reid one will be a large ceremony in St. Chrysostom's church. Mrs. Chatillon's first marriage, to Ralph Chatillon, took place in St. Chrysostom's in January, 1935. Pretty young "Tudie" Reid was to have made her debut that winter, but instead she chose to be the bride of the young man from Syracuse who recently had come to Chicago to live. The marriage was ended by divorce last year.

Mrs. Chatillon Educated Abroad.

Mrs. Chatillon was educated in Munich and Florence and for the last year or two she has been studying dress design. She and her sister are both vivacious, attractive young women, popular in Chicago and Lake Forest. Mrs. Chatillon's friends are sorry that her marriage will take her to Cleveland to live. Miss Reid's friends are glad that Mr. Donald is living in Chicago. He and his bride-to-be already have found a house in Lake Forest.

Russell Foster is a graduate of the Loomis school at Windsor, Conn.; Harvard university, class of 1928, and the Harvard graduate school of business administration, class of 1930. His father was president of Reed college in Portland, Ore., for ten years and for the last seventeen years he has headed the Pollak Foundation for Economic Research.

Mrs. Chatillon is visiting with her fiancé at the summer home of his parents in York Harbor, Me., so the Reids did not give a party to announce her engagement. They entertained at the cocktail hour in their Lake Forest home last Thursday to announce Margot's engagement.

Several Autumn Parties for Georgette Hill.

Several early autumn parties will be given for Miss Georgette Owsley Hill, who makes her debut at a tea-dance on Sept. 17 at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lon C. Hill Jr. of Winnetka. Mrs. William Ogden Green and her daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Carpenter, are giving a luncheon at the Indian Hill club for Miss Hill and about thirty of her friends on Sept. 7. On the nineteenth Mrs. Tracy Buckingham will entertain for Miss Hill at a luncheon at the Casino. Mrs. Frank Fuller will entertain for the bud at the regular Thursday night dance on the fifteenth at the Onwentsia club.

Miss Marjorie Rile of Montclair, N. J., Miss Hill's roommate at Sarah Lawrence, is arriving on the fifteenth for some of the parties, and she and Miss Hill will return to school together on Sept. 20. Mr. and Mrs. Hill had planned to give a dinner-dance for their daughter and her assistants following the tea, but they have changed their plans because of the ball that Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Chatfield-Taylor are giving that evening to introduce their daughter, Miss Adelaide Chatfield-Taylor, to their Chicago friends.

Vassar Roommate Visits Miss Gambrill.

Miss Claire Stalfort of Baltimore, Md., arrived on Wednesday to visit Miss Helen Gambrill, her roommate at Vassar college, and to be here for Miss Gambrill's debut on Sept. 7 at the Exmoor Country club.

Miss Gambrill's grandmother, Mrs. Clarence W. Leigh of Evanston will entertain for her and her assistants at a small dinner-dance at the Palmer house following the tea. The next day Miss Gambrill will go east with Miss Stalfort for a visit. Miss Gambrill will return home before she resumes her courses at Vassar on Sept. 24.

Mrs. Walter S. Brewster will give an illustrated lecture on flower ar-

Science Traces the Evolution of a Jitterbug

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

The jitterbug or swing music craze now sweeping the country was likened yesterday to the Children's crusade of the middle ages by psychiatrists at the University of Chicago.

The Children's crusade was one of the strangest happenings in history. In 1212 an army of French children led by a peasant boy named Stephen set out for the Holy Land by way of Marseilles. Another army of German children led by the boy Nicholas crossed the Alps on the same mission. They were to rescue Jerusalem from the infidels. They expected the Mediterranean to open by a miracle as the Red sea opened for the children of Israel. Thousands were lost at sea or sold into slavery.

"This swing movement is like the mass hysterias that have swept nations from time to time," said Dr. Charles B. Congdon, psychiatrist in the university health service.

"It is like the Children's crusade, the tulip mania of Holland, the dancing mania of early America. It is tied up with unrest, insecurity, repression, exhibitionism, and with sex. It is a complicated phenomenon and would be given different evaluations by different schools of mental study. Anthropology and even economics enter into it. In the present state of knowledge we cannot give a complete explanation."

Other psychiatrists see in it a release of uncontroled emotionalism, a simple, uncomplicated childishness, a flow of rhythm, a flow of words, a flow of emotions, with nothing harmful in it.

"It is beautifully childish," said one. "It goes to prove that the way to touch people closely is the way of simple things, simple ideas and words. Advertisers and psychologists know this. It is akin to community singing. It goes back to the primitive, for when men were young they acted in the mass. They did not get off in couples and dance erotically. They came out in the circle before the fire and the moon and danced in a mass.

"The vocabulary of the craze is most interesting. This ickie hopkie flat foot floogie stuff is what might be called neologism, or the making up of words, which is typical of children. Words also have a tendency to form in dreams and in mental disorders. It is like Vachel Lindsay's 'mumbo-jumbo, god of the Congo.' verse. In a way it is like the hysteris of war or witch hunting or the mob spirit of lynchings.

"It is probably less harmful as a release for emotion than the mass attendance and behavior at fights or some athletic events, when all the action is vicarious. Here the people act themselves, in a healthful manner. So far as the adult is concerned it is a form of regression, of going backward into happier times."

Looking at Hollywood by Ed Sullivan

The Mirror.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 25.—At the out-of-town newspaper stand on Vine street, Margaret Lindsay buying a Dubuque, Ia., paper. . . . Clark Gable towering over his paw. . . . Charlie Rogers, Gus Edwards, and Marc Lachmann in a huddle. . . . Rogers will film Edwards' life, and call it "The Star Maker." . . . Hope they don't forget the scene in which Gus introduced "Over There" for George M. Cohan in a Baltimore armory, to still a panic. . . . The word had gone out that President Wilson would be assassinated that night at the Baltimore Liberty Loan rally, and the place was full of secret service men.

In the middle of the big show, somebody cut the wires and the armory was plunged into darkness. . . . Cohan rushed Edwards out on the darkened stage and Gus sang "Over There," which Cohan had just composed. . . . As he got to the second chorus, autos were driven to the armory windows and he had auto headlights for a spotlight.

Director Frank Lloyd, after a sneak-preview of Ronald Colman's "If I Were King," admits grudgingly that it looks O. K. . . . Franchot Tone lunching with John Garfield on the Warner lot. . . . Bonita Granville with Frankie Thomas. . . . Mack Millar, limping on a nail-punctured foot. . . . A. C. Blumenthal, Roy Del Ruth, and Darryl Zanuck. . . . Ella Logan, Scotch warbler, applauding Maxine Sullivan's Scotch swing versions at Phil Selznick's.

Luise Rainer patting the little dog that killed a rattlesnake on her place. . . . The "rattlesnake" was a gopher snake, which is harmless. . . . John Payne, his right cheek swollen from a spider bite. . . . Victor Fleming, M.-G.-M. director [his last was "Test Pilot"], in the commissary. . . . Fleming now is being used as a trouble shooter on the M.-G.-M. lot. . . . When pictures are completed they call him in to polish 'em off by directing added scenes.

At the "Carefree" preview, Astaire stops the show cold with his golf dance, big league stuff. . . . Myrna Loy waves to Pete Smith. . . . Louis B. Mayer and Eddie Mannix entering the new administration building at M.-G.-M., which is named after Irving Thalberg. . . . It is a grand memorial to Thalberg. . . . Lefty James, the Broderick of western police, with Col. Snyder, on Sunset.

"Change Partners" in the Astaire-Rogers picture is one of the grandest melodies Astaire has ever penned. . . . When the violins hit the middle strain it does something to you, inside. . . . Song writers, I think, do the greatest job week in and week out.

There seems to be no end to fine songs and this poor old earth has need of harmony. . . . Dick Foran and his pretty wife. . . . Skulls made of plaster as favors at the Boris Karloff party, which is a short-cut to indigestion.

The giant DC-4 sweeping low over Los Angeles, the throb of its four motors throttled. . . . Kids along North Alta drive rushing to the street as the tinkling bell of the ice cream vendor invades the block. . . . George Brent with Minna Wallis, his agent. . . . Anatole Litvak and Mike Romanoff in a discussion of the Bible.

Thornton Delehanty with Whitney Bolton, talking shop. . . . Newspaper men meet such interesting shops. . . . Carmel Blum, who was the cinema's Carmel Myers, and still a gorgeous thing. . . . Countess Dorothy di Frasso back in town with the McKinley Bryants, complaining of eastern heat. . . . Harry Ritz excited over the news that Al Ritz bought four race horses at Saratoga. . . . Madame Jeritza [Mrs. Winnie Sheehan] hosting a luncheon at their place on Angelo drive. . . . No sweller person in town than Jeritza, and her comedy stories about her opera experiences are hilarious.

Olivia De Havilland, sans stockings. . . . Several dozen extras, dressed as navy officers, doing the Big Apple for "Wings of the Navy." . . . Invitations for the preview of Sonja Henie's next, "My Lucky Star." . . . June Knight and Art Cameron, who get married Saturday. . . . Paul Muni, who will not go before the cameras for several months, because of story changes.

Night clubs flooded with movie stars after the Tallulah Bankhead première. . . . Jimmy Stewart with the Henry Fondas. . . . Alice Faye with the Ben Oaklands. . . . At the Charles Boyer party, the wives slashing up mutual friends.

In the M.-G.-M. commissary they point out Gustave MacHaty to sightseers. . . . He's the chap who made "Ecstasy," which introduced Hedy La Marr to pictures. . . . Max Reinhardt and Conrad Nagel, sitting in a parked car, threshing out something serious, judging from their grave faces.

The chap in front of Grauman's Chinese, unrecognized by the kid fans. . . . Richard Barthelmess, a biggie in his day. . . . Walter Connolly and Howard Benedict arguing about poker. . . . They have a Saturday night poker club, and now they're saving the kitty to buy some selling platers to race at Santa Anita and Inglewood. . . . They ought to call it the royal flush stable.

Walt Disney mapping out plans for the zoo and miniature park at his new studios, for kids. . . . At the Clover club "Happy Bert" Lahr and his Mildred cutting up on a tango. . . . Harpo Marx, with a silk scarf wrapped around his neck, and with a beret perched on top of his skull.

Phil Barney, columnist on the Tampa Tribune, suggests an interesting idea, a column query to the movie fans to learn what picture has drawn greatest "repeat" business. . . . He points out that Tampa's assistant city engineer, Art Barclay, has seen "Naughty Marietta" twenty times; that Conde Nast's sister has seen it twenty-nine times. . . . What picture has drawn you back to a theater repeatedly?

Bernie Nash and other Chicagoans have done some weather bureau research as the result of H. B. Warner's recollection of Chicago's heat in 1915, when he played there in "Among Those Present." . . . They point out that Warner is mixed up in his dates, as he played there in 1918, and that the hottest day was 91 degrees, instead of 107 degrees, as he claimed.

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

BEG YOUR PARDON

The annual fall fashion show of the Chicago and Illinois Hairdressers, to be held next Wednesday evening at the Edgewater Beach hotel, is open to the public, but is not free, as stated in this column yesterday.

In case you don't know about it, there's a rouge now that's natural. A white rouge that can be used by all. It's for blondes, brunettes, redheads, and all the in-betweens. That sounds like a lot of things coming out of one little box, but that's the way it is.

This rouge is white when first made, but in the box it turns to a very delicate orchid shade. You look at it and think that you're putting on nothing, but just watch and see what happens. The natural oils of your skin are tinted and this rouge combines with your own color and produces a glow in a shade belonging just to you. You are bringing out your own color, of course, but the rouge is the key.

With your finger tips—never a puff—you apply a little of the rouge and blend it into the skin until you have the amount of color you want. Once this is done you are practically set for the day, as far as keeping the youthful glow is concerned. Rain or shine, you are not a paleface, for it's waterproof. It takes soap and water or a little cold cream to get it off.

It will be as good in August as it was in January, for after all it is your own color that is being brought to the fore. If you decide gradually to change this color from the lily white of the winter to one of the golden brown shades that come with the following of the golf ball, swinging the tennis racket, or splashing in the water, you are still all set.

Things are made easier every day. If you have ever noticed the number of women going around with splotches of cheek color that are way off tone you can appreciate the advantage of being able to bring out a natural coloring.

It is still a good idea, however, to do your applying in the DAYLIGHT.

FLORENCE MURDOCH.

Autumn Beauty Plan Includes Voice, Posture

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Regardless of all that has been said, preached, and harangued about the two subjects—there are two fields in which women have failed in their scramble for improvement, two of the most vital elements in the beautiful femme ensemble. These are posture and voice.

Think of the money that is spent annually on cosmetics, on clothes, on accessories, on all of the items that are meant to make the woman what she would like to be. Then think of the numbers of women you know who really walk well, who really talk well.

Now we have ahead of us a fall and winter in which we women do get down to business seriously. We make plans to take up French again, to read good books, to work at this, that, and the other cultural thing so that the season will not be lost in a sea of uselessness. For this fall and winter program, why not include the promise to better the posture and the voice? Think of what fifteen minutes a day devoted to each of these cultural pursuits—and cultural they are—would do by next spring.

Why we women aren't more conscious about posture is strange, since we never let another kind of beauty tip slide by that we think we can use to advantage. And here's one with the greatest advantage of all, since it smartens one up mentally as well as physically and pictorially, and we keep on slumping and dragging the feet along.

How about it? Will you include it in the fall program?

Aurora Resident, 103, Dean of Old Settlers' Picnic

Aurora's old settlers met for their annual picnic yesterday at Philips park, in Aurora. Bert Wilder, 103 years old, who is older than the city itself, and its ranking resident, attended and reviewed the history of its development. Of the 5,000 old settlers in attendance, three others had passed their 90th birthday, fourteen couples had observed their fiftieth wedding anniversary, and one pioneer resident, A. J. Denney, had traveled from Los Angeles to attend the outing.

Old Fashioned Mother Keeps Suitors Away

BY DORIS BLAKE.

[Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Our young women seem to be divided into groups of those whose parents permit them every advantage to meet personable young men, and parents whose interest appears to be to block every chance a girl might have.

How much old world training is back of tales committed to us where the girl is denied opportunities, we do not know. In a number of cases we suspect this to be the influence, as it may be in the case of the girl who writes:

"I am 18 and I think I am of an age to meet young people and have a little fun. But I don't know how I am going to meet people when I must sit home every night. My mother says that if any young man loves me he will come to the house. But how is he to come if he never sees me?

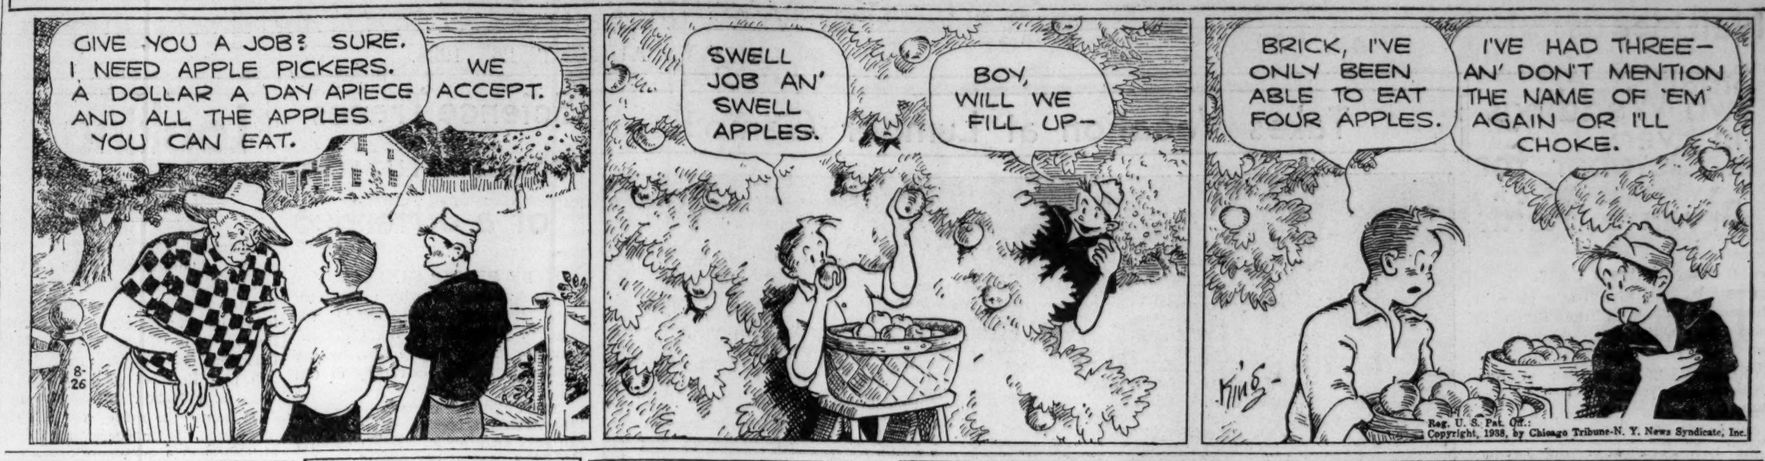

"One young man did come to see me. He was nice and intelligent, but every time he appeared my mother brought up the subject of his marrying me, explaining that she wouldn't let her girl go out with a man alone unless he asked her in marriage. I couldn't step out with him even for a walk, and when he came the whole family sat around. I got so disgusted I told him not to come any more. My mother said: 'See, he was not in earnest. Just a trifler.'

"Another came and the same thing happened. And all she does is to tell me how many fellows wanted her and that she got married at 16.

"You often hear mothers say that their daughters never tell them anything. It is their own fault. If they would act friendlier their girls would welcome the chance to get close to them. If I ever do tell my mother anything she listens and then when she gets angry she throws it up to me. More than anything else I envy girls with mothers to whom they can talk and tell things. You think of your mother as your best friend and when she isn't you feel terribly at a loss to understand things. I lie to my girl friends and say my mother is like theirs—but she isn't."

Mothers, mothers, reading tragedies of youth in your daily papers, can't you see the value of having your girl's confidence? Can't you understand that your wise supervision and direction, not your jail warden attitude, would make you two closer and happier?

GASOLINE ALLEY—CAPACITY LOAD

Adult's Ways Often Puzzle a Youngster

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

(Copyright: 1938: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.)

The little girl was having a beautiful time in the kitchen banging an old tin measuring cup on the floor, her mother having found one she didn't want to use any more.

Absorbed in her new recipe mother's concentration was shattered by the crash of broken china. She turned and saw her small daughter had picked up a china cup and banged that on the floor, too.

Anger, slapped hands were the immediate response. "You're a bad little girl!" the mother exclaimed.

If we could only cut those words "good" and "bad" in our handling of little children we'd be much more successful and our children would be much happier. What can a little boy or girl around 2 or 3 or 4 know about "goodness" and "badness"? They know that some things they do bring disapproval and other things bring approval. And they learn—laboriously—to try to do those things that do not bring scoldings, or perhaps slapped hands, or even spankings.

Now, what really did happen that this mother described as bad? What did the little girl do? She took a cup from a table and banged it on the floor until it broke. But that same little girl when she's in the kitchen is allowed to play with the pots and pans and covers and to bang them around. How could she tell the difference between say, an aluminum cup that makes a nice sound when banged on the floor and brings a smile to her mother's face, and a china cup which, when banged, makes a much nicer crash?

Why should the second happening bring scolding or a spank? These things are confusing to children.

Children, even when little, can be made to understand much more than we give them credit for.

Of course, when children are very, very little—just beginning to feel the thrill of using their muscles and experimenting with their sense of touch, even reasons won't avail. They are too young. It is up to us to do the managing then and to keep them out of what we call mischief, or to handle them intelligently when damage is done.

U. of C. Confers Degrees on 564 Graduates Today

The University of Chicago will hold its 193d convocation today in Rockefeller Memorial chapel. Vice President Frederic Woodward will confer degrees upon 564 graduates. Dean William H. Spencer of the school of business will deliver the convocation address, "Reflection on Regimentation."

The Housewife

Here's a real find for the housewife who wants to waterproof wallpaper for screens or the bathroom or kitchen walls. Many women have been using shellac, but even the colorless shellac will turn the paper slightly brown. If you have a charming, pale pink paper with delicate flowers on it you certainly don't want the effect spoiled by a brown tinge. Nor do you want a high gloss such as shellac gives.

The answer is to use a thin, liquid wax. This positively will not color the most fragile paper. It will make it water resistant. It will not coat it with a big shine, either. It comes highly recommended by a talented young amateur decorator who uses it all the time with great success. It's not expensive and it goes on quickly.

Heart Invalids Need Ice, Even on Cooler Days

BY DORIS LOCKERMAN.

In an August pleasanter than most, fortunate vacationers and lakeside dwellers are likely to forget the continued need for ice among the city's poor families. There were no contributions yesterday to the free ice fund.

Cool days, it is true, are a boon to the mothers of healthy babies whose only problem is to keep their milk unspoiled. But comfortable weather does not diminish the need for ice among aged men and women, and by diabetics. Ice for packs, plead the heart patients; ice for insulin, the diabetics.

At the United Charities, which operates the Tribune's free ice fund, there are fewer general appeals than in any August of the fund's record. But, says Mrs. Clea Kemble, to whose desk the letters for help come, there is no abatement to the tragic appeals from emergency cases.

"We can take care of our ordinary requests," she explained. "We can suggest substitute ways to keep milk fresh. But we must act promptly to help those whose lives are endangered by the lack of ice."

It is for these people that THE TRIBUNE asks the continued generosity of its readers. A gift of $1 will preserve food and insulin for a week. It may save a life.

If you can help, please send your contribution to the Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. Each donation will be gratefully acknowledged.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1938: By Ely Culbertson.]

In many hands it is extremely difficult to select the right line of play from a maze of conflicting lines. But when there are only two conceivable plans, the problem of selection is not abstruse. I should take no longer than one or two minutes to weigh one plan against the other.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 heart	Pass	3 clubs	Pass
3 hearts	Pass	4 diamonds	Pass
4 hearts	Pass	4 no trump	Pass
6 hearts	Pass	Pass	Pass

South's jump to six hearts was questionable. He felt that, since he had made minimum rebids on two previous occasions, he should show signs of life at this stage, and that his six card suit justified some aggressiveness. This was not illogical. But, since his honor trick holding was the irreducible minimum, it would have been sounder for him to leave the final decision to his partner. Whether North would have bid a slam, or would have passed to a five heart bid by South, never will be known. But considering South's choice of plays, the partnership might well have stopped at five-odd.

West opened the spade queen. Thinking only a few seconds, declarer won this in his own hand and led a club toward dummy. East won, and returned a spade, dummy winning with the ace. The heart queen then was cashed, followed by a high club upon which declarer discarded his losing spade. Now it became necessary for declarer to reënter his own hand to draw trumps. Easier said than done, however! A third club was led and declarer ruffed with the ten of hearts, but West gleefully overruffed, and the slam contract was down one.

Declarer certainly had made a hash of this hand! His main consideration should have been how he was to return to his own hand after cashing dummy's heart queen. It was all very well to worry about the potential spade and club losers, but the crucial point really was concerned with the trump suit. The proper play was simplicity itself.

Dummy's spade ace should win the first trick, and the heart queen then should be cashed. Declarer should enter his own hand comfortably with the spade king, to lay down the ace and king of hearts. If the jack drops on either of these, declarer is home; if it does not, it is very unlikely that any other line of play would have been more successful.

For Daytime or Evening

WOMAN'S AND MISS' TWO PIECE DRESS.

The two pretty pieces of this daytime dress, which is equally suitable for informal evening occasions, offer an excellent opportunity to combine colors and fabrics. You might unite a light top with a dark bottom, or the skirt might be of a plain shade to harmonize with the print of the blouse. One color may be used for both pieces, of course, with a slide fastener for contrast. Woolens make up especially well in this arrangement.

The blouse of this costume has a V neckline which may have a collar or be built up and worn without one. Buttons or a zipper may be used down the front. Shirring nips the garment snugly to the waistline, and the whole blouse is paneled for superb fit. The sleeves are puffed for squareness at the shoulders, and may be either long or short. The gored skirt is a flattering model that molds the hips and flares at the knees.

Style No. 3330 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18, and 20 years, and 32, 34, 36, 38, 40, and 42 inches bust measurement. Size 36 requires 1⅞ yards of 39 inch material for the blouse, and 2⅛ yards of 39 inch fabric for the skirt.

Nail Heads Put Smart Sparkle in Every Frock

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Fascinating afternoon dresses from the new collections are ready for instant use. The dresses glitter with small metal nail heads. This sort of glitter is far removed from any blatant display of tinsel, sequins, or silly cellophane bubbes that tried the good taste of last year's shoppers. This new trick is glitter and shine with a good reason, and the dresses are grand ideas for semi-dress parade.

Materials are light, thin wools; wools that take this handsome "nailing" with the utmost smoothness; wools that do not sag even with the additional weight of the thousands of twinkling metal dots.

Some of the nail heads are scattered all over the fabric. Some create distinct designs, such as borders, geometric figures, and suggestive floral sprays. Silver nail heads against a gun metal gray wool make a perfect foundation dress with silver fox furs. Wine red wool sparkles just as snappily with the shimmering silver metal dots, and green and dull black offer some pretty spectacular dresses when decorated with the same nail heads.

Sleeves are always short, ending just above the elbow. Bodice tops fit closely to the figure. The skirts, when flared, are that way because of the knowing way the gores are cut—in a circular flare. Even though you have remained cool toward metallics and spangles and sequins, you still crave something new, something dress parade that doesn't look like a circus parade. These new nail head dresses are right up your shopping alley.

Fashion photograph. . . . Sheer wool sprinkled with dozens and dozens of glistening nail heads makes the smartest of new cocktail or informal dinner dresses. The simple bodice is shirred into a squared shoulder yoke which ends in a very short collar. Sleeves are thick with the nail heads at the edge to match the close formation at the midriff. This dress comes in black with gold metal nail heads or gray with silver. Accessories can be dull black or to match the nail heads.

Nail Heads Trim Dress

[Charmante Photo.]

A new dinner dress of sheer wool is studded with hundreds of metal nail heads. The cuffs and waistline are marked by the heads placed close together. The skirt is flared. The bodice is shirred into a square shoulderline that has a small high collar. Black wool with gold nail heads or grey with silver are available in this model.

Pinwheel Design for Crochet Runner

BY ELLEN BRUCE.

If your apartment is one of those thoroughly modern or recently decorated affairs which dispose of the dining room, there is a necessity for some type of table, an extension, drop leaf, or gateleg, depending upon individual taste and decoration. On these tables are found dainty crocheted runners of the lacy variety, which serve as supper cloths for informal or buffet meals. The crochet runner in the pinwheel design, also known as the "Sunburst" pattern, regardless of its title is a graceful, dainty table cover. The motifs are made and joined to smaller motifs to create an all-over design. There is no trick to making a runner of this type, and the time element is negligible. White or ecru is ideal for the supper table choice, and any shade harmonizing with the wood of the table, or contrasting with the candlesticks and centerpiece, serves a decorative purpose.

(For instructions for crocheting the "Pinwheel" runner, No. X49, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.)

Schools in Suburbs Will Show Increase in Number of Pupils

Attendance in suburban elementary schools is increasing this year, in contrast to a steadily decreasing enrollment in Chicago and the nation at large, Noble J. Puffer, county superintendent of schools, reported yesterday.

The increased attendance is due to building activities which are drawing families outside Chicago city limits, Mr. Puffer said. He estimated that 76,000 elementary pupils will enroll this year, as against 71,764 last year. High school enrollment is expected to increase slightly, from 32,047 to 32,300.

All but 11 of the 339 elementary schools in suburban Cook county will open Sept. 6, the day after Labor day, while of the 25 suburban high schools, 21 will be opened that day or the following one. The remaining schools open Sept. 12, except the Flossmoor elementary school, which, because of incomplete construction on a new building, will not open until Sept. 19.

Illinae Club Tea.

The Chicago Illinae club will give a tea and style show tomorrow at the Lake Shore Athletic club for freshmen girls entering the University of Illinois. Dean Maria Leonard will welcome the prospective students. Mrs. George W. Wilson is chairman of the party.

AIR NEWSPAPERS' ROLES IN UTILITY WAR AT TVA QUIZ

Congressmen Delve Into Advertising Rates.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Chattanooga, Tenn., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Continuing its inquiry into power propaganda, the congressional committee investigating TVA today looked into the advertising rates of three Chattanooga newspapers.

At the end of today's session the committee returned to Knoxville, where it will resume hearings tomorrow on the marble leases of Senator George L. Berry [D., Tenn.].

The principal subject of today's hearing was the struggle between two afternoon newspapers, the Chattanooga Free Press and the Chattanooga News. The Free Press is friendly to private utilities and opposed to the Chattanooga public power project on the ground it will raise taxes. The News is a supporter of the municipal power project.

New System Being Built.

Under the controversial power program a distribution system is being built with the aid of PWA funds to provide Chattanooga with TVA current in competition with a privately owned company.

Testimony today developed that the largest stockholder in the Free Press next to Roy McDonald, the pubisher, is Silas Williams, a power company attorney. He bought $10,500 worth of stock in the paper.

It also was disclosed that the Tennessee Electric Power company, the private company supplying electricity in the Chattanooga area, is paying a higher rate for advertising in the Free Press than in the Chattanooga Times. This brought from Francis Biddle, committee counsel, a remark that the evidence shows the power company has been subsidizing the Free Press.

Utility Advertising Stopped.

The power company stopped advertising in the News shortly after the bond referendum here in March, 1935. In that referendum the municipal distribution system to use TVA power was authorized.

John C. Costello, vice president of the power company, testified that the Tennessee Electric Power company discontinued its advertising because its contract had expired and circulation of the News had fallen off.

The hearing developed into a discussion of advertising rates and their basis. In the course of this, Everett Allen, manager of the Free Press, accused Biddle of a breach of faith in seeking to make public the contracts with other advertisers.

Finally the information was put into the record labeled A, B, and C, instead of with names. Representative Charles A. Wolverton [R., N. J.], demanded to know why the inquiry had been confined to the Free Press instead of including the other two papers.

Arithmetic Plays Part.

Arithmetic took up much of the session. Costello testified that in 1937, the first full year of the Free Press as a daily paper, the power company spent $19,873 with the Free Press and $13,229 with the Times and only $240 with the News.

Costello said the company had no contract with the Free Press, and that the advertising, 47 per cent of which was color, ran about $1.10 an inch, as compared with 98 cents in the Times. This would mean a difference of about $2,400 as a possible subsidy, it was pointed out, had the rates been the same.

On the basis of the figures from Allen, it was computed that the power company, with no contract, paid $1.26 an inch for advertising in the Free Press in 1937, while the next largest advertiser in the paper paid 55 cents.

Never Offered Contract.

Allen testified he never offered the power company a contract. "If I can get 98 cents," he said, "I don't want to take 55 cents. These rates are not comparable."

"Is any rate fixed in the state for legal advertising?" asked Wolverton.

"Many papers charge a premium," said Allen. "We have a political rate."

"Higher or lower?" asked Wolverton.

"It's as high as we can get," answered Allen, "$1.05 an inch." Traveling amusements pay $1.12 and commercial advertisers 98 cents, he said.

"Well, the politicians are worse off than the power company, then," said Wolverton.

"They're a poorer risk, and frequency of insertion is lower," commented Senator H. H. Schwartz [D., Wyo.].

Bank Employe Accused of Posing as a Lawyer

Judge Eugene L. McGarry in the Renters' court yesterday ordered William R. Walleck, a bank employé, to show why he should not be held in contempt of court for practicing law. Walleck, who lives at 7721 Forest Preserve drive, said he merely represented his bank in an eviction case.

Rollo A. Butler and his prize German shepherd, Mystic, demonstrating one of its tricks.

The big brindle and black dog was nearly dead when Rollo A. Butler found him in a Kansas City alley four years ago. He was starving and was suffering from distemper. It was only after the big fellow regained his health that Butler realized he was an unusually fine German shepherd. Butler named him Mystic.

Soon afterward Butler, who is 36 years old, was injured seriously in a Kansas City automobile plant where he worked. Paralysis set in. His funds ran low. As a last hope of getting money for food he exhibited Mystic at an amateur show. He won.

Yesterday Butler passed through Chicago on the way to New York where Mystic's tricks may win him a competence before he becomes totally paralyzed. This, physicans say, will be soon.

"He is doing for me what I did for him," said Butler.

FIRES CLAIMANT TO LEADERSHIP OF SYRIAN CHURCH

Toledo, O., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Alexander III., patriarch of Antioch, in a manifesto made public today ex-communicated Archbishop Samuel David, pastor of St. George's church here and claimant to the titular leadership of the Syrian Orthodox church in the United States, Canada, and Mexico.

Archbishop Samuel David.

Patriarch Alexander, supreme head of the Apostolic See of Antioch and the Orient, declared the consecration as archbishop of the Toledo clergyman to be uncanonical and ordered the clergy and laity of the Syrian church to refrain from having communion with him or from receiving spiritual ministration from him.

The excommunication climaxes a schism which arose following the death in 1934 by Archbishop Victor Aboassaly, former head of the Syrian Orthodox church in North America.

500 LAKE CRAFT TO TAKE PART IN RADIO REGATTA

Chicago's first "Radio Regatta" will be held Sunday. Five hundred lake craft are expected to join in the regatta. Broadcasts from radio equipped vessels will be picked up by radio stations in the city.

The event, which is sponsored by Mayor Kelly's new century committee, will begin in the early afternoon with fleets of boats leaving the Jackson park and Montrose-Wilson harbors. They will meet at Navy pier. Before the boats leave the harbors a show featuring coast guard life saving exhibitions, water skiing, and aquaplaning will be presented.

The fleet parades will be led by the United States Coast Guard cutters Escanaba, Rush, and Antenna. The latter will be brought from Milwaukee to participate in the show.

CUBS WHIP DODGERS TWICE; GAIN ON PIRATES

WHITE AND ISBELL ARE ALL-STARS' ANSWER TO BAUGH

ROBBINS, HEAP ALSO READY TO THROW PASSES

CoachesPromisePro Eleven a Battle..

BY WILFRID SMITH.

The All-Americans raced through their drill yesterday afternoon in Dyche stadium spurred by the approaching date with the Washington Redskins in Soldiers' field Wednesday evening and the knowledge that they are well prepared for whatever gridiron tests Sammy Baugh and his mates give them.

Although the All-Star squad meets each morning for discussion of plays and strategy in the team room under the stadium stands, Coach Bo McMillin now has limited the physical drills to one each day. The All-Stars will drill this afternoon and tomorrow afternoon. Contact work will be the routine in each. Sunday the squad will begin to taper off so that all will be ready for the Redskins, who will arrive in Chicago that day.

Leave Camp Monday.

Monday will be the last day for the team to work out at Northwestern. It will hold secret practice Tuesday evening in Soldiers' field.

In yesterday's practice, the fourteenth day of labor for the All-Americans, they demonstrated again that they have a triple threat offensive. Probably this All-American squad has a greater diversity of talent than had any preceding group.

Immediate cause for rejoicing in the All-Star camp is the showing of Corby Davis, Indiana full back, and Byron [Whizzer] White, University of Colorado half back. Davis scrimmaged Wednesday for the first time since he was injured early the preceding week, but the big full back rammed into the line on four consecutive plays with a power that will be just what the All-Stars need to tighten the Washington defense so that passes and wide runs will be effective.

Patrick Is Ready, Too.

The All-Americans also have Frank Patrick of Pittsburgh, a triple threat with his plunging, passing, and kicking, but no one expects Patrick to play the entire game. With Davis ready to relieve Patrick and with additional aid from Clay Calhoun of Loyola university [New Orleans] and Milton Popovich, Montana, the All-Stars have power to throw at the center of the Washington line.

This summary must also include the power available when Vic Spadaccini of Minnesota or Fred Vanzo of Northwestern are at the quarter back position.

Whizzer White already has shown the fans that he is a great passer. Whether he is as accurate as Sammy Baugh will have to be determined Wednesday night, but many now back the Whizzer in the coming passing duel with Baugh. White will not be called upon to carry the full burden of the passing. Cecil Isbell for two weeks has thrown pass after pass. In Wednesday's scrimmage he completed three forward passes in the march for the Red team's first touchdown.

These Boys Can Pass, Too.

Then there's Jack Robbins of Arkansas, quite a passer in any game, whose effectiveness is enhanced when his former teammate, Jim Benton, is at left end. Don Heap of Northwestern also must be included in a list of excellent passers. Any one of this quartet might throw the pass to defeat Washington.

Although White reported after one week's work with the Pittsburgh Pirates, in two days he had learned the assignments for the left half back position. He didn't have to study to demonstrate his ability to pass and kick. White probably will have the kicking job when he's in the game. With Isbell, Patrick, and Popovich in shape to punt when necessary, the

THE GUMPS—TOO MANY COPS SPOIL THE BROTH!

BILL LEE WINS, 3 TO 2, YIELDS ONLY FOUR HITS

Tex Carleton Takes Second, 5 to 4.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

Bill Lee and Tex Carleton, who last Sabbath thrilled 40,402 with their twin victory act, played an encore yesterday, said encore being a 3 to 2 success for Lee over the Brooklyn Dodgers in the first game and a 5 to 4 decision for Carleton in the second match.

Because the Pirates dropped two games to the Phillies, the Cubs were able to shave two games off the league leaders' margin. The Cubs' pennant bee remained in his chromium plated hive, however, for the Chicagoans still are 6½ games out of first place with thirty-seven engagements to go.

There was considerable difference between the manner in which Lee rang up his 16th victory and the way Tex registered his No. 10. Bill held the Dodgers to four hits, but had to work like everything, principally because of a single and a homer by Gordon Phelps, both of which figured in run making.

Carleton Yields 13 Hits.

Carleton yielded thirteen hits and there was no inning in the first seven in which the Dodgers didn't smack at least one safety off the Comanche long man. He was aided considerably by four double plays. Three of these eminated from the bat of Johnny Hudson to tie the National league record for this kind of futile wand waving by one individual.

Carleton spotted the Dodgers four runs before the Cubs got busy and tied the score with two runs in the fourth and two runs in the fifth. The tie continued until Wayne La Master forced Carleton across the plate with the winning run in the eighth with two out, the bases loaded, and the count three balls and two strikes, when he walked Stan Hack.

Sixth Home Victory.

The two ply triumph, in addition to the gains it effected in the first division of the National league, put Gabby Hartnett's managerial tabulation two games above the .500 mark and boosted the Cubs' home stand record to six victories against only seven defeats. Three of the victories were credited to Carleton, two to Lee, and one to Page.

FIRST GAME

Bill Lee pitched perfect baseball in the first four innings of the first game. Only two of the first twelve batsmen who faced him got the ball out of the infield and none extended the Cub defense. And Bill was excellent the rest of way, as witness his four hit performance, the second four hitter, by the way, in successive games by Cub pitchers.

Half of the Brooklyn hit total was accomplished by Babe Phelps, in an opening lineup for the first time since he broke his right hand on July 1. His single, the first hit off Lee, in the fifth inning helped along the first Dodger run and the second Phelps smack was a homer in the seventh. The other hits were a single by Mungo in the sixth and a double by Rosen in the eighth.

First Inning Painful.

With anything less than the prospect of good pitching by Lee, the Cubs' first inning would have been very painful, indeed. They eked out a grand total of one run on a single, two walks, a hit batsman, and a wild pitch with the bases loaded. The inning ended, as did the second inning, with one of those double play things which have been so distinctly a part of the Cub offense this season.

Fortunately, however, the Cubs avoided hitting into a double play in the fourth, a session in which they scored two runs, which proved to be just the number required for victory purposes.

Reynolds led off the fourth with a single and, after Cavarretta had flied

Hero Once in Soldiers' Field, Puplis Is Prepared to Repeat

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Andy Puplis of Notre Dame will be right at home on Soldiers' field next Wednesday night when he takes his place at quarter back for the college All-Stars in their game with the Washington Redskins.

It was on this field he played one of his greatest games seven years ago when he was just a Harrison Tech High school kid who hoped to be a star. Now he returns to his home town and to this familiar field to play his last game. And he comes back with the greatest honor the football fans can give a college athlete.

In the recent nation-wide poll he drew 963,407 votes. This earned him a place in the All-Star starting lineup.

"Andy to Andy" Then.

In that game on Soldiers' field seven years ago, Puplis and his Harrison teammates, who had won the City league title with twelve straight victories, defeated Mount Carmel, Catholic league champion. A famous passing combination known as "Andy to Andy" figured prominently in this encounter, the other Andy being Andy Pilney, who also went on to distinguish himself at Notre Dame.

That Harrison team of 1931 then went down to Florida for a post season game in which it defeated Miami High school, which had been unbeaten for three years. The score was 19 to 0.

Thus Puplis got into the habit of playing winning football in the early stages of his career. The Chicago football public has had its eye on him ever since, and it will be particularly eager to see him do something big in Wednesday's night's game.

Outstanding Field General.

He did outstanding work with Notre Dame last season as a field general and as a ball carrier, his ability to return punts figuring prominently in several Notre Dame victories.

In the Minnesota game, for instance, his returns fully offset the Gophers' superior kicking ability. In the first few minutes of play, he brought the spectators to their feet by receiving a punt on his own 28 yard line and zigzagging to the Minnesota 43 yard line. A few minutes later he took another on his own 33 and ran to his opponents' 34. Later he caught the Gophers off guard with a quarter back sneak that scored a touchdown. Then he completed the job by kicking goal to give Notre Dame a 7 to 6 victory.

In the Army game he also showed both his level headed generalship and his punt returning skill. After Notre Dame had scored in the first seven minutes of play, Puplis directed the team so well that this lead was easily held until the finish. In the course of the battle he ran a punt from his own 5 yard line to his 45 yard line.

Again he showed up well under pressure in the Northwestern game, which Notre Dame won, 7 to 0, when Chuck Sweeney, who is now an end on the All-Star squad, recovered a blocked punt behind the goal line for a touchdown. Puplis' placement kick brought the score to its final status.

The umpire will sing "O Promise Me." The game will start after the wedding.

Transfer of Franchise to St. Louis Refused.

New York, Aug. 25.—(AP)—The Montreal Maroons of the National Hocky league, in dire financial straits during the last two seasons, today were granted permission to suspend operations for one year by the league's board of governors.

As a result the league will operate with seven teams during the 1938-'39 season—the New York Rangers and New York Americans, Toronto Maple-leafs, Montreal Canadiens, Boston Bruins, Detroit Red Wings, and Chicago Blackhawks.

Beset by Troubles.

Before approving the suspension, the governors rejected the club's application to transfer its franchise to St. Louis under option. This arrangement would have given the Reconstruction Investment company of St. Louis the right to buy the team within three years. But since the St. Louis interests put up no cash and gave no guarantee of how long they would be willing to operate the club, League President Frank Calder said the governors felt this would not be a satisfactory solution.

Application for the transfer was made by Thomas P. Gorman and F. B. Common of the Maroons. It was Common who informed the club's directors that the application had been rejected, and who then asked for permission to suspend operations.

A similar request had been rejected by the governors earlier in the year. This time, however, with the opening of the season a little over two months away, it was felt that suspension would be the best solution to the troubles of the Maroons.

Players to Be Rented.

Gorman, president of the Maroons and general manager of the Montreal Forum, home rink of both the Maroons and the Canadiens, said that the club's players would be rented during the coming season to the highest bidders.

LEWIS FLATTENS ITALIAN FIGHTER IN THIRD ROUND

Early in the third round, Lewis put Ceccarelli down for a count of nine with two hard rights to the head and he followed with two more to put him out.

BOSTON BATTERS POOR, TIRED SOX, 1 TO 0 AND 9 TO 5

Lax Base Running Spoils Knott's Good Pitching.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Aug. 25.—The White Sox, who had been feeling right pert as the result of five triumphs in nine starts, tumbled into evil ways again today. Boston's costly Red Sox, recently aroused to the money possibilities of second place, ran the Chicagoans into the ground in both halves of a double-header, once by the slim margin of 1 to 0 and later by the emphatic score of 9 to 5, an affair in which John Whitehead was forced into a nose dive.

The first game easily could have been a Chicago triumph if Jack Knott hadn't been so unfortunate as to encounter an opponent more brilliant and luckier than himself. The opponent was Jack Wilson, who, as the box score attests, held the Sox to five hits. What the box score does not show is a pair of sensational fielding plays by Manager Joe Cronin in the last two innings, when James Dykes' tourists had the tying run on base. But this probably was just compensation for the Chicagoans, who at the very start had wrecked a possible scoring incident by foolhardy running.

All that Whitehead needed to succeed in the second game was to shade old Joe Heving, who recently made the last of his many trips between the minors and majors. For a stretch it looked to 10,000 customers as if portly John might respond, but finally something happened while he was ahead, 3 to 2. The Red Sox crashed him for five hits and as many runs in the sixth and John went away, leaving room for Gene Ford, the Iowa product, who suffered a bit of a bruising before the party was completed.

FIRST GAME

The only chance the White Sox had to do business with Wilson in the first six innings of the opening battle came in the first inning. It was ruined by Walker's inclination to run blind on the bases. Owen singled to right with one out and went to third on Walker's single into the same spot, but Walker tried to go to second on the return throw and was nipped. The Chicagoans didn't see base again until the seventh, when Owen led off with a single. He was forced by Walker, who went to second on Radcliff's out. Appling walked and Walker stole third, but Kreevich flied to Nonnenkamp.

Knott weathered a couple of stormy spots before being scored on in the seventh. A single by Cramer and a pass to Foxx in the third was cleaned up on a double play into which Cronin grounded. Desautels' single and a pass to Vosmik put two on again in the fifth with two out, and this brought up the dangerous Foxx. Foxx slapped a tall fly into Radcliff's hands. Then in the home seventh Doerr and Wilson settled it, the former by doubling off the left field fence and the latter by singling to left.

Cronin Saves Wilson.

Cronin came to Wilson's aid in both the eighth and ninth innings. Dykes opened the eighth with a single and was on second with two out when Kuhel slashed a low liner toward center. Cronin charged toward his left, knocked down the ball with his gloved hand, and recovered in time to get the decision at first.

Owen blew open the ninth with a double to left and Walker hit what looked like a cinch single to left. Cronin leaped into the air, caught the ball with one hand, and threw to Doerr to double Owen off second.

SECOND GAME

Whitehead was slapped for three hits before any one was retired in the first inning of the second game; hence, two runs. Cramer doubled to

JOCKY M'COMBS RIDES HIS WAY INTO LEAD AGAIN

Pilots 3 Winners for 29 Total at Washington.

BY FRENCH LANE.

Jocky Kenneth McCombs was back on the top of the heap and smiling down at his riding rivals at Washington Park last night.

After a three day deadlock with Nunzio Pariso, McCombs sailed back into the lead early yesterday afternoon when he climbed aboard the odds-on favorite Gay Jane in the third race, beat his rivals away from the barrier, then kept the daughter of Transmute on top the rest of the way home.

He increased his advantage in the fifth race when he piloted old Chimney Top home in the day's feature for his 28th winning ride of the meeting. In this engagement he again was on top from end to end to win by three lengths. At times during the mile and a sixteenth run away Chimney Top was in front of his nearest rival by five lengths.

Chimney Top Pays $11.

Chimney Top was not the favorite. After he stepped the mile and seventy yards in the slow time of 1:47 over a heavy track he paid off at $11 for a $2 ticket. While all this was happening Pariso, a little desperate at times, could not get the horses he was riding into winning stride.

He had rolled up a third on the favorite Hypo in the first race, was third again on Sky Haven in the second, then finished second on Maewhisk in the third. He was out of the money in the fourth, then finished third again on Prince Torch in the race which Chimney Top won so easily. Sam Alexander finished second in that battle.

Pariso was so close to victory all afternoon that his followers took on new heart. He again was second on Don Cossack in the sixth race, beaten by Texas Boy after the two leaders had engaged in a bumping match in midstretch. McCombs was in the saddle on Backintime in this race. He finished third.

Speed Horses Get Inside Post.

Speed horses had drawn the inside post position all afternoon and once in front it was a difficult job for those out in the heavier going to move up from behind and catch them.

Pariso again knocked at the door in the seventh, but couldn't quite make the winner's circle. He was in the saddle on Onyourway and charged into the stretch leading by a length and a half. Onyourway was gradually picked up by Gatlin and finally beaten in the last strides. He finished second. Smiling Prince was third.

McCombs was substituted for Jocky Porter Roberts on Butter Beans in the eighth race and scored his third victory of the afternoon. This triumph brough his total to 29 for the Washington Park season.

PATTY BERG IN SEMI-FINALS OF WESTERN GOLF

Minneapolis Star Beats Miss Dudley, 7 and 6.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

Patricia Berg, the Minneapolis redhead who has been making a one gal show of American women's golf since Jan. 1, yesterday afternoon gave one of her better performances and thereby advanced to the semi-final round of the 38th annual closed tournament of the Women's Western Golf association at Olympia Fields.

Patty's latest act consisted of a 7 and 6 victory over Eleanor Dudley of Ridge, Illinois women's champion, in one of yesterday's four quarter-final matches. By way of indicating that she means to win her ninth title in twelve tournaments this year, Patricia dashed off seven birdies and three pars for twelve of the holes she played. Par for the remaining six holes would have given her a 75, four under women's par for the full route over the No. 4 course.

Meets Miss Johnson Today.

Today Miss Berg will meet Shirley Ann Johnson of Sunset Ridge, only Chicago survivor. The blonde Northwestern co-ed, who recently was runner-up in the Chicago district tournament, wrought an upset of her own by defeating Mrs. Opal S. Hill, Kansas City veteran who has held the title thrice. Miss Johnson's margin was 2 and 1. Mrs. Hill, who three putted four greens, won only one hole, the 137 yard 16th, where she nearly scored an ace.

The second semi-final this afternoon will bring together bespectacled Edith Estabrooks, the Dubuque, Ia., youngster who formerly held the association's junior crown, and Mrs. Burt Weil of Cincinnati, who provided the main upset of the tournament when she eliminated Marion Miley of Lexington, Ky., defending champion, in Wednesday's second round.

Edith Scores Easily.

Miss Estabrooks prepared for her semi-final appearance by putting out Mrs. Dan Chandler of Dallas, Tex., 5 and 4. Edith was out in 40 for a two hole advantage, and was one under par for the fourteen holes necessary for a decision. Mrs. Weil had more of a problem in Ellamae Williams of Medinah. The latter was 3 down at the turn, Mrs. Weil going to the tenth tee with an out nine of even par 39. The Cincinnati matron took the eleventh, but Ellamae fought back to take the twelfth, fourteenth and seventeenth and leave herself only 1 down on the eighteenth tee. Miss Williams' chip for a birdie 4 grazed the hole, and then Mrs. Weil got down a seven footer for a winning birdie and a 2 up verdict. Both were out in 80, one over par.

Eleanor's Putter Fails.

Patty won the first hole with a 6, Miss Dudley three-putting. The Minneapolis star was on the second and third in two for a pair of birdies, and then planted an iron four feet from the fifth pin for another. She would have been out in 35, even par for men, except for a 5 at the 140 yard sixth, where she put her tee shot in the water. She redeemed that by reaching the seventh in two for a birdie, and topped off the nine by holing an eighteen inch putt at the ninth. A twelve footer fell for another birdie on the tenth, where Miss Dudley matched her, and it was all over after the twelfth when Patty sank a six footer.

Quarter-final summaries:

Edith Estabrooks, Dubuque, Ia., defeated Mrs. Dan Chandler, Dallas, 5 and 4.
Mrs. Burt Weil, Cincinnati, defeated Ellamae Williams, Medinah, 2 up.
Patty Berg, Minneapolis, defeated Eleanor Dudley, Ridge, 7 and 6.
Shirley Ann Johnson, Sunset Ridge, defeated Mrs. O. S. Hill, Kansas City, 2 and 1.

Miss Estabrooks vs. Mrs. Weil.
Miss Berg vs. Miss Johnson.

Summaries of first flight semi-final matches:

Mildred Hackl, Midlothian, defeated Janet Shock, Dayton, 3 and 2.
Virginia Nilles, Park Ridge, defeated Ruth Smith, Ottumwa, Ia., 4 and 3.

Today's final pairings:

Miss Hackl vs. Miss Nilles.

Newsboy Golfer Leads Advance on Public Links

Cleveland, O., Aug. 25.—(AP)—A 16 year old newsboy attracted the most attention today as the semi-finals field was formed in the national public links golf tournament. Bart Taro of Seattle, youngest player in the field, won easy third round and quarter-final victories to qualify for tomorrow's thirty-six hole tests, along with Louis Cyr and Eddie Beck, both of Portland, Ore., and Al Leach of Cleveland.

Taro trounced Lloyd Nordstrom of Davenport, Ia., 4 and 3, in the morning's third round. Nordstrom had eliminated the defending champion, Bruce McCormick, of Los Angeles, yesterday.

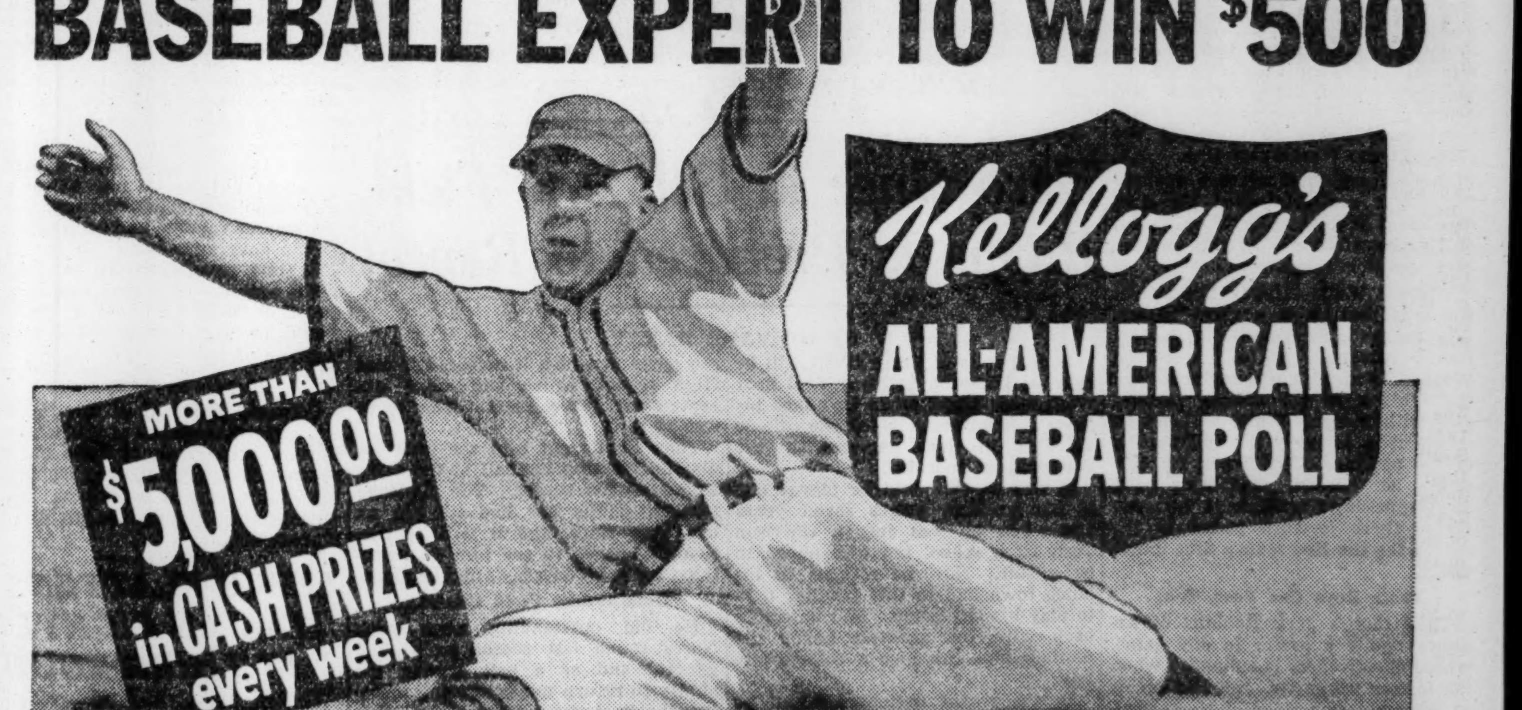

Taro won his second match of the day from Dennis Lavender of Dallas, Tex., 3 and 2. Portland made certain of having a representative playing in Saturday's final for the year's highest honor for daily fee course shotmakers. Beck, Cyr, and a third Portland contestant, Tab Boyer, competed in the day's upper quarter-final bracket, with Cyr eliminating Boyer to qualify as an opponent for Beck, who eliminated Ralph Evans of Santa Monica, Cal.

In the lower bracket Leach advanced to the semi-finals at the expense of Tommy Bolt of Shreveport, La., and tomorrow he will play Taro. Cyr, a railroad worker, who gained the sixty-fourth qualifying berth in a playoff, defeated Neil Whitney of Los Angeles, 2 and 1, with a fine putting game, and he kept his putter clicking to defeat Boyer, 3 and 2.

Beck sank a 150 yard approach shot while winning from Evans, 3 and 1. In the morning he defeated Alton Age of Louisville, Ky., 3 and 2.

Leach, a WPA timekeeper and Cleveland public links champion, beat Andrew Szwedko of Pittsburgh, 4 and 3, and took Bolt into Camp, 2 and 1.

out, scored on O'Dea's double. O'Dea then scored the winning run on Collins' single to left.

The Cubs made a hit in every inning of the ball game, but they never scared Mungo much after the fourth.

SECOND GAME

The Dodgers started the scoring in the second inning of the second game with a combination of socking and Cub fielding deficiency. With one down Koy doubled off the left field wall and scored on Lavagetto's single to right. Rogers fanned, then Tamulis rolled a grounder between Herman's heels, Lavagetto reaching third and Tamulis first on the error. Rosen singled to right, scoring Lavagetto. Hudson considerably flied to Reynolds.

Two more runs were added by the Dodgers in the third inning. Hassett and Camilli singled, after which Phelps tripled past Demaree, Hassett and Camilli scoring. Babe had to stay on third because Koy fanned, Lavagetto bounced to Herman and Carleton tossed out Rogers.

Cubs Score in Fourth.

The Cubs broke loose with some power in the fourth and were rewarded with two runs. After Galan had popped to Rogers, Reynolds doubled to left and scored on Demaree's double to the same terrain. Garbark's second hit of the game was a single to center which scored Demaree. Collins singled to left, Garbark stopping at second. Carleton forced Collins, Garbark stopping at third. Jurges popped to Hudson.

The Cubs tied the score in the fifth. Herman singled to left and stopped at second after Hack dropped a blooper in short center. La Master replaced Tamulis and threw out Galan. Reynolds flied to Rosen, Herman scoring and Hack holding second, after which Demaree singled to center, scoring Hack with the tying run. Demaree reached second and Garbark first when Hudson dropped the latter's bouncer. Collins forced Garbark.

Cubs Take Lead.

The Cubs went ahead in the eighth though it appeared for a while they would be thwarted because of Collins' and Carleton's inability to sacrifice. Garbark opened the inning with his third hit, a single to deep short. After two failures to sacrifice, Collins popped to Hudson, who dropped the ball intentionally, then tossed to Rogers to force Garbark. Carleton also failed to bunt, then forced Collins. Jurges singled to left and the bases were loaded on Herman's infield single. Hack walked after a three and two count, forcing Carleton across the plate. Rogers threw out Galan.

Clay Bryant to Pitch for Cubs Today

Clay Bryant, who had been spectacularly successful against the Dodgers until he, with assistance from fumbling mates, blew a 2 to 0 lead in the ninth to lose a night game on July 27, will pitch for the Cubs this afternoon. Bill Posedel has been nominated by the Brooklyn management.

The homer with which Gordon Phelps celebrated his return to the starting lineup after being out since July 1 with a broken hand, was a shot which went directly over the 368 foot marker in left center.

3 POLO GAMES CARDED TODAY AT OAK BROOK

A triple-header for the Central Polo association trophy will be played this afternoon on three of the Oak Brook club fields in the vicinity of York road and 22d street.

First to take the field will be the Austin Polo club of San Antonio, Tex., and either the United States Artillery team from Fort Sill, Okla., or the 124th Field Artillery of Chicago. An hour later the Grosse Point team of Detroit will ride against the Rangers of Chicago.

The third of the games will pit Charles H. Jackson Jr., Hale Marsh, Alex Bullock, and Converse M. Converse of Santa Barbara, Cal., against Harry Owen, Chuck Agberg, Paul Butler, and Capt. Roy Keehn Jr. of Rising Sun ranch.

PLAY SEMI-FINALS TONIGHT IN GRANT PARK SOFTBALL

The Richter Friedlanders will meet Spiegel Brothers on diamond No. 4 and the La Salle hotel will face the Bosler Supply company on diamond No. 6 in semi-final games of the Grant Park Softball association tournament in Grant park at 6:15 tonight.

In last night's games Richter Friedlanders shut out Trust No. 1, Continental Illinois bank, 6 to 0; Spiegels beat the Alton, B. and O. railroads, 9 to 8; the La Salle hotels defeated the Old Gold Liquor Distillers, 13 to 7, and the Bosler Supply team whipped the Santa Fe railroads, 8 to 4.

AUSTRALIANS TO FACE U. S. TEAM IN LONGWOOD FINAL

Brookline, Miss., Aug. 25.—(AP)—Like the Davis cup challenge round, the national doubles tennis final was assured of an Australian-American tinge today when two Australian teams gained semi-final brackets in the same half of the draw at the Longwood Cricket club.

Completing the split-up quarter-final round matches in the men's division, Adrian Quist and Jack Bromwich, the Australian Davis cup stars, defeated Gardner Mulloy, of Miami, and George Toley, of Los Angeles, 6-1, 9-7, 6-2, while their international team's spares, Harry Hopman and Leonard Schwartz, eliminated Yvon Petra and Bernard Destremau, of France, 6-0, 9-7, 8-6.

The Australians will clash in one of tomorrow's semi-finals and two sets of former winners, Donald Budge and Gene Mako, the U. S. Davis cup stars, and Wilmer Allison and Johnny Van Ryn, the Austin, Tex., veterans, will meet in the other.

Before the men took to the courts, Alice Marble and Mrs. Sarah Palfrey Fabyan, title defenders in their division, became finalists by turning back Kay Stammers and Margot Lumb, of England, 6-2, 6-2. They will mark time until two foreign pairs, Nancye Wynne and Thelma Coyne, of Australia, settle their semi-final differences with Mme. Rene Mathieu, of France, and Jadwiga Jedrzejowska, of Poland.

Lyons, Rigney Pitch Today for White Sox

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Aug. 25—Two games again tomorrow for the price of one. Ted Lyons and Johnny Rigney will pitch for the White Sox. The Boston starters may be Jim Bagby and Dick Midkiff.

Eddie Collins, general manager of the Red Sox, today denied reports that Mike Cochrane, recently deposed as Detroit manager, will become catcher for Boston next year and named manager in 1940. Collins didn't deny, however, that such a step was contemplated. Cochrane and Tom Yawkey, the moneyed owner of the Red Sox, have already had a talk.

The veteran Bob Grove is still a problem child for both the Red Sox and the club's doctors. Bob's left arm turned numb about five weeks ago and the seat of the trouble hasn't been located.

PLAY SEMI-FINAL GAMES IN C. Y. O. LEAGUE TONIGHT

Three semi-final games, the winners qualifying to play for the C. Y. O. softball championship in Soldiers' field Sept. 12, will be played this evening in Mills stadium, Lake street and Kilpatrick avenue.

Tonight's games follow: Senior division, Holy Rosary vs. St. Viator; junior division, St. James vs. SS. Peter and Paul; girls division, St. Aloysius vs. Immaculate Conception [North Park].

right center and Vosmik scored him with a single against the left field fence. Foxx also singled. The two men were nudged along by Cronin's sacrifice and Vosmik later went home on Higgins' long fly to Kreevich.

The Dykes boys, who wasted three hits off Heving in the first two innings, finally got a man around to the plate in the third. Kuhel opened with a two bagger to right. After Owen had been thrown out, Walker dumped a single in short center, Kuhel scoring and Walker going to second on the throw to the plate. Walker was still on second when the inning ended.

Singles sprang from the bats of Kreevich and Dykes to open the fourth. Schlueter fanned and Whitehead sacrificed. Kuhel lined another two bagger into right, Kreevich and Dykes scoring to put the Chicagoans in front, 2 to 2. Higgins made a two base wild throw on Owen but Kuhel got lost somewhere along the line and had to stop at third. Walker then looked at a third strike.

The finish of Whitehead in the sixth began with a single by Nonnenkamp. Doerr planted a double beyond the reach of Walker in right. Dykes gambled by filling the bases with an intentional pass to Peacock. It didn't work. Heving scratched a single past Whitehead, who should have turned it into a double play, Nonnenkamp scoring the tying run. Cramer's triple and a double by Vosmik completed the five run assault. Ford handled the remainder of the inning successfully.

Ford Strikes Trouble.

Ford also got along nicely in the seventh, but not so well in the eighth, two scoring. Vosmik's single, a double by Foxx and a pass to Cronin loaded the bases with none out. Vosmik registered on Higgins' dinky single to Dykes and Foxx on Nonnenkamp's deep fly to Kreevich.

The White Sox picked up a couple of useless runs in the ninth on Kuhel's third double to right and Owen's fifth homer, which zoomed over the left field fence.

Coach Mal Elward to Be Guest of Purdue Club

The Purdue Club of Chicago, headed by John B. Nohtelfer, will be hosts to Coach Mal Elward and his staf at a dinner to be held in the Brevoort hotel Tuesday. A one hour movie of last November's final game in Bloomington and of the squad in practice will be shown, narrated by Etheridge Baugh, general alumni secretary who will be present, and Mr. Elward.

SMALL YACHTS, BIG YACHTS WILL RACE IN REGATTA

There's Competition for All Tomorrow.

Many of the yachts entered in the Daily News twelfth regatta off New pier tomorrow have distinguished records of victories.

Perhaps the best known is the Rubaiyat. Its hull planks all cut from one mahogany tree, the Rubaiyat won the cruising division time prize in the Mackinac Island race in both 1936 and 1937; it was second in B class in this year's race to Bermuda, and its list of other accomplishments is a notable one.

Equipped with New Sails.

The Rubaiyat, owned by Nathaniel Rubinkam, has been equipped with new sails for tomorrow's competition. Another entry, the Breeze, will have Sumner W. D. Scott of Evanston, son of President Walter Dill Scott of Northwestern, at the wheel. Scott demonstrated his sailing ability by winning in class B in this year's Mackinac race and by taking first in the cruising time class in the race to Waukegan last week-end.

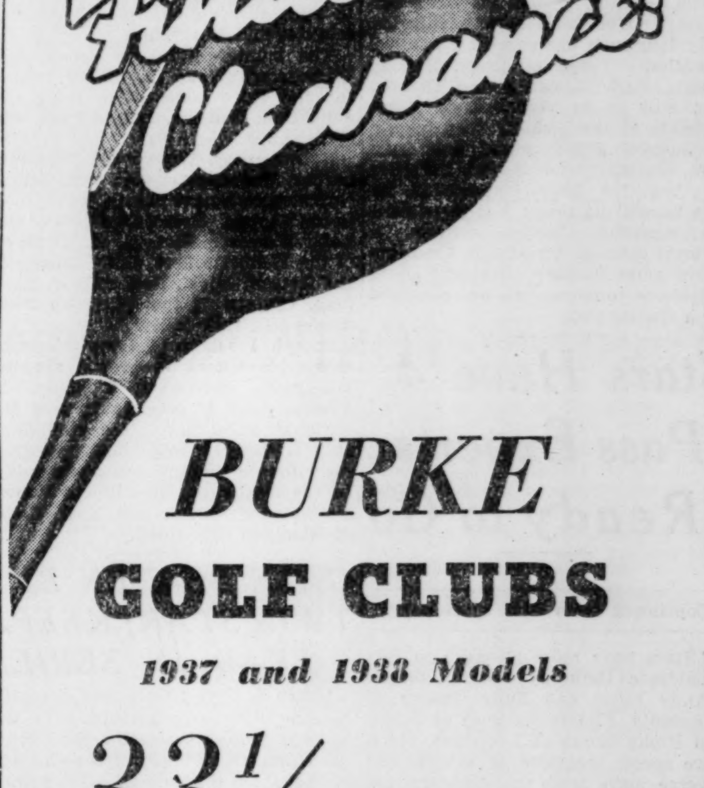

The Revenge is another interesting yacht. Its new spinnaker of parachute silk, which helped drive it across the finish line first in the Waukegan race, has been called a model in curve and pulling power. The boat's owners, Blair Walliser and Ken Griffin, ask only a strong wind to demonstrate the sails' capacity to develop power and speed.

Betty Bro Entered.

Commodore Milton H. Friend of the Columbia Yacht club has entered his cutter, the Betty Bro, which won the cruising division championship of the regatta last year. From Port Washington, Wis., comes the sloop, Hope. It is owned by Herman Karstedt. Among the other boats with noteworthy reputations are the Southern Cross and Bagheera.

The program embraces competition for frostbite dinghies, 9½ feet long, up to cruising yawls nearly 70 feet long. The regatta is considered the biggest one of the Chicago season.

REDSKINS TAPER OFF IN PRACTICE FOR ALL-STARS

Scrimmage Scheduled for Today Canceled.

BY GEORGE STRICKLER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Ballston, Va., Aug. 25.—The tapering off process began in the Washington Redskins' camp today. Two drills, one in the afternoon and another at night, brought to a close the vigorous phase of the world champions' training for the All-Star game in Soldiers' field, Chicago, next Wednesday. Only one workout a day, devoted to signals and fundamentals, will occupy the squad between now and the kickoff.

Obviously pleased with the improvement displayed in yesterday's scrimmage, Coach Ray Flaherty canceled the scrimmage scheduled for tomorrow, substituting a lecture in the morning and a workout in the afternoon. A final drill in Lu Blue's Ballston stadium will be held on Saturday morning. Late Saturday afternoon the team entrains for Chicago on the most important assignment of its six year career.

Redskins in Excellent Shape.

The Redskins leave for this assignment in excellent shape. The players' condition and attitude are a tribute to the genius of their young coach, Flaherty, who, starting his third year at the helm, already has led them to two eastern division championships in the National league and the world title. Under his careful guidance their training has been an orderly, routine series of drills.

There has been a notable absence of the hysteria and tenseness that characterized the preparations of the Chicago Bears, Detroit Lions and the Green Bay Packers in previous All-Star contests. The players have worked willingly and diligently under trying circumstances, without complaint about unsatisfactory facilities or the intense heat. Flaherty and his assistant, Roy Baker, have made no attempt to drive the squad. Prodding has not been necessary. Rookie and veteran alike have responded eagerly.

The efficacy of this program can be measured only by the outcome of Wednesday's game. Flaherty, like his more experienced predecessors, may have miscalculated. He, however, has the satisfaction of accomplishing one objective. It will be no tired, tense band of professionals which faces the cream of the college graduating crop on Wednesday night. The Redskins have not been worked out.

Four Receive Medical Aid.

The training period has been surprisingly free from serious injuries. Only four men are receiving medical attention. Three of these, Sammy Baugh, Turk Edwards, and Don Irwin, will be in Wednesday's game, probably at the kickoff. The fourth, Ed Justice, a 205 pound half back from Gonzaga who caught the pass that beat the Bears last winter, insists he will be ready, but physicians are doubtful. Justice suffered a severely bruised shoulder in the regulation game Sunday. He will go to Baltimore tomorrow to be measured for a special pad.

Stars Have 4 Pass Experts Ready to Go

All-Stars have more strength in this department than any preceding squad.

Andy Uram and Rudy Gmitro of Minnesota, Elmore Hackney of Duke, and Pinky Rohm of Louisiana State, have speed necessary to execute the reverse plays from the All-Stars' unbalanced line. There will be no weakness here. Washington may win. The odds favor it to win. Baugh accounts for that sentiment, but the All-Stars are ready to play football.

"The Redskins may beat us, but they won't eat us."

This was McMillin's catchword yesterday for the members of the Chicago Interfraternity club who were hosts to the All-Stars and their coaches at luncheon in the La Salle hotel. Six hundred attended. Joseph Meek, editor of the Illinois Journal of Commerce, was the toastmaster and he introduced the coaches, A. J. Robertson, Bradley Tech; Elmer Layden, Notre Dame; Raymond W. Pond, Yale; Harry Kipke, formerly of Michigan, and McMillin. Each coach spoke briefly. At the conclusion of his remarks McMillin introduced the All-Americans.

Stars Take the Air.

Coaches McMillin and Layden and several of the All-Stars took part in a coast to coast program broadcast by the National Broadcasting company last night. Players who spoke included Vic Markov of Washington, Joe Routt of Texas A. and M., Jack White of Princeton, Whizzer White, and Isbell.

Players and coaches were introduced by Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE. The program, entitled "Celebrities I Have known." was in charge of Ransom Sherman of NBC. He was assisted by Betty Winkler, radio actress.

DAWN TO DUSK WOMAN GOLFER WINS HER MATCH

Mrs. Josephine Baltrusis yesterday defeated Mrs. Aline Wicks of Oak Park in the monthly class A tournament for women at the Maywood Golf club. She seemed unaffected by the 154 holes which she shot between dawn and dusk Tuesday.

J. Smith Ferebee, whose recent 144 holes won him half a southern plantation, was reported out of town. Mrs. Baltrusis, who lives at 502 South Laramie avenue, had issued a friendly challenge to the La Salle street broker for an all day race. She said she had not yet had a definite answer.

Jimmy, Cover the Waste Basket!

The bureau of entomology in Washington is concerned over a bug that lives on a diet of old newspaper files. Now if the other governmental bureaus will just coöperate and continue to send out their usual quota of publicity to the newspapers all the little insects soon will die of indigestion.

Schuette Wins Third Straight in Snipe Races

Lake Wawasee, Ind., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Henry Schuette, Manitowoc, Wis., banker, won the third straight heat of the upper Great Lakes championship series for snipe class sloops on Lake Wawasee today. His Jack Snipe III. covered the five mile race, in light shifting winds, in 2 hours 9 minutes and 22 seconds.

The runner-up in the series, Bill Waterman's Wave II., placed second for the third consecutive race, and John Call, Warsaw, Ind., lawyer, was third again.

Robert Liess, 17 year old Wilmette harbor yachtsman who will enter Northwestern next month, was fourth in his Topper. Frank Levinson of the Lake Wawasee fleet, A. M. Andrews of the Wilmette fleet, Don Kemeny of the Detroit, Mich., fleet, and K. Eastman, captain of the Wilmette fleet, finished in that order.

Joseph Plaskett of Lake Wawasee sailed his Gloria II over a six-mile triangular course in 3 hours, 11 minutes and 22 seconds to win the national one-design class championship. Plaskett took both previous races for the championship yesterday. In the final race, Eli Lilly of Wawasee finished second and L. E. Ernst of Michigan City third.

GALE BEATEN BY TWIN STAR; KEEPS LEAD IN SERIES

Harry G. Nye's Gale was defeated for the first time yesterday in the Valspar trophy series for Star boats off Wilmette harbor, but the Chicago boat still led the field with 175 points.

Nye's boat finished 15 seconds behind another Chicago boat, Lockwood Pirie's Twin Star, in the fourth race of the series of seven. Twin Star was second in point standings, with 170. Trilby, owned by R. K. Loughlin of Vermilion, O., was third in yesterday's race.

Other points leaders were: Little Audrey, owned by Ted Mead, Chicago, 165; Sanderling, Philip Upton, St. Joseph, Mich., 154, and Maybe, Fred Bloom, Peoria, Ill., 147.

The fourth race of the Great Lakes Star boat regatta was declared no contest yesterday morning when the yachts, hampered by lack of wind, failed to cover the course within the three and a half hour time limit. The standings remained unchanged with Sanderling holding a point lead over Shimmer, sailed by Leeds Mitchell Jr., Chicago.

Today's event drew a field of 734, representing practically every state in the Union, Canada, and the Canal Zone.

UTILITY'S SALE TO TVA CAUSES RISE IN BONDS

Curb Price Reaches Par; Other Deals Predicted.

New York, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Tennessee Public Service company's 5 per cent bonds were boosted sharply to their par value of $1,000 today in active dealings in the Curb exchange.

Brokers reported that large buying orders came into the market in response to an overnight announcement that sufficient bonds had been deposited to clinch the sale of the company's electric properties to the city of Knoxville and the Tennessee Valley Authority. The company is a subsidiary of National Power and Light company.

The turnover in bonds was $203,-000.

The liens moved up sharply, at one time selling at $1,000 each, compared with yesterday's closing price of $972.50. At the close of trading today, the bonds were selling at $998.75, or $26.65 above yesterday's last price. They have sold as low as $572.50 this year.

Predicts Other Sales.

Knoxville, Tenn., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—David E. Lilienthal, director of the Tennessee Valley Authority, today predicted that sale of the Tennessee Public Service company to the City of Knoxville and the TVA will speed up other sales of private utility properties under negotiation in TVA territory.

Announcement was made late Wednesday that 82 per cent of Tennessee Public Service bondholders had approved sale of the property for $8,035,000. This is enough bondholders to effect the sale and the deal is expected to be closed next Wednesday.

Lilienthal said he would resume negotiations next week for purchase of other properties by the TVA and municipalities that want TVA power. He said he expects to meet Wendell L. Willkie, president of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation, probably in New York.

Bondholders to Get $975.

As a result of the sale, holders of Tennessee Public Service 5 per cent bonds can be paid 97½ cents on the dollar, or $975 per $1,000 face value of bond.

Brokers believed some buyers may have purchased in hope of obtaining par value eventually despite the fact that the TVA purchase price assures only $975. Under terms of the indenture, the bonds are callable at $40 each above par value and are entitled to face value if the company is dissolved.

Stone & Webster, Inc.

Investors' Guide: Will you please tell me about Stone & Webster? They seem to be a little bit of almost everything.—M. L. B.

Answer: Stone & Webster, Inc., is engaged through several subsidiaries in construction and engineering, investment banking, and utility management. Last year it ceased to be a utility holding company by distributing its controling interest in Engineers Public Service company and the Sierra Pacific Electric company to its own stockholders.

The business began in 1889 as a partnership of consulting engineers. Later design and construction work was begun and the other activities were added from time to time. The firm was first incorporated in Massachusetts in 1920. Stone & Webster, Inc., the present parent company, was incorporated under Delaware laws in 1929.

The company controls, through ownership of the entire capital stock, the Stone & Webster Service corporation, Stone & Webster Realty corporation, Stone & Webster Building, Inc., and Stone & Webster Engineering corporation. It owns 88.6 per cent of the stock of Stone & Webster and Blodget, Inc., investment banking firm.

Gross earnings of the companies, excluding the two utility companies, increased to $6,390,891 in 1937 from $6,116,256 in 1936. Higher operating expenses and taxes, however, more than offset the gain in revenues and net income fell to $861,640, or 41 cents a share, compared with net income of $1,102,132, or 52 cents a share, in 1936.

Net income for the twelve months ended June 30, 1938, was $604,258, or 29 cents a share, compared with $925,-627, or 44 cents a share, in the preceding twelve months.

Including operations of the utility subsidiaries, net income in 1936 was $1,772,938, compared with $92,628 in 1935. In 1934 a net loss of $973,782 was reported and in 1933 net loss was $1,404,236. Net income in 1932 was $1,524,085 and in 1930 it was $7,211,159.

Stone & Webster, Inc., has no funded debt. As of Dec. 31, 1937, funded debt of subsidiaries amounted to $6,473,000 in bonds and mortgages. Capitalization of the parent company consists solely of 2,104,391 shares of no par capital stock outstanding. No dividends have been paid thus far in 1938. The only payment last year was distribution in December of stocks in the utility companies. In 1936 the company paid 25 cents, the first payment since 1932.

The dividend on the 4½ per cent prior preferred stock of Eastern Gas and Fuel Associates will be omitted this quarter for the first time since 1929, the trustees of the company decided yesterday. U. S. DEMANDS MEXICO PAY FOR SEIZED LANDS

Sends Stern Note on Confiscation.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—The United States served notice on Mexico tonight that it will not see American citizens deprived of their lands in that country under the guise of expropriation. It was the strongest diplomatic note the state department has prepared since the world war.

This was revealed simultaneously here and in Mexico City with the publication of the text of the note Secretary of State Cordell Hull delivered to Dr. Don Francisco Castillo Najera, Mexican ambassador to the United States, protesting against seizure of American owned farm lands since 1927.

In seeking payment Hull proposed arbitration and that monthly installment payments be made while a two-man American-Mexican committee established the value of the properties expropriated. The sums would be deposited in an escrow account.

Mentions 10 Million Claim.

The note specifically mentioned expropriation of farms of moderate size with a claimed value of $10,132,388. However, the 5,000 word note proclaimed an American policy against expropriation without compensation which embraces the 500 million dollars of American owned oil lands seized last spring.

Under the stern language of the note the United States may throw itself with Great Britain, whose vigorous opposition to seizure of British owned oil lands forced severance of diplomatic relations by Mexico. The position taken in the note was regarded in some quarters as further evidence of the existence of a secret alliance between this country and Great Britain in that it reversed the position taken by this country before the Mexican-British break. At the time of the oil land seizures last spring President Roosevelt found justification for the Mexican action.

He asserted that the larger landholders had obtained their holdings through corruption and bribery and could expect no help from this government in pressing claims for any more than the actual money invested. He did not include smaller land owners in this condemnation.

Roosevelt Has Been Silent.

Since the British break Mr. Roosevelt has been silent on the problem of Mexican expropriation of American land. Heeding the President's statement, the state department concentrated its negotiations on farm land seizure, knowing that any policy adopted would necessarily be extended to include oil lands.

The American note carried no threats, however. It closed its declaration, couched in the language of diplomacy, that it would not stomach the Mexican action, with a renewal of the American plea that Mexico agree to negotiation or arbitration. Mexico has spurned both proposals in previous notes.

At the start of the note, Hull reiterated the conviction of this government, expressed in earlier notes, that the Mexican seizure of American property is not expropriation but confiscation. He insisted that the seizure is "no less confiscation because there may be an expressed intent to pay at some time in the future."

Regrets Mexico's Stand.

He then cited the Mexican contention that there is no rule under international law or practice which makes immediate payment obligatory. Hull asserted that the American government received this contention "not only with surprise, but with profound regret."

"The policy of expropriation of these lands without any payment as required by law and equity and justice, places this government in a situation where it must either assert and maintain with all vigor the doctrin of just compensation, or else acquiesce in the repudiation and abolition of that doctrin," Hull said.

"Obviously it [the American government] cannot adopt the latter course. To do so would make it a party to an undermining of the integrity which would characterize the normal relations between all nations and their people."

Will Insist on Compensation.

This paragraph struck the keynote of the message. It was amplified and expanded in order to leave no doubt in the Mexican mind of the American position and emphasize the pronunciation of the policy that this country will insist on compensation.

The note in reviewing Mexican diplomatic exchanges said tat the Mexican government had raised three issues in defense of its seizures. These were whether there is a recognized principle of international law requiring adequate, effective, and prompt payment for properties seized; whether any government can nullify principles of international law through contradictory municipal legislation, and whether such a government is relieved on compliance because its financial and economic situation makes compliance difficult. The note asserted that none of the Mexican defenses holds water.

Acceptance Is Hinted.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 25.—(AP)—A source close to the government indicated unofficially tonight that Mexico may accept in principle Secretary Hull's suggestion that farm land seizures be submitted to a two man commission.

Officially the government was silent on the message, which was considered much more emphatic than his previous note on the subject July 21.

BUSINESS LEADER SUGGESTS LABOR ACT AMENDMENT

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Suggestions for amending the Wagner labor relations act were offered today by George H. Davis, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. He said the act and its administration are exerting strong influence against economic recovery and that the legislation has failed to fulfill its stated purpose.

If the act is to be continued in operation, Davis argued, congress should consider amendments that would make it unlawful for any person or group to interfere with, restrain, or coerce employés in the exercise of the rights guaranteed under the act, or to induce or compel, or attempt to induce or attempt to compel any employés to become a member of any labor organization by means of any threat, intimidation, or coercion.

It should be unlawful, he said, to engage in a sympathetic strike or in a strike for the purpose of inducing or forcing any person or organization to violate any labor agreement or contract, or any law.

The present provisions in the act concerning "majority rule," Davis said, do not provide proper protection for the individual against encroachment by majorities.

DU PONT TESTING NEW SYNTHETIC FIBER TO RIVAL SILK AND RAYON

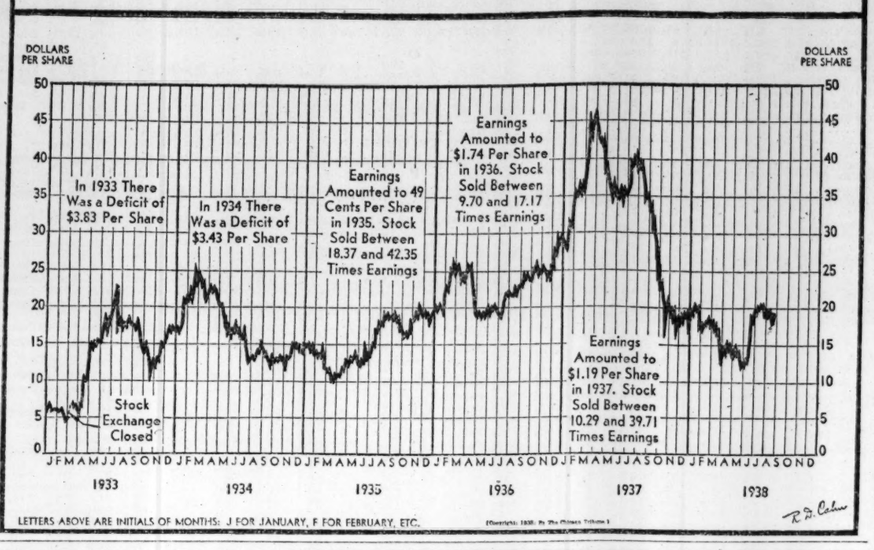

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—A synthetic chemical textile fiber radically different from rayon or any existing material is now in the experimental testing phase of development by E. I. du Pont de Nemours & Co., it was learned today.

The new fiber is said to have the elasticity of real silk, can be finely spun, and has unusual strength, wet or dry, thus adapting it for fully fashioned hosiery or for sewing thread. Some of it has been shown to hosiery manufacturers, but it is not yet in commercial production and may not be for a year or so.

Although the chemical nature of the new synthetic textile fiber is secret, the impression prevails that it is a derivative of abietic acid, which comes from rosin. It is not a cellulose product, as is rayon.

If the new product is as successful as tests indicate, it may take a large share of the remaining market for natural silk, which now finds its chief use in full fashioned hosiery. This is because no forms of rayon in general use have sufficient strength or elasticity to give satisfactory wear in better grades of hosiery.

Rail Earnings Rise Slightly; Expenses Cut

July earnings reports issued yesterday indicate that the railroads have slightly improved their position. This is mainly the result of reductions in maintenance and other expenses, although there has been some pickup in car loadings. Two of the most important systems—the Santa Fe and the Union Pacific—even did better than in July, 1937.

Fifteen railroads reporting for July had aggregate net operating income of $10,554,000, against $8,430,000 in June. However, there was a 30.6 per cent drop from July, 1937. June, 1938, net operating income was 49.6 per cent below the figure for June, 1937. Net operating income is income after operating expenses and taxes but before interest on bonds and other fixed charges.

Santa Fe Earns More.

The Santa Fe, which operates 13,500 miles of track, had $5,232,200 net operating income for July, compared with $4,558,941 in July, 1937. June, 1938, net operating income was $3,331,422. July, 1938, operating revenues totaled $16,906,929, against $18,821,711 in July, 1937, a decrease of 10.17 per cent. Operating expenses in July, 1938, were $10,144,344, against $12,427,898 in July, 1937, a decrease of 18.37 per cent. Net operating income for the first seven months of this year was $7,474,500, against $13,514,036 for the corresponding 1937 period.

The Union Pacific's net operating income for July was $1,884,225, against $1,755,291 in July, 1937, and $818,020 in June, 1938. July gross revenues showed a decline of 8.1 per cent from July, 1937. Operating expenses were down 12.2 per cent from July, 1937.

"Pennsy" Maintains Earnings.

The Pennsylvania railroad, big eastern system, in July about held its own as compared with June, but results were considerably below those for July, 1937. Net operating income for July was $5,014,946, compared with $7,322,194 in July, 1937, and with $5,046,096 in June, 1938. For the first seven months of this year net operating income totaled $24,634,550, against $42,917,744 in the corresponding period of 1937 and $42,864,936 in the first seven months of 1936.

The Pennsylvania in July cut its operating expenses by $8,270,233 from July, 1937. The July, 1938 operating expenses totaled $20,235,331.

The New York Central's net operating income for July was $970,884, against $3,204,426 in July, 1937. Net operating income for the first seven months of this year was $1,079,071, against $25,779,620 in the like 1937 period.

COUNTRY CLUB, ONCE VALUED AT MILLION, IS SOLD FOR $59,000

Woodstock, Ill., Aug. 25.—[Special.]—The Crystal Lake Country club, once estimated to be worth a million dollars, was sold today for $59,000 at a foreclosure sale. A. H. Henderson Jr., a retired Crystal Lake banker, bought the property for a group of citizens, who are expected to continue its use as a country club.

The first bid at the sale, which lasted less than ten minutes, was for $40,000. All of the club property was sold, including a 36 hole golf course, the 100 room clubhouse, fixtures, and furnishings. The million dollar valuation was placed on the property before 1929. Recently estimates had put the figure at $100,000 to $200,000.

Foreclosure and receivership expenses will take most of the sale proceeds. The court has already allowed $42,750 for these expenses, and about $15,000 more has been borrowed in operating the club in receivership since 1931.

H. M. BYLLESBY EXPLAINS PAY GIVEN DINNEEN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Madison, Wis., Aug. 25. — H. M. Byllesby & Co. counsel today introduced evidence to support the company's contention that large sums of money it paid to William M. Dinneen, former secretary of the public service commission, were for services rendered and not as a bribe. This was presented at a rehearing before the state banking commission which recently suspended the license of the company to sell securities in Wisconsin.

Attorney H. H. Thomas of Madison, counsel for Byllesby, laid before the commission recently discovered correspondence which he said showed that Dinneen was working for Byllesby officials while they were seeking to acquire the Wisconsin Valley Improvement company in 1927. Dinneen's activities, Thomas asserted, did not in any way conflict with his official state duties and were nothing more than work he was doing "on the side."

This testimony was placed in the records to explain the nature and purpose of cash payments by the Byllesby firm to Dinneen—payments which the banking commission said, when it revoked the Byllesby license, were "unexplained."

World Wheat Crop.

American production of wheat in 1937 was larger than the combined output of the next three producer nations. The world crop last year totaled 3,779,000,000 bushels, excluding Russia and China. Of this the United States raised 873,993,000 bushels, or 23.5 per cent.

In the drouth year of 1936 domestic production was 626,766,000 bushels, or 18 per cent of the world crop of 3,538,000,000 bushels. The United States in 1935 raised 626,314,000 bushels, or 17 per cent of the world total of 3,582,000,000 bushels.

India ranked second to the United States in wheat production last year, raising 366,165,000 bushels. Italy, with 296,010,000 bushels, and France, with 246,200,000 were third and fourth respectively. Other leading nations were Canada, which raised 182,505,000 bushels; Argentina, 161,954,000; Germany, 161,193,000; Rumania, 136,001,000, and Spain, 135,000,000.

The world wheat crop last year was outranked in size by corn and oats. It was larger than the barley crop by more than a billion bushels, and was nearly five times as large as the world rye crop.

Utilities Power Plan Hearing Set for Aug. 29

Federal Judge Philip L. Sullivan yesterday ordered a hearing Aug. 29 on proposals for the reorganization of the Utilities Power and Light corporation.

A third plan of reorganization was submitted to the court yesterday on behalf of the trustee of the Public Utilities Securities corporation and the Webster Securities company. The two companies, both in bankruptcy, are holders of voting stock in Utilities Power.

Other plans pending before the court are sponsored by the Atlas corporation, which holds a large block of the company's debentures, and the Associated Investing corporation, a minority stockholder. The direct conflict of interest between the two groups gave little promise of agreement on either of the two proposals.

What Latest Plan Provides.

Under the latest plan one or more new companies would be organized to take over the assets of Utilities Power so as to comply with the "death sentence" provision of the federal holding company law. The plan provides further for the immediate retirement of $10,000,000 of debentures from funds held by the trustee, and retirement of $1,000,000 of outstanding preferred stock. Disputed claims against the company, totaling $5,000,000, would be settled by a 50 per cent payment. The claims include the $1,000,000 sought by Floyd B. Odlum, president of Atlas, as commission on the sale of the English properties which he negotiated.

Seventy-three per cent of the new stock [all of one class] would go to the present debenture holders and the remaining 27 per cent would be divided among various classes of stockholders.

Disagree on Use of Cash.

The controversy over earlier proposals turned on the use to which cash held by the company should be put. Atlas, as a large creditor, wanted the cash used to retire securities it owns. Associated Investing, as a stockholder, wanted it used to rehabilitate the system and put it on a sound operating basis. The new plan would compromise these conflicting proposals.

A special master in chancery was named by Judge Sullivan to begin hearings Aug. 29 on the various plans. The Securities and Exchange commission also is expected to open hearings on the new plan the same date.

Acts to Protect Stock.

Application was made yesterday to the SEC in Washington by Atlas for permission to acquire securities in any successor company of Utilities Power. The application applied to securities which the investment company or its subsidiaries would be entitled to receive under the Atlas corporation's plan of reorganization "or any other plan of reorganization."

The commission also disclosed that Atlas has applied for exemption as a holding company for a period of three years in event it should acquire 10 per cent or more of the voting securities of United Power or a successor company.

BANK CLEARINGS DECLINE FROM 1937 IS SMALLER

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Bank clearings in the twenty-two leading cities in the week ended yesterday were reported today at $4,413,859,000. This was only 7.3 per cent under the $4,759,835,000 reported in the corresponding week a year ago.

It was the nearest approach to year ago figures in five weeks. In the week ended Aug. 17 aggregate clearings were 12.2 per cent under 1937.

Transactions at New York were $2,677,972,000, which was within 1.2 per cent of $2,711,298,000 a year ago. Clearings at Chicago, $238,700,000, were 23.8 per cent under $313,400,000 last year.

FOREIGN TRADE OF U. S. SHRINKS FROM YEAR AGO

Exports and Imports Lower in July.

The commerce department yesterday reported a shrinkage in the July foreign trade of the United States. The country sold less merchandise to other countries and imported a smaller volume of foreign goods than in July, 1937, and in June, this year. The decline from the preceding month was partly seasonal, department officials said.

July exports were $227,780,000, compared with $232,686,000 in the preceding month and $268,184,000 in July last year. Imports of merchandise in July totaled $140,836,000, against $145,898,000 in June and $265,214,000 in the corresponding month of 1937.

Seven Months' Balance Favorable.

Exports aggregating $1,818,368,900 in the first seven months of 1938 exceeded imports for the period by $716,522,000. In the corresponding 1937 period the United States had an unfavorable trade balance of $143,890,000.

Export business in July, the department said, was greatly aided by the expanding shipments of foodstuffs to foreign countries. At this period last year the United States was importing foodstuffs in large quantities because of the then existing domestic shortage in certain essential commodities.

Exports of unprocessed foods, chiefly grains, totaled $24,556,000 in July, compared with $20,988,000 in June and $5,925,000 in July, 1937. Exports of certain other foods also increased, including meats, lard, fish, flour, and dried and canned fruits.

Grain Exports Increase.

Exports of wheat reached 10,844,000 bushels, compared with 2,145,000 in July, 1937. Corn shipments totaled 15,631,000 bushels, against 13,000 bushels a year ago. Sales of raw cotton were 115,883,000 pounds, compared with 79,915,000 in July, 1937. The department said that July imports of wheat and corn were negligible.

Imports of raw materials increased during July reflecting preparations of industry for increased production this fall.

"These imports rose approximately $5,000,000 over June to a value of $43,236,000, but were still substantially below July of last year," the department added. Among the commodities imported during July in larger amounts than in June were hides, raw wool, furs, jute, raw cotton, raw silk, and rough diamonds.

Steel Exports Below Year Ago.

Exports of iron and steel continued at a high rate during July, but declined sharply from the abnormal figures for the same month last year. Because of a sharp decline in exports to Canada, European markets and Japan, the steel and iron trade [scrap iron excluded] in the first seven months of the current year declined to $85,186,955 from $112,590,084 in the corresponding months of 1937.

Receipts of $63,880,000 in gold last month brought the seven months' total to $311,854,000, compared with $1,204,951,000 in the first seven months of 1937. July and seven months' imports of silver amounted to $18,326,000 and $129,858,000, respectively, compared with $4,476,000 and $39,001,000 a year ago.

HEAVY BUILDING AWARDS BOOSTED BY PUBLIC WORK

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.]—Engineering construction awards last week at $57,907,000 showed a 55 per cent gain from a year ago, the Engineering News-Record reported today. The gain from the preceding week was 30 per cent.

The improvement for the week reflects mostly a gain in contracts for federal, state, and municipal construction programs. At $47,533,000, this total contrasted with $36,362,000 in the preceding period and only $20,262,000 in the corresponding 193. week.

Private engineering construction awards last week amounted to $10,374,000, a slight gain over the $8,177,000 total of the preceding week, but 39 per cent below the $17,076,000 aggregate for the corresponding week of last year.

The week's gain in total contracts brought the aggreeate for 1938 to date to $1,714,535,000, which represents a gain of 2.3 per cent from the comparable 1937 period.

British and French Money Lower in Terms of Dollar

British and French currencies fell in value in relation to the dollar in foreign exchange dealings yesterday. The pound dropped ¾ cent to $4.87¼. The franc closed 0.0025 cent lower at 2.73625 cents. Gold in London was quoted ½ penny below Wednesday's price at 142 shillings 5½ pence. The London price was equivalent in American money to $34.78.

Butter Drops as U. S. Buying Price Is Cut

Butter futures on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday broke for the second time this week, declining ¾ cent a pound to a new five year low mark. Prices at the close were up only ⅛ cent from the day's low. November contracts finished ⅝ cent lower at 22¾ cents.

Traders said yesterday's slump, after Wednesday's rally from the sharp break of the preceding day, was largely caused by a cut of ¼ cent a pound by the federal buying agency in the cash price paid for 89 score butter. The turnover in futures increased to 2,280,800 pounds, compared with 1,382,000 pounds on Wednesday.

Federal Agency Lowers Price.

The reduction by the Dairy Products Marketing association lowered the price paid for 89 score grade, an "undergrade," to 24 cents a pound. Since the middle of July, the DPMA, which is buying with federal funds to stabilize the market, had been paying 24¼ cents for this grade.

The reduction caused traders to fear that the DPMA might reduce the "pegged" price of other grades [90, 91 and 92 score]. It brought heavy selling by speculators fearing a general collapse in the artificial price structure. Local officials of the DPMA said, however, that the ¼ cent reduction was merely an "adjustment" of the spread between 89 score and other grades. They indicated that a reduction in the price for other grades of cash butter was not contemplated at this time.

Expect Heavier Shipments.

Many traders expressed the belief that the price reduction would stimulate the already heavy flow of butter from producers, who would make shipments to forestall a further price decline. Production at 224 plants last week was 8,806,373 pounds, or 14 per cent more than in the corresponding 1937 week, the American Butter institute reported yesterday.

The DPMA yesterday took 2,160,000 pounds of butter in spot markets at Chicago and New York. This brought its purchases since mid-June to more than 56,000,000 pounds of the 75,000,000 authorized under the federally financed program.

October eggs yesterday slipped ⅜ cent a dozen after opening ⅛ cent higher. The contracts, however, were unchanged at 23⅜ cents at the close.

SALE OF 2 BIG UTILITY LOANS IS SUCCESSFUL

Offering yesterday of two utility issues totaling $53,000,000 was reported highly successful. Offered at 103½, the $33,000,000 issue of Commonwealth Edison 3½ per cent, series I, bonds immediately advanced to 104¾ bid and 105 offered, with the last sale reported at 105⅞.

Success for the 3½ per cent convertible debenture issue, rights to subscribe to which will be offered Commonwealth Edison stockholders shortly, was indicated. The debentures were quoted in over the counter trading at 105 to 105½ on a when issued basis. Subscription warants to be issued to stockholders at the close of business Sept. 2 were quoted on a when issued basis at 26 cents bid, 27½ cents asked.

The $20,000,000 issue of Lone Star Gas corporation 15 year 3½ per cent sinking fund debentures, offered at 102, also quickly sold at a premium. These bonds rose to 104 to 104⅝.

The Commonwealth Edison company will send to its stockholders today a letter stating that outstanding convertible debentures may be converted on and after Sept. 1 at the rate of four shares of the company's stock, par value $25, for each $100 of debentures. The stock closed yesterday at 26¼.

SEN. KING FIGHTS BIAS IN PROBE OF MONOPOLY

Fears New Assault on Business.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 25.—Senator William H. King [D., Utah], a member of the monopoly investigating committee, is taking no chances on a biased inquisition. He is making an independent investigation, it was revealed today.

Senator King.

The senator, generally regarded as anti-Roosevelt, believes the inquiry may be turned into another administration assault on business. He is hedging against this by doing his own fact finding.

Assistants to the senator revealed today that they have been compiling data on monopolies in preparation for an "independent investigation," planned by King unless the full committee adheres to the real purposes of the investigation.

Fears Attack on Business.

Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney [D., Wyo.], chairman of the joint congressional and executive department committee, has assured critics that there will be no "witch hunting." Nevertheless, King is reported to have confided to friends that he fears a new attack on business.

The committee is composed of twelve members, but the majority vote, which will decide issues, consists of Roosevelt men. There are six executive department representatives. One congressman, Representative Edward C. Eicher [D., Iowa], is definitly a Roosevelt enthusiast, and holds the balance of power. He is slated for appointment to the Securities and Exchange commission as a reward for his support to the President.

Others May Hold Out.

The other congressmen on the committee may easily vote against administration wishes on the probe. They are Representative Hatton W. Sumners [D., Tex.], vice chairman; Senator William E. Borah [R., Idaho] and Representative B. Carroll Reece [R., Tenn.]. An administration liaison officer, Leon Henderson, economist for the WPA and Roosevelt adviser, is executive secretary of the committee.

He threw a fright into the business world the other day by predicting wholesale issuance of subpenas soon. The SEC denied that it planned such tactics in its study of insurance companies as part of the probe.

Another good reason why King is guarding against administration influence in committee action is that the President has authority to allocate as he pleases $400,000 of the committee's expense money. The committee can work with $100,000 of its own.

Data Covers Both Sides.

King's secretary said today that the information gathered while the senator was on a Hawaiian vacation will "give both sides of the question," and will be presented by King if he believes the committee's investigation is partial.

It is expected that some of King's conclusions will conflict sharply with those of other members of the committee. A possible split is foreshadowed, especially since the independent study has been disclosed.

Other members of the committee, when informed of King's preparations, said privately, however, that they did not expect serious disagreement. The committee, they said, will be "sufficiently objective to suit Senator King."

New York Stocks.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 25.—A mild flurry of buying in the last hour of trading lifted stocks fractionally today. Sales decreased to 826,570 shares.

Railroad issues seemed to provide the spark for the late upturn. The favorable carloadings report expected tomorrow and the fact that first railroad reports for July showed earnings declines from a year ago far less for the month than for the first seven months, were encouraging influences.

Most of the rails made fractional gains. Santa Fe, Atlantic Coast Line, Union Pacific, and Norfolk and Western preferred rose ⅞ to 1½.

Motor accessories were quick to join in the upturn, several pushing to new high prices for this year. They were a bit more active than the auto stocks. Chrysler, however, skipped up to a new 1938 top of 77⅞ and closed at 76⅞ for a net gain of 1⅜. General Motors weathered persistent selling to close ⅜ higher.

Libby-Owens-Ford Glass closed up 1½ at its year's peak of 53⅝. Houdaille B advanced ⅞ to a new high of 17. Briggs was up 1⅜ at a new high of 37¼. Borg-Warner, Bendix, and Bohn Aluminum finished fractionally higher, just a shade under their best 1938 prices.

Some of the building shares did particularly well. Crane spurted 2½ and touched a new high of 37¼. Johns Manville bettered its position 1½.

Steels were up fractionally, except for Youngstown and Superior, each of which advanced more than a point. Aviations, rubbers, farm equipments, and oils did little.

New York Bonds.

New York, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Bonds were steadied today by the appearance of further good support in rail loans and reports from underwriting circles of an active demand for new issues just put on the market.

Bidding for relatively small blocks resulted in some sharp gains in the inactive rail group. Gains ran to more than 3 points. The more active carriers were mixed.

The backward members of the corporate list in most instances recorded no more than fractional losses.

United States government issues continued slow, closing 4/32 lower to 2/32 higher. Unevenness in the foreign dollar list was exemplified by a rise of 1 point in Japanese 6½s and a drop of 2¼ in the 5½s.

Chicago Stocks.

Chicago stocks advanced again yesterday. Ten issues set new 1938 high marks. THE TRIBUNE average of twenty stocks advanced 0.15 to 11.78, highest closing average since Nov. 16, 1937.

Volume was boosted by a turnover of 65,700 Commonwealth Edison rights, which were admitted to trading on a "when issued" basis yesterday. Range of the rights was from 24 to 27 cents, with the close at 26 cents.

The three most active stocks made new highs for the year. Houdaille Hershey B on a turnover of 2,200 shares advanced a full point to 17. Electric Household gained ⅝ at 5⅞. Bendix Aviation touched 24⅝ and finished up ⅜ at 24⅜.

Bank Stocks.

No shares of American National Bank and Trust company stock were offered for sale yesterday, although bidders offered $225 a share, or $10 more than on Wednesday. Higher by fractions to $5 in light trading were stocks of the Continental Illinois National, First National, and Harris Trust and Savings banks. The only loser among leading issues was City National bank stock, which closed $1 lower at $117 bid, $121 asked.

COTTON

Spot cotton closed .04 to .05 cent higher, with New York 8.36 cents, New Orleans 8.29 cents, Galveston 8.19 cents, and Houston 8.20 cents a pound. Prices follow:

Commodities

The price of raw sugar was advanced 0.05 cent a pound yesterday to 2.85 cents on increased demand from refiners. Refiners were reported to have taken virtually all sugar offered at the increased price. Although refined sugar held unchanged at 4.25 to 4.30 cents for fine granulated, traders predicted an early markup in this quotation.

The strength in the raw spot market brought higher quotations for domestic sugar futures. Contracts closed 0.02 to 0.05 cent higher. World futures rose 0.01 to 0.01½ cent a pound.

Coffee and silk futures also were higher at New York yesterday. Most other commodity contracts, however, moved lower, including rubber, copper, tin, hides, and cottonseed oil.

Advances to the highest level in recent weeks were made by coffee futures, but gains were partly lost in late selling. Santos contracts closed 0.03 to 0.06 cent higher and Rio was up 0.04 to 0.10 cent.

Cottonseed oil closed 0.02 to 0.05 cent lower. Rubber contracts lost 0.02 to 0.06 cents a pound.

The price of export copper in the cash metals market moved up to the highest level in the last ten days at 10.20 cents a pound from a top of 10.10 cents on Wednesday. Other metals were unchanged in the spot market. Copper futures lost 0.01 to 0.05 cent, and tin 0.40 cent a pound.

The wholesale commodity price of the bureau of labor statistics declined 6-10 of 1 per cent in the week ended Aug. 20 to 77.4 per cent of the 1926 average, the department of labor announced. In the preceding week, the index was at 77.9 per cent and a year ago it was 87.3.

NEW YORK MILK SUPPLIERS VOTE MARKETING PACT

Accept Wallace Plan to Fix Prices Higher.

New York, Aug. 25.—[Special.] Dairy farmers in the seven state area supplying fluid milk to the New York market have approved a federal and state marketing agreement under which prices to producers will be fixed and production indirectly controled. This was indicated today by preliminary returns from last week's poll.

An incomplete tabualtion of the ballots of the 60,000 dairymen, who participated in the voting as individuals or members of coöperative marketing associations, issued by Wellington J. Griffith, a federal referendum agent, indicated the plan was approved by a vote of about four to one.

Voting was conducted last Thursday, Friday, and Saturday under orders of Henry Wallace, secretary of agriculture, and the New York state division of milk control. States represented in the seven state milkshed where 300 polling places were opened, were New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Vermont, Massachusetts, and Connecticut.

Milk Prices to Be Raised.

The terms of the marketing agreement, fixing producer prices and creating milk classifications, were prepared by Secretary Wallace and Holton V. Noyes, state commissioner of agriculture and markets.

Under the plan, which adds another link in the chain of governmental control of production of prices, minimum prices are pegged on a scale ranging from $2.20 to $2.65 a hundredweight. Before the vote was taken it was predicted that the farmers would approve the plan, inasmuch as they are now getting about $2 a hundredweight in free competition.

Disinterested observers outside the milk industry, however, are pessimistic on the long range results of the new AAA price tinkering experiment. They have expressed the opinion that fixed, higher prices will lead to increased production, that consumer demand will shrink further and that the market will be flooded with an unsalable surplus.

Consumers to Pay More.

Milk consumed in homes will be raised from 12½ to 14 cents a quart for the advertised brands. The unadvertised brands purchased through stores, mainly by low income families at 8 cents, will be raised to 11 cents a quart.

The price rise would increase New York City's annual milk bill by $20,000,000. If the order is vigorously enforced, the $20,000,000 would go to the dairy farmers serving the metropolitan market. It would raise their average income by $300 a year.

Consumers hardest hit would be those in the low income group who purchase their milk in stores at about 8 cents a quart. The 10,000 relief families buying 25,000 quarts a day through 108 milk stations would also presumably have their milk raised to 11 cents. About 1,100,000 quarts a day are sold at about this price today.

H. G. S. NOBLE, STOCK EXCHANGE MEMBER 56 YEARS, TO RETIRE

New York, Aug. 25.—(AP)—H. G. S. Noble, who holds the record for long term membership on the New York Stock exchange, made arrangements today to retire from the organization. He is 79 years old.

H. G. S. Noble.

Noble, a former president of the exchange and a member since 1882, has posted his membership for transfer to his grandson, Henry Stebbins Noble.

The elder Noble was president of the exchange during the world war period. In 1928 he retired from partnership in the brokerage firm of De Coppet & Doremus, but he has since maintained an office with the firm.

The Noble membership was originally purchased in 1831 by Henry G. Stebbins, grandfather of H. G. S. Noble.

CHICAGO GRAIN PRICES

Closing prices on the September delivery of principal grains on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday:

	Yesterday.	Wednesday.	Year ago.
Wheat	$0.62¾	$0.61⅞	$1.06⅞
Corn	.52	.51	.99½
Oats	.23⅜	.23⅝	.28⅝
Rye	.42	.40⅞	.79⅞
*Soy beans	.77	.77⅝	.96⅞

*October delivery.

North American wheat markets staged a strong rally yesterday after an early decline of 1 to 2 cents a bushel had carried all future deliveries at Winnipeg to new low levels for the season. Short covering and buying attributed to commission houses with eastern connections disclosed an oversold market condition and the early loss was more than recovered.

Closing sales of wheat futures on the Chicago Board of Trade were at net gains of ⅝ to ⅞ cent. Winnipeg prices advanced ⅛ to ⅝ cent. Minneapolis prices closed unchanged to ⅛ cent a bushel higher. Liverpool was depressed by exports of 3,552,000 bushels of cash wheat from Russia and weakness in the Winnipeg cash market, and closed 1⅝ to 2⅛ cents a bushel lower.

Corn Resists Selling Pressure.

Corn showed stubborn resistance to selling pressure. Although easing early in sympathy with wheat, at no time were corn prices more than small fractions of a cent a bushel below Wednesday's close. Brokers who frequently act for exporters were persistent buyers of the September delivery. Closing sales were ⅞ to 1¼ cents a bushel higher. Export sales in all positions were estimated as high as 1,000,000 bushels.

Speculative trading in the wheat market yesterday was somewhat larger than recently. Professional speculators were inclined to take the selling side early, largely because of weakness in the Winnipeg market.

Fear Export Subsidy.

Reports from that market indicated that Canadian operators were apprehensive of the effect that the American export subsidy plan would have on the price of Canadian grain.

At the close yesterday December wheat in Winnipeg was ¼ cent a bushel under the same future on the Chicago Board of Trade. On Aug. 2 the Winnipeg price was 5½ cents a bushel above the Chicago quotation. At the present time American wheat imported into the United Kingdom pays a duty of 6 cents a bushel. Canadian wheat is admitted duty free.

CHICAGO LIVE STOCK

Developments in the market for hogs yesterday pointed to a narrower spread in prices for the near future. Light grades are expected to work lower and a steady or higher market for packing sows is in prospect, according to members of the trade at the Chicago stockyards.

Prices weakened 10 to 15 cents yesterday. Top loads at $8.85 were down 15 cents. The average at $7.65 showed 10 cents decline.

Many grades of steers and yearlings sank to new lows for recent weeks on yesterday's break of 15 to 25 cents on the bulk of offerings. Only a few heavy steers escaped the decline.

After a slow opening a strong to slightly higher market developed for slaughter lambs. [All prices are in dollars per 100 pounds.]

INDUSTRY BACK TO 1937 LEVEL, INDEX SHOWS

7 Months' Loss Regained in Last 7 Weeks.

The federal reserve board estimated yesterday that industrial production is back at the level of 1937. In the last seven weeks industry has gained nearly as much ground as it lost in the preceding seven months, according to data compiled by the board.

The board reported that its index of industrial production rose from 77 per cent of the 1923-'25 average in June to 83 per cent in July. It said that industrial activity had gained "somewhat further" in the first three weeks of August.

It estimated that industrial production is close to 88 per cent level of November, 1937, which was the third month of the current depression. The figure reached by the board's index in July was the highest since December of last year when index stood at 84 per cent.

Best Upturn in Year.

The July rise in the board's index was the first marked upturn since industrial production began its rapid decline in August, 1937. The slump in the last four months of 1937 was the most rapid in the country's history.

Accompanying the faster pace of industry last month were smaller gains in employment and pay rolls. The board's index of factory employment rose from 75.9 in June to 76.4 in July. The factory pay roll index climbed from 67.2 to 67.5.

The board reported increases in output of steel, lumber, cement, textiles, shoes, bituminous coal, and crude petroleum. Residential building increased from June to July, but the aggregate of all types of construction was smaller.

SLIGHT GAIN IN MIDWEST

George J. Schaller, president of the Federal Reserve Bank of Chicago, reported yesterday that business in the seventh reserve district [Chicago] shows some evidence of improvement. However, definite signs of a sustained upward trend are lacking, he added.

Since late in July there has been an expansion of loans and investments of banks in the area, Schaller said. The gain in production of iron and steel mills that occurred in July has been sustained this month.

Employment and wage payments continued to shrink in July. The wholesale distribution of commodities, which showed some expansion in June, turned down again last month, Schaller said.

"Although the distribution of commodities at both wholesale and retail is usually lighter in July than June, sales this year fell in some reporting groups to a greater than seasonal extent," he said. Smaller inventories were reported at the end of the month.

NEW YORK BANKS REPORT RISE IN BUSINESS LOANS

New York banks yesterday reported a further increase in loans to commercial borrowers in the week ended Wednesday. After increases in the two preceding weeks commercial loans of Chicago banks declined slightly.

Commercial loans in both cities have shown an upward trend since the week of Aug. 10. Prior to that commercial credit had been shrinking in volume for several months. Last week's increase in New York amounted to 10 millions. Chicago loans were off 5 millions.

Other loans and investments of Chicago banks showed little change. New York banks reported an increase of 53 million in direct and guaranteed government obligations.

The excess reserves held by banks belonging to the federal system increased 50 millions last week, bringing the total of unemployed funds to 2 billion 980 millions. Gold stocks increased 27 millions for the week.
